VALUE OF IOWA RAILROADS

Commissioner Thorne Makes Statement Regarding Appraisal.

CALL FOR INTELLIGENT WORK

Wide Difference Between Actual Value as Determined by Executive Council and Uncle Sam's Market Valuation.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, Ia., July 28.—(Special.)—The Iowa Railroad commission is preparing to make a start for a physical valuation of Iowa railroads and Clifford Thorne, member of the commission, today authorized publication of the following statement in relation thereto:

"In 1904 the national government made a commercial valuation of the railroads in the United States, under the direction of Henry C. Adams, statistician of the Interstate Commerce commission, who has recently been employed by the New York Central lines. This valuation was also distributed by Mr. Adams amongst the different states, in order to compare the results to the valuation in those states for assessment purposes.

"The actual value of Iowa railroads as just found by our executive council is $287,583,000. The market value of Iowa railroads within this state as estimated by the national government in 1904 was $34,967,000, making a difference of $252,616,000, in favor of the railroads. Compared to the present market value this difference would amount to more than $100,000,000.

Original Cost of Roads.

"The cost of road and equipment reported by our Iowa railroads to the Iowa commission, as shown by the last published report (1909), amounted to $20,848,000.00 (as compared again to the valuation just made by the executive council amounting to $27,583,000). These returns, as to cost, include figures on the proportional basis of Wisconsin railroads, a member of the railroad commission. I hope to see Iowa make an intelligent valuation of its railroads. It will be instructive to the executive council in making assessments, it will help the commission in considering the advisability of raising or reducing rates, a question presented in cases now pending before this commission; it will help the commission in the cases now pending in the federal courts, wherein the railroads have formally and specifically attacked the adequacy of their present revenue from Iowa properties. A physical valuation is not as a citizen, as compared to the value of their conclusion as to the actual fair cash value, but it is one of the controlling factors which must be taken into consideration, and be given great weight.

Possible Effect on Rates.

"As some guide to the wisdom of incurring the expense of making a valuation of all the railroads in this state, and the effect it would have on our rate situation, we will make a valuation of an average or typical railroad. This course has been pursued elsewhere. It will furnish the basis for a test case amongst those now pending in the federal courts. The necessity for such a physical valuation was the chief argument advanced before the committee of the last general assembly in support of the appropriation for state investigations which was granted to this commission. The board of railroad commissioners now has under consideration the proposition to make such a valuation of a typical Iowa railroad.

"This commission has given the charge of handling the express cases and the cases pending before the Interstate Commerce commission to the Iowa railroads. All this will give the commission ample time and opportunity to devote to this matter their careful attention while the valuation is in progress.

"The purpose of this valuation must not be to injure any interest, whatever, but to find the true value of the property. If deraken it must be upon a basis of absolute fairness to all interested parties."

BROKER MURDERED BY BOY

Discharged Hotel Employee Admits Killing William H. Jackson.

ROBBERY MOTIVE FOR THE CRIME

He Was Preparing to Chloroform the Aged Man When He Awoke and Fight Ensued—Got Six Dollars and a Watch.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Paul Gaidel, a 17-year-old boy—slight of stature, sick of attire, sharp-featured and with the smooth, yellow complexion of the youthful cigarette smoker—was arrested here early today as the murderer of William Henry Jackson, a Wall street broker, who was found brutally killed in his hotel apartments on Forty-fourth street yesterday.

An hour after the arrest Police Commissioner Dougherty and District Attorney Whitman brought out from the room where they had been closeted with Gaidel a long typewritten confession, which they said the lad had dictated and signed, giving a full account of the crime. Robbery was the motive, according to the lad's statement, but the robbery netted him only $6 in cash and a gold watch, which he pawned for $18.

Murderer is Son of Widow

HARTFORD, Conn., July 28.—Paul Gaidel, the 17-year-old boy accused of the murder of W. H. Jackson, in the Iroquois hotel, New York, is the son of Mrs. Anna Gaidel of this city, a widow. Young Gaidel was for a time employed at the Heubelin hotel here, but was discharged for being unruly about three months ago when he went to New York.

Bad Looking Bomb Causes a Sensation, But Proves Harmless

Goos Off with a Puff When Exploded—Found in the Third Ward.

What threatened for a time to be a real sensation disturbed the police department on Friday afternoon. The cause of the commotion was a wicked-looking near-bomb discovered beneath a business house in the Third ward about 2:30 o'clock. Careful investigation and a test of the supposed missile showed that it was harmless and the incident appears to be at an end. The police refuse absolutely to divulge the location of the bomb under which the article was found except to say that it was in the Third ward. It was brought into the station by a man who gave to the police the name of the man who, he says, put it under the house. This also has not been given out.

Under the escort of Sergeant Vanous and Officer Morgan the suspicious object was conveyed, very gingerly, about two miles up the river and, after necessary preparation had been made for the safety of the investigators, the fearless officers set fire to the fuse. The result was disappointing. A puff of white smoke followed by a light explosion. A puff of black smoke with a heavier explosion and the display was over.

Remsen Board Buys Bulldogs, Dog Cages and Four Monkeys

House Committee is Investigating Expense Accounts of Body that Overruled Dr. Wiley's Decision.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Investigation of the cost and work of the Remsen board, which reversed Dr. Harvey H. Wiley of the bureau of chemistry on the benzoate of soda pure food decision, was begun today before the house committee on expenditure in the Department of Agriculture. The same committee will also investigate the recent charges against Dr. Wiley. Two bull terriers, four monkeys, eight dog cages and an electric griddle, one horseshoe and a chiffronier were purchased during the last four years by the Remsen board, according to the testimony of Arthur E. Rappene of the accounts division of the Department of Agriculture.

