

MORRISON DEMOLISHES CELL

Former Sanitary Officer Becomes Violently Insane in Jail.

THREATENS TO KILL GUARDS

He is Finally Overcome with Fumes of Ammonia, but Twelve Men Are Required to Put Him in the Straight Jacket.

Ed F. Morrison, former sanitary officer, who has been held at the county jail since Wednesday afternoon pending his removal to the insane asylum, became violent yesterday, demolishing everything in his cell and threatening to kill the person who dared enter. Deputy Sheriff Tom McCleneghan made several attempts to get him out of the cell and narrowly escaped serious injury when the insane man struck at his head with a large iron bar, missing him by a fraction of an inch.

Morrison said he would come quietly out of the cell and be handcuffed if Dr. C. E. McCleneghan was near. When the doctor arrived he threatened to kill him, cursing him and saying he ought to be in the next cell to him.

Sprays Him with Ammonia.

Tom Bowman, police chauffeur and foreman of the repair shops, sprayed Morrison with ammonia, which overcame him for a few minutes. While he was lying on the floor Deputy McCleneghan, Officer J. Unger and Tom Bowman rushed into the cell and plied the man to the floor. When they took him from the cell it took twelve men to hold him while a straight jacket was put on him. When the danger was all over Sheriff Felix McShane, Jailer Cahill and two other assistants picked up courage enough to approach Morrison.

As soon as he was put into the straight jacket Morrison became as tame as a lamb and asked for a cigar, chatting in a friendly tone at times with his captors about different subjects, devoting several minutes to cursing them.

Dr. McCleneghan first tried to give Morrison a glass of beer containing morphine, which he refused to drink, saying he knew it was "doped." He will be taken to Lincoln this afternoon.

Demolishes His Cell.

Morrison demolished the iron cot and other furniture in the cell, broke out of the windows and pulled off the gas and water pipes. He would have been apprehended had not the attendants turned off the gas in the basement.

Rusmiser Names Teachers at High Commercial School

L. C. Rusmiser, principal of the new Commercial High school, announces that with the opening of the school in September he will organize the students into a commercial club, such an organization to take the place of the usual debating society.

Principal Rusmiser will also arrange with Omaha business firms to furnish data and information for the use of the pupils, who will be given a "first-hand commercial" education.

This is the first venture into the field of commercial education in so extensive a manner and the Board of Education has provided Principal Rusmiser with every modern convenience and apparatus necessary to make the school a success. The faculty of this new high school of commerce will consist of twenty of the best commercial teachers in the country. Those who have been elected are: Mabel Allison, J. A. Knotts, Alice D. Hoskin, Bertha Pisten, Katherine Cookman, Henry Claussen, Chester G. Linn, Lloyd Bertsch (who were transferred from the high school), N. C. Wood, Mary Bourke, F. A. Miller, Helen Drummond, J. L. Crawford, Blanche A. Coffman, H. C. Joy, R. B. Brott, L. E. Gifford and L. A. Detring.

STOCKTON HETH IS SOME WHEAT GROWER

Stockton Heth, former treasurer of the Omaha Water Works company, has just harvested a rich crop of wheat on his farm near Herman. Mr. Heth reaped 1,466 bushels of wheat from thirty acres planted to wheat, or an average of forty-eight bushels to the acre.

9 O'Clock the Final Sale of Summer Shoes

Sixteen lots—no single lot large, but, taken altogether, a very respectable quantity. Low Shoes—pumps, colonials, button and lace oxfords, formerly sold at $4.00 and $5.00 a pair—at above hour—$2.50 PAIR.

There's white patent leather pumps, white colonial canvas, velozee pumps (gray or brown), tan colonials, also patent, tan ties and tan pumps, suedes too—button oxfords, dull and patent leather pumps and a few satin pumps—all arranged to end the summer story. Short! Sharp! Quick! Decisive!

$2.50 Pair

There'll be lots of shoes advertised much lower than these, but—these shoes are new and high grade, bought for this season's fine trade, and made specially to satisfy those who wear fine shoes.

RATHER AWKWARD if those interested in shoes should be also interested in BAGS.

The Bag Sale starts at 9:00 a. m. also—all Leather Bags, leather lined as well as the outside, seal grain—seal grain applies to the grain of the leather—the bags are not made from seal skin—but from cow skin.

On Thursday many people were disappointed who came in the afternoon for some of the bargains which went on sale immediately when the store opened; and while lots were fairly large, demand was so active that by noon some of the lots were sold out. We try awfully hard to make ourselves understood. Note therefore, please, that shoes and bags go on sale at 9:00 a. m., and sale will continue all day—IF THE GOODS LAST.

10:00 A. M. on the Second Floor, Very

Special Sales of Waists and Wash Dresses

Our buyers are rushing forward from the EASTERN MARKETS AUTUMN MERCHANDISE. We must have the room.

We have concluded to put prices on summer wearables which should see the last of these items by closing time Saturday night.

3 prices on three lots of Waists . . . 50c, 75c, $1.50

In the 50c lot waists which were $1.25.

In the 75c lot waists which were $2.25 and over.

The $1.50 lot is the choice lot. Very many were sold up to $3.50.

The thin summer dresses are priced so low as to seem really absurd, and you'll think so, if you have any interest, if not, they would scarcely be cheap at any price.

Three lots, here again—98c, $2.75, $5.00.

Dresses which sold up to $4.50, Saturday 98c

Dresses which sold up to $7.50, Saturday $2.75

Dresses which sold up to $20.00, Saturday $5.00

In every lot are a few which were marked even higher than the stated prices. Not one piece in any of the lots will be reserved—and no favorites played. Come early, be good natured, and please do not hold onto any that you do not mean to buy.

In the excitement attendant upon some of our sales, ladies will sometimes unintentionally get hold of several articles and thoughtlessly hold them, frequently to the disappointment of those anxious to buy. We make mention of this at this time because we desire to make the distribution at these sales as general and far-reaching as possible, AND ABOVE ALL ELSE WE WISH TO PLEASE AND SATISFY OUR PATRONS.

In practically every family there is someone with A Sweet Tooth You'll know who'll be pleased with a box of "Balduff". Saturday all day. Pecan Nut Patties, made from pure, rich cream, crowded full with sweet pecan meats; vanilla, strawberry, and maple. One-half pound boxes, on sale Saturday, at 15c. Butterscotch "Dee-licious", made from rich cream and creamy butter, each piece wrapped. Pound box, 25 cents. Phone us early if you cannot come down. Mr. and Mrs. Cobb in charge.

Butler Would Kill Weight Ordinance

City Commissioner Butler, head of the department of finances and accounts, has drafted an ordinance repealing the ordinance passed recently requiring all articles to be sold by weight. This ordinance was placed on its first and second readings yesterday and referred to the committee of the house for Monday. Butler believes the housewife can be "cheated just the same" if articles are sold by weight instead of by measure.

Woman Mistakes Acid for Medicine

Mrs. Edna Clark, 1009 South Eleventh street, drank an ounce of carbolic acid, mistaking it for medicine, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Dr. S. E. McCleneghan attended the woman and succeeded in saving her life.

Mrs. Clark made a preparation of carbolic acid and gasoline yesterday, which she used for killing insects. She placed the bottle along side one containing medicine which she has been taking. She reached for the bottle and took the one containing the deadly fluid.
