TIMELY REAL ESTATE GOSSIP

Omaha Alfalfa Milling Company is Making Improvements.

BLAU GAS BUILDING IS FINISHED

During the Week Several Important Transfers of Store Property and Residences are Placed on Record.

The Omaha Alfalfa Milling company is spending approximately $30,000 in enlarging its plant and building elevators at the mill in East Omaha. Elevators costing $25,000 are being built. The foundations for these have just been completed. A grain drier, which will dry grain for shipping purposes by steam process, is being built at a cost of $7,500. Foundation for an addition to the mill itself has just been finished. This addition is to cost $2,500.

These improvements will increase the capacity of the mill about fourfold. At present the mill is receiving twenty-five cars of raw material per day and shipping out fourteen cars of manufactured product per day. With the new addition and the new elevators, the company will receive practically 100 cars of raw material per day and will ship out some forty-five cars of manufactured meal and stock foods.

The Nebraska Blau Gas company has just completed its building at Twenty-eighth and Boyd streets, where it owns a full city block of ground. By the middle of October the company expects to have the plant completed and in operation. The investment in ground, buildings and machinery is said to represent a total cash outlay of $110,000. This is one of the industries that was brought to Omaha largely through the efforts and activities of the Omaha Commercial club, and practically all of the money invested represents outside capital.

The Brandeis farm, west of Florence, was sold during the last week to George Nenaugh for practically $50,000. This is a farm of 500 acres. Mr. Nenaugh will use the farm for feeding stock for the South Omaha market. Arthur D. Brandeis sold the farm because his business required his close application to the Brandeis stores.

C. F. Kuncel has purchased the store and residence building at 1781 South Thirtieth street of Susana Krause for $7,000. The building has a frame front with a three-story brick flat in the rear. Mr. Kuncel bought the property for an investment.

Bernard Gross has purchased the combined store and residence building of Alex Chapman at Forty-second and Grand avenues for $6,000. Mr. Gross will occupy the property.

Some of the sales made recently by Hastings & Hayden are the following: Three lots in Kountze Place on Pratt street between Sixteenth and Nineteenth streets to D. H. Kirkland for an investment, which lots will all be improved with five or six-room bungalows.

Six-room house, 2318 South Fourteenth street, to M. J. Jaiser for a home, $3,400. House located at 1222 South Twenty-fifth avenue, sold to L. Bailey, $4,200.

Five-room cottage on North Twenty-eighth street, between Maple and Blinney, to Charles Demeter, $1,900.

Five-room house at northwest corner of Thirty-third and Burt streets to M. H. Conaway for an investment.

Two acre lots in Acre Garden addition northwest of Fort Omaha to John H. Chandler, $1,450.

Two-room bungalow in Dundee, 428 Underwood avenue, to G. H. Goerke, $4,700. Three-room house and half acre in Home Acres addition, west of Fort Omaha, to Frank A. Engler, $1,300.

Two lots in Florence along the Calhoun macadam road to M. H. Reynolds, $1,500.

House located at 2524 North Twenty-seventh street, sold to Edward K. Dickoff, $2,100.

Lot in Florence addition on Webster avenue, between Twenty-fifth avenue and Twenty-seventh street, to Robert J. Shields, $215. New house to be built at once.

Nine and one-half acres in Keystone Park addition to J. A. Miles, $3,800.

Lot in Kountze Place on Wirt street between Sixteenth and Eighteenth to A. Forsberg, $115.

Lot in Kountze Place on Pratt between Eighteenth and Nineteenth to W. S. Wesley, $20.

Purchasing Agent is Employed by County

Stockton Heth, former treasurer of the Omaha Water company, has been named county purchasing agent by the Board of County Commissioners after it had appeared that the plan for a purchasing agent had been abandoned. Mr. Heth's salary will be $150 a month. He will begin work Monday.

Sheep Movement is to Be Very Heavy

The eastern sheep movement from South Omaha within the next thirty days will be the heaviest in the history of this market is the judgment of the Omaha railroad men. This year, owing to the splendid condition of the summer range in Wyoming, Colorado, Montana and Idaho, sheep have become fat much earlier than usual and consequently are starting to market earlier.

