Sun Rooms and Sleeping Porches

By Arthur C. Clausen.

The widespread calamity against the white plague resulted in several very important facts becoming known. The most important of these is that fresh air is absolutely essential to good health. No one is immune from consumption who does not give proper heed to the fundamental laws of health. A prominent physician once said that heretofore was responsible for the very smallest number of diseases, that most of the diseases either had their origin in our head or our homes. The architect, therefore, become something of a doctor—to the extent that the entire profession is striving constantly to provide more sanitary conditions in the home. Less work for the housewife, through modern conveniences, and in every way to make them better and happier abodes. The fact that outdoor sleeping in a climate will in most cases cure a case of consumption that has not advanced too far, together, of course, with the observance of other laws of health, has led many people to try as an experiment a few nights of sleep out of doors. This delightful experience, having once been experienced, invariably becomes a habit. It is impossible to fully appreciate how delightful and invigorating one soon feels after practicing this habit, even though the health was considered perfect to start with.

arrangement by enclosing the sides of the bed, except a small dumper placed at the foot for circulation, and had a little radiator under it, which was kept partially turned on, and in this way he was in a perfectly comfortable bed with a temperature even far below zero, his home being in a northern climate. The most practical side of the house for a sleeping porch is the south side. In this location it receives the southern breezes in the summer time and does not receive the north winds in the winter time.

The sun room which is fast growing into popularity is simply a porch added onto the house, but provided with glass sash on all sides. When these are open, the sun room serves all the practical purposes of an outdoor porch. When the temperature makes it more comfortable to have them closed, one still has the use of this porch as a pleasant room. It is usually furnished with furniture of a porch character, and being a splendid place for growing plants, takes the place of a house conservatory, and is often very beautifully decorated with growing plants.

Sun rooms can be openly connected with either living room or dining room, or closed off from the main living room. French windows or doors with glass in the floor are used, they are seldom Thirty chapters, 300 illustrations. It covers a wide range of subjects, including the planning of bungalows, cottages and city houses, costing from $2,000 to $20,000, letting of contracts, choosing materials, proper design of entrance, windows, fireplaces, etc. New third edition. Price, postpaid, $1.00.

Address, Arthur C. Clausen, Architect, 1156-57-58 Lumber Exchange, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

The principal thing in favor of the sun room is the fact that it can be used the year around, wet days, dry days, warm days and cold days. When not located on the front of the house, it is often used at night as a sleeping porch, by providing it with one or more sanitary coats which, when folded up during the day, become lounges or seats.

A home with a convenient, sanitary kitchen, indirect radiation for fresh air supply in winter, an open fireplace and other means of ventilation a sun room and a sleeping porch, ought to insure a family against many of the ills that flesh is heir to.

ALDRICH COMING
 Will Take Prominent Part in Opening of Omaha Land Show.

STATE TO HAVE A BIG DAY
 Extraordinary Exhibits from All Parts of Nebraska Will Be Displayed Conspicuously from October 16 to 28.

Governor Chester H. Aldrich will be one of the prominent figures at the forthcoming Land show which opens on October 16, continuing until the 28th. The exposition opens will be swung ajar at 8 o'clock on the evening of the 16th with appropriate ceremonies. Governor Aldrich, Mayor Dahlman and other prominent men will deliver addresses, marking the formal opening.

The governor also will be here on October 18, which has been set aside as Nebraska day, and will take a leading part in exploiting the opportunities and advantages of the state. Nebraska will occupy the most conspicuous space in the big Coliseum with its exhibits. The state has been allotted booths on the promenade at one end of the building and these can be seen from any part of the exposition hall.

Nebraska's display will consist largely of grasses and grains and it will be one of the most attractive in the exposition building. A number of communities in the northwestern part of the state have been working all through the summer months to prepare a representative assortment of soil products. The Northwestern will come with a fine display of alfalfa. At the show in January this road had the most novel exhibit in the Auditorium and it is announced that the former efforts will be far surpassed at the coming exposition. There will also be a general state display under the auspices of the State Agricultural college, managed by Prof. C. W. Fugleby of the state agricultural department. This display will represent every section of Nebraska.

On Nebraska day an special effort will be made to exploit the advantages of the state. There will be illustrated lectures in the lecture halls and there will be speeches by Governor Aldrich and other prominent men. From all indications there will be an unusually large attendance on this day.

AK-SAR-BEN KNIGHTS TO HOLD MEETING AT THE DEN

Plans are being made to hold the annual meeting of the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben this winter in the den, now that the building has been put in good repair and can be kept warm in cold weather.

It has been the custom to gather at one of the theaters, but the knights think they can have a lot more fun at the den, after business is over, by putting on a little entertainment of their own, followed by Dutch lunch in the "banquet" hall. The meeting will be in December of January.

Samson's books show 1,865 members on the Ak-Sar-Ben roster, many new members having come in just prior to the fall.

DUNDEE RESIDENTS TO HAVE WATER CONNECTION

The application presented to United States Circuit Judge W. H. Munzer Friday afternoon by the Dundee Realty company, asking for the modification of the city water works Wednesday is being considered by the water company, was passed upon, and as a result connections with the water company's mains are now being made.

The company asked that their tenants be allowed to have the use of water pending the settlement of the case, as there was no other supply at hand, and the court granted their request.

The number of coupons used—answers given—must be plainly written on the outside of each SET submitted, but do not write such information on the wrapper.

Only not absolutely necessary. It is desirable that the pictures should in each case be sent in with the answers, in order that all answers be uniform. Additional pictures and coupons may be obtained at the office of The Bee by mail or in person.
