OTHER CITIES QUOTE OMAHA

Use Omaha Grocery Prices to Show They Are Robbed. TAKE ADS FROM THE OMAHA BEE In Editorials Grand Island and Des Moines Papers Use Figures Published by One of the Omaha Stores.

Different papers in Des Moines, Ia., and in Grand Island, Neb., are carrying considerable comment upon the high prices of living, mostly with reference to the cost of edibles, and they point to the reigning prices of various necessities in Omaha as compared with either of those two places. It seems that in both Grand Island and Des Moines, "grocery" associations and like organizations are the reason for the high prices of vegetables and necessities of life, and so strong are they, that the people in both places, many of whom are on the verge of distress, are up in arms. In Des Moines, a municipal market place has solved the problem, and the people of Grand Island are thinking seriously of establishing a similar market. However, the reference to Omaha seems to be out of place, for the people of those places in arguing against the "trust" have taken from Omaha papers the advertisement of one store and shown the differences in the prices between Omaha and Des Moines and Omaha and Grand Island, from it. This particular advertisement picked out happened to be one of a local store which is one of the largest in Omaha and which is selling groceries and provisions at from 10 to 25 per cent below the other stores here. The Des Moines and Grand Island people took this advertisement and used it as an example of the methods of the grocers in their home towns. In Omaha there seems to be a "clique" which sets the price of meats, vegetables, small grocers. Their prices seldom, if ever, fruits, etc., and seems to control all of the vary a cent, and it is only the big grocers that can refuse to belong to this "clique" which is a good money maker and in reality a trust of the worst kind. The fact that almost the same conditions exist here as do in Grand Island and Des Moines was learned when the comparison with Omaha was made. Nine out of every ten stores here set the prices of edibles almost as high as in Des Moines, and the only reason it has gone by unnoticed this long is that the people have accepted the excuse "that they have to pay it to the wholesaler."

DECIDES THAT JUDGE KNOWS MORE OF THE LAW THAN HE

Prisoner Changes His Plea a Second Time and is Given Six Months in Jail. Clifton H. Allen, arraigned in district court on a breaking and entering charge, changed his plea for the second time when brought before Judge Estelle Friday morning, finally entering a plea of guilty and drawing six months in the county jail. When in court last Wednesday Allen was perfectly willing to plead guilty and told the judge so, but when he noticed that the charge read "breaking and entering" he insisted on changing his plea, arguing that he didn't break anything, but simply opened a door. The judge told him that was a simple case of "breaking and entering" just the same, but Allen seemed convinced that he was right. After two days of consideration in the county jail he concluded that the judge's knowledge of the law was greater than his own and signified his intention of changing his plea. Allen was accused of stealing a watch from the house of Frank A. Carlson at 183 Cass street. Allen, who is a cook, said that he had come all the way from Palmerston, Pa., looking for work and that he was hungry.

There will be about 500 delegates to the convention and about 200 visitors accompanying the delegates. PARADE PLANS GROW LARGER Manufacturers' Pageant Ak-Sar-Ben Week Will Be Immense. MANY MORE FLOATS PROMISED. Members of Association Confer with Ak-Sar-Ben Delegation Relative to Nature of the Floats to Be Built. At an enthusiastic meeting of the Omaha Manufacturers' association Friday it was unanimously decided to lend all possible support to the gigantic parade during Ak-Sar-Ben week in October. Eleven more manufacturers pledged themselves to furnish floats for the parade. With the eleven manufacturers who promised aid and twenty who pledged last week there are already almost enough floats in sight to make the manufacturers' end of the spectacle a huge success. The business of getting floats accomplished, the attention of the meeting was turned to the question of floats and how they should be lighted. An Ak-Sar-Ben delegation was in attendance, and upon their suggestion a committee to decide upon this was chosen. This committee consists of F. B. Coleman, Harry Kelly and P. J. Eitlick. All of the floats will be "live" ones, with buzzing machinery of some kind in them and will be lighted up either by power from trolley wires or gasoline engines. Gearing down the wheels of the floats to make power to run a miniature electric light plant also came under consideration, and of all these methods one will be chosen by next week. By next week the manufacturers' committee expects to have everything well in hand, and then all that will remain to be accomplished will be to care for the smaller details. Floats carrying advertising and decorated delivery wagons will be taboos.