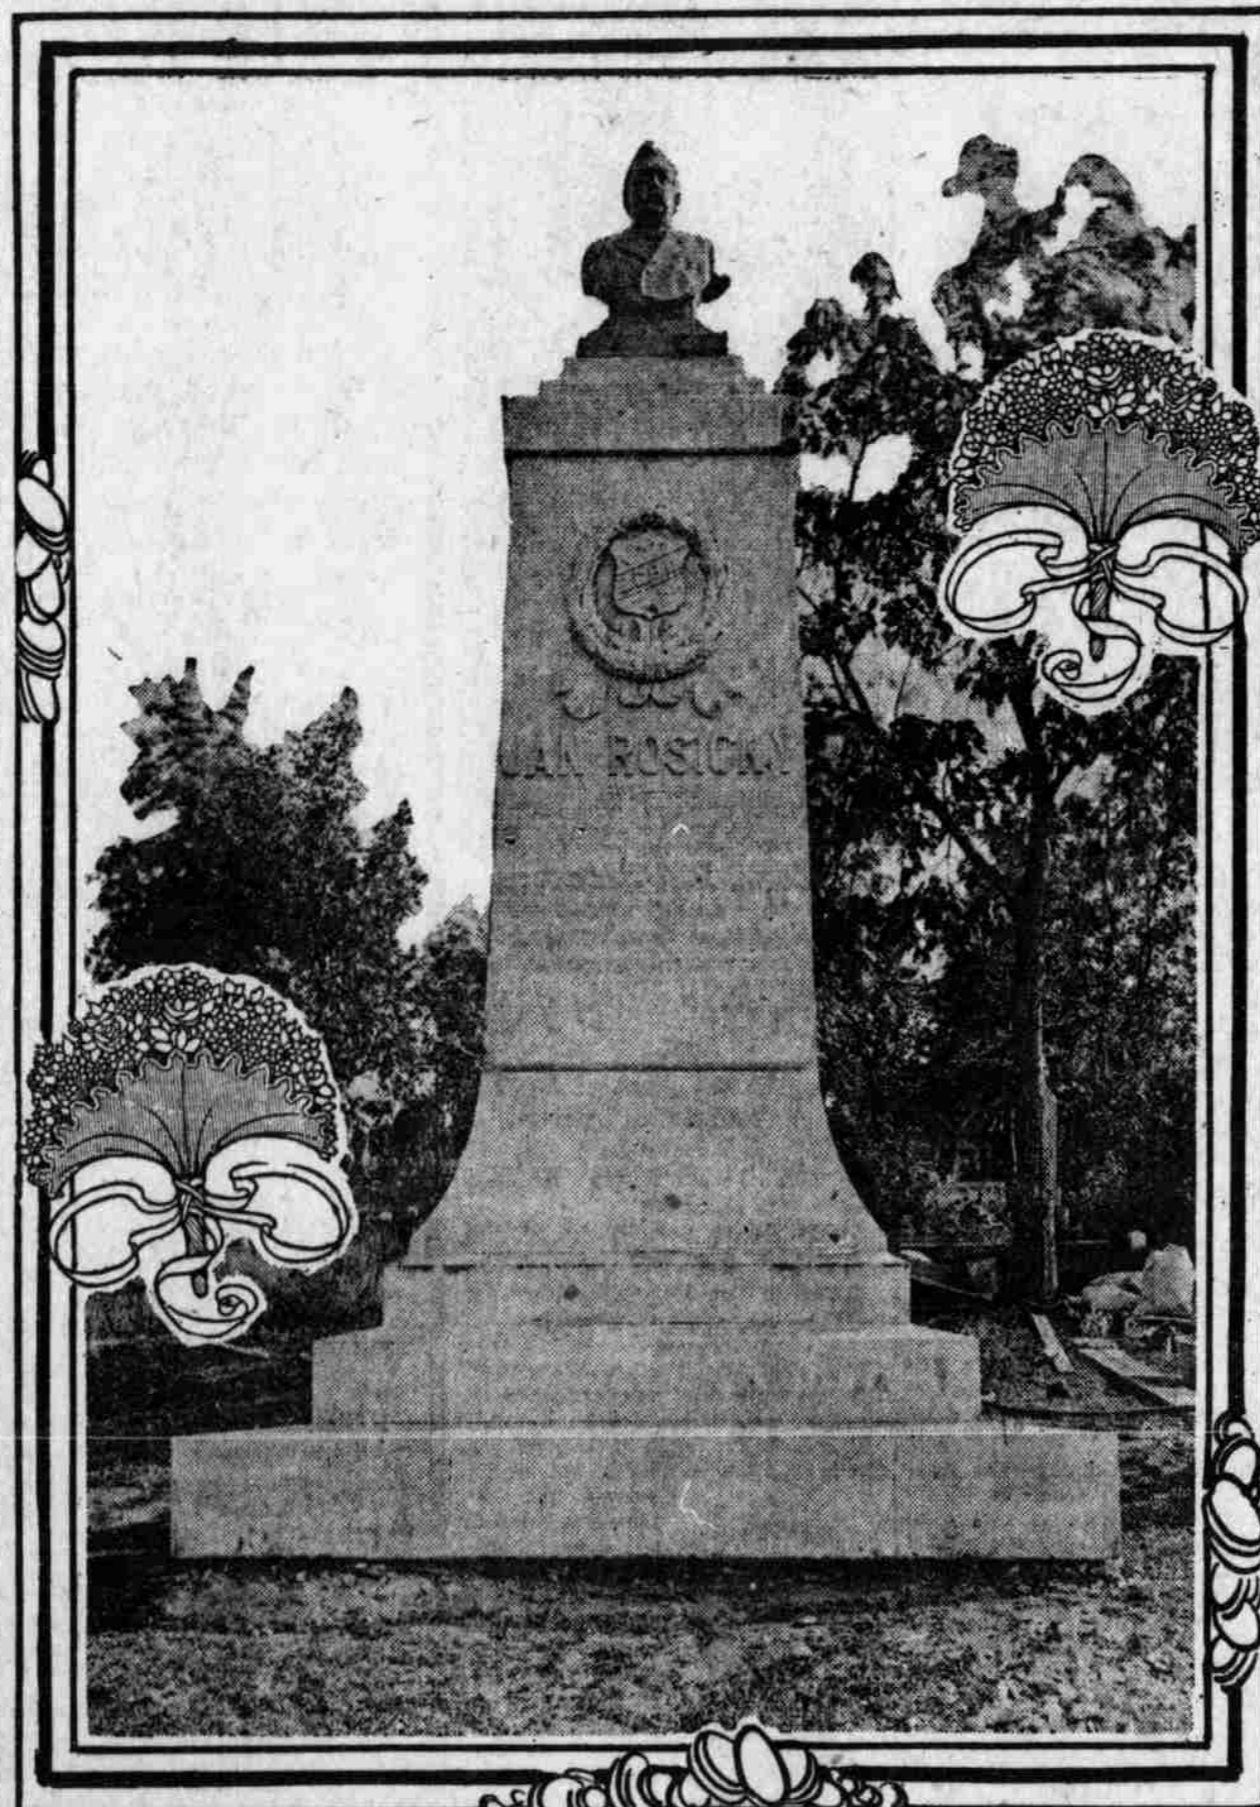

Escapes Injury in Thrilling Accident

A Boffharrot, a tailor in the employ of Dresser Bros., had a miraculous escape from death yesterday morning when he was caught between two street cars near Sixteenth and Davenport streets.

Boffharrot, who was on his way to work, crossed behind one car going south and was struck by a northbound car. He was rolled for over 100 feet along Sixteenth street. A patrolman, who saw the accident, rushed out and picked the injured man up, thinking him dead. He was taken to police headquarters, where he came out of a dazed condition. It was found on examination that he was but slightly bruised and was able to walk to work.

Monument to Bohemian Leader

MEMORIAL ERRECTED IN HONOR OF JOHN ROSICKY TO BE UNVEILED AT BOHEMIAN NATIONAL CEMETERY THIS AFTERNOON.

Unveiling exercises for the Jan Rosicky monument will be held at the Bohemian National cemetery, Fifty-fourth and Center streets, at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Most of the delegates to the Western Bohemian Fraternal union in convention here last week will attend. The monument was built in honor of Mr. Rosicky who died April 2, 1910. It cost $2,000 and was erected with money subscribed by Bohemian lodge members and their friends. It is sixteen feet in height and is built of Flemish bar granite throughout. A bronze bust of Mr. Rosicky adorns the top.

