RETURNS OF LATE ELECTION

County Supervisors Complete the Count, Finding Few Changes.

TOTALS REMAIN ABOUT SAME

Figures Showing Difference in Speed at Which the Different Election Boards Worked.

The county supervisors yesterday completed the canvass of the vote cast at the primary election. There were numerous changes, but were of minor character. Errors were found in the vote for Senator Kenyon that added fifteen to his total and reduced the vote for Young, that number. Holden's lead over Clark for governor was also slightly increased.

Following the count of the ballots came the allowance of the claims of judges and clerks of election. The canvass of the claims indicated remarkable differences, with the advantage showing distinctly in favor of the work of the election boards in the county. In the first precinct of the Fifth ward it required forty-two hours to count the ballots and make the returns showing 291 votes, and in Belknap township, where there were 257 votes cast, it only took twenty-one hours to complete the work. In the second precinct of the Fourth ward it required thirty hours to count 154 votes, and in Knox township 288 votes were properly counted and returns completed in twenty-six hours. In the first precinct of the Fourth ward it required forty hours to count 221 votes but the "farmers" out in Lincoln township counted 201 votes in twenty hours. In the second precinct of the Fifth ward it kept the judges and clerks busy for forty hours counting 165 ballots, while the men entrusted to do the work out in Carson township counted 125 ballots in eighteen hours. In the first precinct of the Third ward the judge and clerks counted 235 ballots in twenty-four hours but it took twenty hours for the judges and clerks in the third precinct of the Fifth ward to count eighty-seven votes. The heaviest bills were rendered by the Fifth ward election boards, forty-two hours in the first precinct, forty hours in the second and twenty hours in the third precinct. The board had previously agreed to allow 25 cents an hour, making $10 each for the forty-hour workers.

The disproportion of the charges put up a problem to the county board that the members decided to step on and will try to adjust when the session begins at 9 o'clock this morning. It is quite likely that some of the bills will be scaled. Several of the precincts failed to make any notation of the time required and their books will have to be corrected before the men will get any pay for their work. The examination of the bills of all kinds show that the little primary has been more expensive than any previous election, including presidential contests when four times as heavy a vote has been cast.

The official canvass of the ballots cast in the entire county show the following for the republican candidates:

Park Commissioners Will Resist Payment

The board of park commissioners held an informal meeting yesterday and decided to resist any attempt on the part of the city to force the payment from the park funds of the cost of paving on Willow avenue and the new cement walks that have been constructed on three sides of Bayliss park. The total bill will amount to about $2,900. The matter was pretty fully discussed at the adjourned meeting of the city council on Wednesday afternoon and it was then decided that the bill for the pavement at least should not be charged against the park board and on the assessment schedule approved the cost is charged the city. Yesterday, however, some of the members of the council took another view of it and so informed members of the park board. The park commissioners rely upon the plain construction of the law that makes them responsible only for expenditures with the parks for the purposes of development and maintenance. The law plainly exempts the board from the payment of all expenses outside the parks, although connected with them. Under the law the board may refuse to pay for any of the street lamps that are placed in the parks and may also require the city to pay the expenses of the park policeman Chairman Graham of the park board yesterday recalled the positive refusal to pay for the Willow avenue paving when the matter was called to his attention last autumn for the reason that the payment of such a large sum would cripple the park fund and render impossible the carrying forward the program for development planned for this year, including the new driveway into Fairmount park. He distinctly remembers that there were no promises made in connection with the park levy for this year and that his understanding was that the city had decided to pay for the work by warrants on the improvement fund. The matter has no particular public interest now except from the fact that the improvement fund has "gone glimmering," and that contemplated paving where there are certain to be large deficiencies to be cared for may have to be postponed.