MAY ESTABLISH MEXICAN CONSULATE IN OMAHA

Commissioner Guild is Now Working to This End to Help Business Interests. A Mexican consulate may be established in Omaha soon, if the plans of Commissioner J. M. Guild of the Commercial club come to the desired end. Because of the immense amount of business transacted between Nebraska and the Mexican people, Mr. Guild, acting for the Commercial club, thinks that it would be a good plan for a consulate to be established here, and to this end he has written to the Mexican minister of foreign relations. Although no reply has yet been received, Mr. Guild believes that the request will be granted.

CONSIDERABLE IRRIGATION IS BEING DONE FROM WELLS

Government Reports Show Twelve Million Acres Are Now Being Watered in That Way. More than 12,000,000 acres of land are being irrigated from wells this year, according to figures made up by the United States government as to how the farmers were meeting the drought. Never falling in its steady supply, the well has become the most popular irrigation source on many a farm, although the amount of water that can be taken from it is generally small. Nebraska has splendid opportunities to obtain the valuable water from wells. The wells in this state are easy to dig and supply a large quantity of water for the work and expense involved. Piping the water to all parts of a garden truck patch is easy and the supply is enough to water several acres from one well. A Great Mistake is to neglect a cold or cough. Dr. King's New Discovery cures them and prevents consumption. 25c and $1.00. For sale by Boston Drug Co.

ODD LOTS OF HILLER LIQUORS FORCED OUT

Short Lines, Broken Quantities and Sample Lots of Liquors to Go In Forceful "Clean-up" Selling HILLER QUALITY IN EVERY QUART. The semi-wrecked appearance of the Hiller Liquor Co.'s store, at 1309 Farnam street, will soon give way to a scene of commercial grandeur, but there is yet much "cleaning up" to do before remodeling is complete. A "Clean Up" on liquor stocks is as necessary as a "Clean Up" of this building and store room. The management of the Hiller Liquor Co. has no desire to enter a business career in the handsomely family liquor store west of Chicago, while still possessed of broken lots of liquor, short quantities and odds and ends of liquors, etc. "Odds and Ends" accumulate in the liquor business as well as in others, and those responsible for the condition of stocks at "Hiller's" have gathered together in one lot, for a forced sale, everything that looks the least bit "odd." Commencing today these short lines will be sold at prices that do not cover the actual cost of distilling in most instances. And you, of course, know that old and odd lines of whiskey, wine, etc., are all the better in grade for being old; the more discolored for the label the better and longer aged the contents. The family without a bottle of choice old brandy, whiskey or wine is courting illness; there's nothing like a little good liquor about one's home for a brace. Every nox of liquor undervalued in this announcement is of the sterling quality that has made the very name "Hiller" a slogan for all that is fine in liquor. Here are the way some of those odd lots are selling now. Mail orders will be filled, but express charges must be paid by the consumer. BOTTLED IN BOTTLES WHISKEYS. UNFERMENTED GRAPE JUICE, the regular 50c bottles, now, 35c. ITALIAN OLIVE OIL. The famous Pompeian brand, in all sized bottles and tins, now offered at Half Price. PORT AND OTHER CALIFORNIA WINES. Odd lots of 50c grades at, 35c. 50c grades at, 25c, and 75c grades at, 50c. All pure and guaranteed up to usual Hiller Standard. Make a visit of inspection as soon as possible; note the address: The Hiller Liquor Co., 1309 Farnam street. There are hundreds of odd lots of liquors to be sold, but there are also hundreds of people who are just looking for such liquor values as are now offered here in this disposal of "odd lots." And you are sure that "If It Comes From Hiller's It MUST Be Good!"

Fine Entertainment is Planned for All Who Visit Omaha. Coupon Books to All of the Big Clubs Are to Be Given to the Visitors. An innovation in entertaining visitors to Omaha during conventions here will be tried out for the first time when the Trans-Mississippi golf tournament opens. Combining their efforts with the heads of the Commercial club, the officers of the Field club, the Happy Hollow club, the Racquet club and the Country club are planning to give to each delegate a coupon book, good on each of the above named clubs, for any of the privileges obtained by regular members. This should prove popular, for it is something that is seldom if ever accorded any convention in any city. The officers of the clubs are working in conjunction with the Commercial club, and expect to have the books ready in a short time. Pointed Paragraphs. When firemen work their hose it's only in play.