Louis Berka of Omaha will deliver the principal address at the exercises this afternoon. Mrs. Rosicky, 6-year-old granddaughter of Mr. Rosicky, will draw back the veil. Jan Rosicky was the founder of the Western Bohemian Fraternal union and was well known in all Bohemian settlements of the west. He was president of the National Printing company and founder of the Bohemian farm journal, Hospodar.

To Turn On Juice for the New White Way Next Week

"All that I can say concerning the proposed Platte river canal at this time is that we are making progress," said F. A. Nash, who has just returned from New York where he held a conference with the financial interests that are behind the proposition.

"There are certain conditions that must be worked out before we can say anything definite. To work out these conditions and satisfy the men who are putting up the money is going to take some time, but as I said before, we are making progress."

As to the new lighting being installed in the business section by the Omaha Light and Power company, of which Mr. Nash is president, he said: "We expect to turn on the lights next week and I feel safe in saying that there will be no section of any city in the United States that will be better lighted than the streets along which our new lights are being placed."

"We have done this work at an approximate cost of $30,000 and feel satisfied with the results and have an idea that the people will feel the same way when they see what has been accomplished."

Omaha Boy Killed in a Nevada Mill

Word has been received from McGill, Nev., of the accidental death at that place on Thursday of Mark Crocker, a former Omaha boy. Details of the accident are lacking further than that he was caught on a shaft in the mill in which he was working as a machinist and instantly killed. He was a member of the International Machinists' association and was formerly employed at the McKean Motor works in Omaha.

He was a son of T. S. Crocker of this city, who has gone to McGill for the body, was born and raised here, and besides his father, is survived by a wife, mother, sister and brother.

The body is expected to arrive in Omaha Wednesday or Thursday.

Italian Swindlers Bunco Countryman

Vantulo Fanchetto, an Italian fruit merchant at 40th South tenth street, was swindled this week out of $1,000 in cash, the savings of several years, by a trio of Italians who purported to offer him a share in a California fruit estate valued at $50,000.

Fanchetto's countrymen promised to leave a satchel containing $4,000 in currency, together with Fanchetto's savings at the fruit stand over night, as a sign of good faith. The three switched satchels on the fruit stand merchant, leaving him nothing but an empty sack filled with old clothes.

The affair was reported to the police at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

DANES TO HOLD CONFERENCE

Norwegian and Danish Pastors of Nine States to Gather in Omaha.

BISHOP HUGHES TO PRESIDE Will Be the Central Figure at the Convention, Which Comes Here for First Time in Thirty-Three Years.

The thirty-third annual convention of the Danish and Norwegian conference of the Methodist Episcopal church will convene for a six-day session on September 13 at the Norwegian and Danish Methodist Episcopal church at Twenty-fifth and Decatur streets.

This conference takes in the states of Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Iowa, Nebraska and Colorado. It is the first time that Omaha ever secured the convention and the making extensive preparations for the occasion. Every minister of the churches of these nationalities of the nine states are expected to be present.

The conference is divided into three districts: The Chicago district, with Rev. H. K. Madsen district superintendent, over twenty-six churches; the Minneapolis district, headed by Rev. P. M. Petersen. Omaha belongs to this district. The other district is the Red River Valley district, under the charge of Rev. James Tanaker.

The convention will open on Wednesday evening with addresses of welcome by District Superintendent Petersen and the pastor of the entertaining church, Rev. R. P. Petersen. Rev. C. G. Gundersen of Superior, Wis., will deliver a sermon.

On Thursday morning, September 13, the conference will begin its business with Bishop Edwin H. Hughes presiding. Every forenoon will be devoted to the business of the conference. The afternoons will be taken up by addresses and sermons. Most of the addresses will be in the Danish and Norwegian tongues, and the Danish and Norwegian population of Omaha or any other city and state is invited to attend.

Thursday afternoon there will be a temperance rally with a sermon in English by Dr. Edwin Locke of Topeka, Kan. He will take for his subject "Life in a Dry Country." Thursday evening another address will be made in English by Dr. Henry J. Coker of Denver, subject, "Marginal Peoples."

Did Joe's Soliloquy Come True? Sure Did

"Gee," soliloquized Joe Kohlberg as he hustled into his trousers and started down the stairs, "I'll be late to work." He tripped at the top and slipped a flight. The doctor says he will be several days late.

The accident happened at Twelfth and Douglas.

