STORE CLOSSES AT 5 O'CLOCK

A Lingerie Dress Carnival at This Store Tuesday

Fresh news comes from the store of women's dresses for a great sale this Tuesday. Not old or shopworn garments but fresh, new, clean, spick-and-span lingerie dresses are offered at a half and sometimes less than a half of the actual values, simply because we have been fortunate in some recent transactions.

All the new styles of the season are included in this great Tuesday sale

You never pay more than half and generally less than half price Tuesday

All the new styles of the season are included in the various assortments at the different prices—a few of the prices representing as many as twenty styles for your selection. Superior workmanship is plainly evident in the making and the trimmings and designs are the most beautiful seen in lingerie dresses in many a season. Here's the price part:

UNION PACIFIC TAKING STOCK

Valuation Being Made of the Entire Harriman System. WORTH OF PROPERTY UNKNOWN

The Harriman system, including the Union Pacific, the Oregon Short Line and the Southern Pacific, November 3, 1908, began the task of securing a physical valuation of all the properties. A large number of men, all experts in their respective lines, were employed and they have since then been constantly at work.

On some of the lines of the Harriman system the work of securing this physical valuation has been completed, but on the Union Pacific it will not be finished until the middle of September. When the work is finished the officials in charge will be in a position to tell to a penny the value of the property. The men who have been and who are doing the work have taken into account every item, regardless of how small, or how large. For instance, on one schedule will be shown the value of articles as small as spikes, while on others will be the appraised value of locomotives, passenger coaches and other equipment, while on still others will be placed the valuation of right-of-way, city and town lots, lands and buildings.

The men at the head of the Harriman system of roads have a purpose in finding out just what the property is worth. They want to be in a position so that if state or national laws are passed they will have the proof to present showing just what the real value of the lines of the system and the property is, thus counteracting the idea that stock is watered and that an effort is and has been made to pay dividends on watered stock and inflated valuations.

No One Knows Value. There is still another and more important reason for ascertaining the real value of the properties of the lines that go to make up the Harriman system. While some officials even intimate that it is not the best kind of a business policy, all of them agree that at this time there is no man living who can tell the actual value of the great properties.

Some twenty-odd years ago, when the Union Pacific and some other lines that now make up the Harriman system went into the hands of receivers, an inventory of the property and a physical valuation was made on an order of the court. When the property was bought in by the late Edward H. Harriman he took over right-of-way, lands, terminals, bridges, equipment and rolling stock. Since then millions upon millions of dollars have been put into extensions, repairs, betterment and new work, but nowhere in the archives of the offices is there a balance sheet showing just what the Harriman property was worth ten years ago last January, last January or June 30, the end of the fiscal year.

In many lines of business account of stock is taken the first of each year and the executive head then knows just what the financial condition is and just how much has been made or lost on every dollar of invested capital.

From time to time and at regular intervals for the last twenty years valuations have been made on properties in various departments, but at no time has the entire volume of assets been gone into and valued right down to the actual worth.

Family Seeks Aid to Head Off Eviction

Two little girls, under 10 years of age, serious as women of 30, called at the Associated Charities yesterday morning to ask aid for themselves and their parents.

They were the daughters of Martin Hash, who lives on Castell street, and they told the charities their landlord was going to evict them if their rent was not paid.

"Mamma's working," said little Bernice, "and papa is sick. We don't know what to do. Will you help us?"

She gave Secretary Porter the letter threatening eviction. The landlord's name and much other information was on the letter head, but his address was not there, nor could his name be found in the directory.

"I don't know how to find him," said Miss Porter, "and have been unable to locate him after a search all day. We will investigate the case and if we can help the family, but we want first to locate the man who is owner of the house."

Good Start is Made for Funds for the Old People's Home

Rev. C. V. Savidge now has in the bank $72.53 as a start on the fund for the Old People's Home which he proposes to build at Florence. This amount came from one source.

When George Masney read in the papers Saturday evening the account of the proposed home he immediately told his wife of a check he had for just such a purpose and he forthwith sent the money to Mr. Savidge.

CHARLEY WHITE, OWNER OF THE "DIAMOND," IS DEAD

Charles White, who was one of the owners of the famous old Diamond gambling house at 1313 Douglas street, is dead. News of his demise in Spokane July 13 was received by Harry L. Jordan of the Byron Reed company who has charge of the Midland hotel annex, White's property.

White, H. B. Kennedy, Charles D. Bibbins and Jack Morrison operated the Diamond in Omaha until gambling laws sent them out of business here in 1904. Bibbins and White went to Spokane where they purchased a six story office building. Later they bought a building adjoining and made the whole into the Pearl building, one of the largest in Spokane.

To Help Nature Shed a Bad Complexion

(From The Family Physician.) Beauty devotees are enthusiastic over the beautifying qualities of mercolized wax. Perhaps nothing discovered within recent years accomplishes so much, so quickly, without harm, without detaining one indoors, and at such small expense. The principal reason for its wonderful merit is that it works in harmony with physiological laws. Instead of hiding, or curing, complexion defects, it removes them. The wax actually takes off the aged, faded, sallow or blotchy cuticle, gently, gradually, causing no inconvenience. It is Nature's way of renewing complexion. When the natural process is retarded because of deficient circulation or nerve ions, mercolized wax comes to the rescue and hastens the skin shedding. The new complexion which appears is a natural one, youthful, healthy, exquisitely beautiful. If you've never tried mercolized wax, get an ounce of it at the drug store, use at night like cold cream, washing it off in the morning.

Comfort for Men

Let your feet get tired and you are tired all over. You just get tired because the shoe you are wearing does not make your foot comfortable and at ease.

We have a shoe especially designed for men with tired, aching feet. They are made with the broad common sense toe and flat heels. Real foot comfort means peace of mind.

Soft kid, in either high or low shoes. Hundreds have found comfort in these shoes.
