Wheat was largely influenced by cash demand and reports of rain, closing steady, % 1/2 higher. Early advances in wheat, stimulated in part by stronger staples, were met by lighter lovegn demand and weaker northwestern markets, causing a larger failing off. Northwestern millers reported sales of much flour and millers' demand slackened.

WAHOO,- Neb., Aug. 15 .- (Special.) William Schwartz, an employe of the Hagenbeck-Wallace shows, met death here last night immediately after the night performance, when he went to sleep under one of the large property wagons. He got his head in the path of one of the wheels. The driver came and hitched to the wagon and started to drive away, when he heard screams and found that one of the wheels had passed over Schwartz's head cutting it nearly in two. Death was instantaneous. Corone: Biggerstaff took charge of the body and the man's parents, living at Canton, O. were notified. The show company left money to pay the burial and shipping

HOGS—In the hog division this morning opening trade ruled generally steady to strong and possibly in some cases 5c higher for good light hogs, packers, speculators and shippers all buying of that kind. While the number of hogs showing quality was in fairly liberal supply, on the whole trade in them was fairly active as long as it lasted. Quality was an important feature in the market and the best hogs almost invariably sold at a premium over other kinds. Team Runs Away

SHEEP-Although the early trade in sheep and lambs may have shown a little sheep and lambs may have shown as little sheep and lambs may have sheep as lamb as lambs may have sheep and la SHEEP—Although the early trade in sheep and lambs may have shown a little life as compared with the slow, draggy market yesterday, general conditions surrounding that class of stock were vary little if any better than on any other day this week. The first advices from eastern points indicated prices barely steady with yesterday's trade, and in consequence local buyers bought very little during the first rounds, apparently waiting for a better understanding of the general situation. A good demand, however, remains for really prime killers of either sheep or lambs, but a relatively small proportion of that sort has been appearing in recent shipments. Among the sales made shortly after the opening were five cars of heavy Montans wethers that brought $3.90 and a big string of idaho lambs which soid at $8.65.

Total receipts footed up about thirtynic loads, or around $7.50 head, being the largest run for a Thursday since April 25, but slightly smaller than on the corresponding day a year ago. While a few loads of pretty good stuff were to be found among the offerings, general quality showed no noticeable improvement over yesterday. Lambs comprised the big end of the receipts again touay and sheep holdings were comparatively small.

Printers Vote Down Measure Extending Terms of Officers

CLEVELAND, Aug. 15 .- No cut and dried proceedings serve to render the convention of the International Typographical union dull and tedious. Several questions that have arisen have indicated sharp party lines in the organization and contests between the progressives and the administration factions. Victory, as a rule, has fallen to the administration forces, but today the progressives scored a fall.

Strenuous opposition to an administration measure to amend the bylaws to make the terms of the international officers four years was led by C. A. Burton of Fort Worth, Tex., who declared that the measure was an attempt to perpetuate the national officers in office.

The fall of President Lynch's gavel failed to stop the disturbance when he started to announce that a viva voce vote seemed to show a majority in favor of the resolution. The anti-administrationists forced a vote and the measure was defeated. A substitute motion, making the term two years, as at present, and only two successive terms possible, was also defeated. Edward L. Cahill of Lynn, Mass., offered the amendment to the bylaws. President James J. Freel of the International Stereotypers' union addressed the convention on the strike of Chicago pressmen, explaining that the charter of the Chicago local of his organization was suspended because of the illegal action of the Chicago body in going on strike in violation of contracts with the Chicago newspapers. His exposition of the matter sustained President Lynch in his contention that the Chicago union was not entitled to recognition in the person of its president. L. B.