Commercial Clubs of Omaha and Kansas City to File Briefs

E. G. McVann, manager of the traffic bureau of the Commercial club, has, during the week, worked in conjunction with H. G. Wilson, transportation commissioner of the Kansas City Commercial club, in the preparation of a brief to be filed with the Interstate Commerce commission in connection with the Colorado rate case, in which Missouri river shipping points are interested. The brief must be filed by September 20.

Three years ago the rates from Chicago and St. Louis to Colorado and intervening territory were materially reduced and no corresponding reductions were made in the rates from Missouri river points. The purpose of the argument is to convince the members of the Interstate Commerce commission that a corresponding reduction should now be made in the rates from the Missouri river.

This proceeding is of no particular interest to Omaha jobbers and manufacturers, as they do a much larger business at Colorado points and intermediate territory than any of the other Missouri river cities.

TAXI HOLDUP MAN IS HELD

Chauffeur is Accused of Engineering Several Robberies.

POLICE EXPLAIN HIS GAME Promising Victims Are Picked Up at Railway Stations and Women Are Called In as Accomplices.

Harry Kahler, a chauffeur, was bound over to the district court on the charge of highway robbery. He was unable to furnish $500 bonds for his release. He is accused of robbing Martin Deur, an Iowa farmer, of $15 in Riverview park last night.

Detective Devereese says Kahler, who has a taxicab stand at the Union Pacific depot, has been "pulling" off similar robberies for the last few months. In one instance he is said to have picked up two passengers at the depot and "rolled" them for $300.

Mode of Operation. Whenever he can get a passenger who looks promising to hire his machine for a joy ride he will pick up a couple of women along the way, and usually run out to some obscure place and rob his victim, according to Devereese. He operates at the railroad depot usually at night, the police say.

Last night he picked Deur up at the Union depot and, accompanied by Anna Melchior of 1312 South Second street and Rose Flomlek of the Vienna hotel, drove to Riverview park and robbed his passenger.

Deur complained to the police and Detectives Murphy and Rich arrested Kahler this morning.

The two women were held to the district court and Deur was placed under bond.

BULL MOOSERS REGISTER REPUBLICAN TO PLAY SAFE

"W. J. Broatch, 2701 Spalding street, republican," is the way the name was recorded on the registration books last week. In spite of Broatch's declaration in public letters and interviews that, although nominated as a republican candidate for presidential elector, he is for Theodore Roosevelt, the candidate of another party, he was careful to register as a republican.

Still Mr. Broatch played a safer game so far as his participation in the next primary is concerned than his compatriots who designated themselves as "Bull Moose."

"Come Filday if you want fish," said the Chinese waiter, when the American ordered fish on Monday. So will the judges at the primaries have to invite the bull moosers to come on bull moose day if they want a bull moose ballot.

Some registered as bull moose and some as bull moose republicans, among them: W. A. Hixenbaugh, 623 South Nineteenth street.

W. F. Coffey, 3316 North Fifteenth street. H. P. Bean, 2301 Grand avenue. P. Reinhardt, 446 Ames avenue.

These are a few names taken at random from the pages of the register. Others registered as "progressives," although the registration of "bull moose" and "progressives" combined was very small. In South Omaha altogether only twenty-three voters registered as "progressives." Whether there is significance in this famous hoodoo figure has not been officially decided. South Omaha registration shows the following:

Democrats 419 Republicans 332 Progressives 26 Socialists 26 Scattering 9

This makes a total of 809 registrations in South Omaha the first day of registration.

There will be two more days to register before the November election.

RATES UNDER NEW PARCELS POST SYSTEM ARE MADE UP

In order to enlighten the public on what will be the rates on the shipment of parcels by mail under the new parcels post system to go into effect January 1, 1913, the Omaha Commercial club has given a few figures in its weekly journal. The rate is, of course, governed by the distance, that is, by the zone from which the article is sent and the zone in which its destination lies. The proposed parcels post rates given in table form as follows:

Table with columns: Rate per pound, First Additional Charge, Each Pound, Charge for Parcel. Rows include rates for 100, 150, 200, 300, 400, 500, 600, 700, 800, 900, 1,000, 1,200, 1,400, 1,600, 1,800 miles.

It will be noted that the charge for the first pound is the basis, and to this is added a progressive increase for each additional pound, the basic charge per pound as well as the additional charge per pound, increasing with the distance until the maximum is reached for all distances over 1,800 miles.
