COUNCIL WANTS CENSORS

Takes Resolution from File and Passes it at Special Session.

SHELDON WAS APPROACHED

Tells Councilmen They Should Pass the Resolution as an Answer to Charge that Not Had Been Raised to Block It.

Asserting that rumors had reached him that members of the city council had been approached with offers from their interested in the defeat of the ordinance creating a social service board to censor theatrical shows, Councilman Sheldon at a special session yesterday moved the resolution be taken from the files and passed. This action, he said, would destroy the charges that a "pot" had been raised to defeat the measure.

Sheldon said he himself had been approached. Bridges declared it was simply one of Sheldon's schemes to make the city council play politics even in its death-throes. Johnson and Sheldon asserted it would be a "good thing" to show the public that those who had voted against the censorship would now vindicate themselves.

Councilman Kugel said he needed no vindication; that he favored such a board, but as it would have to be advertised for three weeks and would not be complete with the old administration went out of office he thought the council ought to keep its hands off. McGovern stood by the guns with the minority, and there was more or less gossiping in personalities until a vote was finally taken and the resolution taken from the files by a seven to four vote and passed by the same vote.

Bridges, Kugel, McGovern and Hummel voted against the adoption of the resolution. Schroeder was absent and his vote over the telephone was requested, but he decided he would not cast a ballot at long range.

Kugel said he had written to the Baraca union, which brought the principal influence to bear on the council to force the adoption of the resolution, and stated his position as he had stated it to the council.

This ordinance will be drafted by the city clerk and published for three weeks. It will provide for a board of five censors, two of them to be women. Pankhouser said in his opinion there ought to be two women in the city "sufficiently broad-minded" to serve on the board.