Auditor Shows the Balances on Hand

City Auditor McAneny yesterday completed his balances for the city's financial transactions during May. The report shows that a number of the departments are keeping well within their expenditures, but that others are going at a pace that will create deficiencies before the year ends unless the brakes are applied, notably the police and fire departments and particularly the streets and alleys. Council Bluffs men who returned from Villisca yesterday afternoon declare the men working to unravel the Moore family tragedy say there is absolutely no clue whatever for the officers to follow. They say the people of the town realize for the first time the consummate skill of the fiend in hiding his tracks and concealing his identity. They say the more thoughtful people of the town are fully convinced that he is the same monster who began his career of murder by slaying the family in Oregon and then followed it up by slaying the families in Colorado, Kansas and Illinois. The man is believed to be a Russian anarchist who vowed vengeance upon every person connected in any degree with his conviction and sentence to prison from Colorado on a charge of theft. His first victim was one of the chief witnesses who had left Colorado and gone to Oregon a year before the man finished his term in prison. The heads of the Colorado and Kansas families were also connected with the case. When connection Moore had with it is not stated.

Reception Tonight at Dodge Memorial

An event, interesting in church circles throughout the city and especially important to the people of the western part of the city will be the public reception this evening preliminary to the dedication next Sunday of the New Dodge Memorial church at Thirty-second street and Avenue C. The congregation has planned a pleasant social event and wisely entrusted it to the care of the women of the church. An orchestra will occupy the balcony throughout the evening and visitors are privileged to come and go as they like, inspecting the building, enjoying the music and the light refreshments that will be provided. The church is the product of the energy and good work that has been accomplished by the large congregation that Rev. Charles S. Hanley has drawn together in the little more than two years he has devoted to it.

The new church has been designated the Dodge Memorial church for the reason that it was largely through the generosity of Nathan P. Dodge and his distinguished brother, General Grenville M. Dodge, that its construction was possible, although the congregation had fully outgrown the smaller building located at Avenue B and Thirty-fifth street. It is located in one of the most rapidly developing sections of the city, opposite the Thirty-second street public school building, which next year will have to be enlarged for the third time. Full programs of the dedicatory exercises will appear in the Sunday papers.

People who have watched the career of the United Doctors have seen them grow from a small beginning in one institute a few years ago, until now they have flourishing institutes established in many of the larger cities of the country, and their patients come from practically all over the United States and Canada.

The reason for this phenomenal growth is that there is great merit in their new system of curing chronic diseases. The United Doctors are often referred to as the "last resort in medicine." "By the United Doctors before you submit to the surgeon's knife," is an oft-repeated expression. Mr. Bruce Marshall of Smithfield, Mo., went to the United Doctors as a "last resort" and now he is glad of it and writes: "This certifies that I have suffered with pain in my right side for years, and could get no relief. I was operated on by local surgeons for appendicitis and still the pain did not let up. They also opened my gall bladder and claimed they pushed gall stones through the gall duct, and still I had gallstones and the everlasting pain."

I heard of the United Doctors, and like a drowning man grasped at a straw. I went to see them a short time ago, and for three weeks now I have not felt the slightest sign of pain, the first time I have been free from Gally Sells for five years. I feel absolutely cured and well right now, but will continue his treatment until the cause is entirely removed. The United Doctors' way of getting at gallstones and liver trouble is unique and wonderful.

"BRUCE MARSHALL, Smithfield, Mo." The United Doctors are having great success not only in the cure of gallstones, but also in all other curable diseases of the stomach, kidneys, liver, digestive organs, blood, nerves, including indigestion, constipation, rheumatism, catarrh, asthma, epilepsy, nervous disorders, diseases of men and diseases of women. Consultation and examination is always free and invited at their offices, which are located on the second floor of the Neville Block, corner Sixteenth and Harney streets, Omaha.

A Million Boys Under 18 Fought in Our Civil War Surprising, but true. The greatest conflict of modern times was largely fought by actual boys in blue and boys in gray. And thousands of them yet live to tell of those stirring times. That is what makes the publication of the famous BRADY WAR PHOTOGRAPHS through The Bee all the more timely and fortunate. The veterans can see for themselves these pictures—taken just half a century ago, lost for many years, and now newly discovered. Perchance they can find their own likeness or that of a friend or relative here. Read the letter below—one of hundreds of such instances. The Bee Offers in These Photographs Accurate and Impartial Record of the War It is accurate because based on actual photographs—and the camera is truthful. It is impartial because the best photographs on both sides have been secured. Because it is the result of not only one camera's work but of many—working independently of each other, North and South. Because the camera is the most exact of witnesses, seeing far more and better than the eye.