Representative Higgins of Connecticut of the committee insisted that the itemized expense accounts furnished the committee be printed before the committee started the hearing on the Remsen board. The committee adjourned until Tuesday.

It was learned today that the Remsen board had already cost the government a total of $75,837. Of this amount $120,000 was for salaries of the members of the board and their assistants and $60,000 for expenses. The expense account, put in evidence, attracted much attention. The eight dog cages cost $28. Two bull terriers cost $60. Four monkeys were put in at $25 for the lot, while five monkey cages cost $10. The electric griddle was bought for $17, while "one horseshoe" cost $1. The particular variety of the horseshoe was not mentioned.

Governor Aldrich Names Committee for Irrigation Congress

CHICAGO, Ill., July 28.—Governor Aldrich writes in a recent letter to the headquarters of the National Irrigation congress that he has appointed an advisory committee with which the officers of the irrigation congress can co-operate in making its coming meeting here, December 2 to 8, of the greatest benefit to Nebraska.

Members of the advisory committee appointed by the governor are: Frank L. Haller, Omaha; George Payne, Omaha; W. S. Wagoner, Lincoln; M. M. Ginnia, Kimball; H. H. Andrews, Callaway; J. J. McCarthy, Ogallala; W. L. Minor, Morrill; D. D. Deane, Scott's Bluff; G. L. Shumway, Scott's Bluff.

This year the sessions are held simultaneously with the United States Land and Irrigation exposition and the International Live Stock show. These three big events offer unusual opportunities for committees to make known their advantages to hundreds of thousands of prospective farmers and settlers.

New York Central to Be Merged Into One Corporation

NEW YORK, July 28.—Plans are under way, the Times says today, for the merger into a single corporation of the many companies which now make up the New York Central system. The purpose is mainly for the better financing of the railroad business. In connection with the consolidation a new bond issue is proposed in sufficient amount to cover the existing outstanding obligations of the system, beside providing for future capital expenditure. The first step in the consolidation will be the merger of the New York state line.

The scheme involves hundreds of millions of dollars and a railroad mileage of more than 15,000, of which the New York Central proper has about 4,000. The New York Central railroad interests today confirmed the report that plans are being considered for consolidating the financial management of the New York Central system.

Port Au Prince is Surrounded by Revolutionists

President Simon Must Retire and People Now Fear Clash Between Followers of Leconte and Firmin.

PORT AU PRINCE, July 28.—The revolutionists encompass the capital. President Simon appears to recognize the inevitable, but if he has left the palace the fact is not known.

General Leconte is at the head of the invading forces. He occupied Gonaves Monday and his advance guard reached Archale yesterday and before sunset had come within three miles of the city. Leconte's candidacy for the presidency progressed with his march on the capital and there was a consequent loss of ground by General Firmin, commander of the rival wing of the revolution and also an aspirant for the office of national executive in succession to Simon, whose forced retirement is at hand. General Firmin's arrival here is awaited with some anxiety by the public, lest the overthrow of the present government result in a clash between the supporters of Leconte and Firmin.

In the crisis Simon has had the forethought to leave his private residence to a man named Archer, who is an American citizen, in order to insure its protection in case of pillage.

The city has a deserted air. Most of the stores are closed. No one ventures out except of necessity. The sellers of produce have ceased coming into town and the food supplies are fast being exhausted. Vegetables and meat have advanced rapidly in price.

HANNA GOES ON WITNESS STAND

the approval of President Roosevelt to the transaction.

He said he did not know Mr. Gary had gone to Washington or why and that he asked no questions about that visit. Mr. Morgan, Mr. Hanna said, was not present when the deal was closed.

Mr. Hanna stated that since the United States Steel corporation took over the Tennessee Coal and Iron company and its vast interests there had been organization of a competitive steel company in the United States.

Mr. Gardner also directed inquiry as to the holdings of ore by the steel corporation, as to whether such holdings constitute a monopoly. Mr. Hanna said he thought there were still in the Superior region many merchant-ore miners independent of the steel trust and the firm of M. A. Hanna & Co. he thought, had ore land for sale.

Order for Rails Starts Trouble

Mr. Hanna later declared that the order for rails placed with his company by E. H. Harriman in 1905 was directly responsible for the Tennessee company's trouble in Wall street. Asked by Representative Gardner if he had ever connected the Harriman order with the absorption of the Tennessee company by the United States Steel corporation, he said such a thing never suggested itself to him.

Mr. Hanna also declared he put no faith in a report circulated that persons interested had urged certain interests to call Tennessee Coal & Iron loans in banks for the purpose of hammering down the price in permit the United States Steel corporation to purchase it.

"Did you ever hear J. W. Gates suggest that?" asked Representative Gardner. "I think I've heard Mr. Gates discuss it," said Mr. Hanna.

"I never felt that way myself. I never thought any man would be either so foolish or so dishonest," he added.

William Taylor Goes to Idaho. IOWA FALLS, Ia., July 28.—(Special.)—William Taylor, formerly of this place, but more recently of Austin, Tex., has accepted the superintendency of the state school for the deaf and dumb at Gooding, Idaho. Mr. Taylor is the son of the late William E. Taylor, the first settler on the present site of Iowa Falls. Mr. Taylor was for two years superintendent of the Nebraska state school for the deaf and dumb at Omaha.
