Young Risley and Companions Also to Go Free

The dismissal of the grand jury indictments brought against Mrs. Nellie Paul and the several lawyers charged with blackmail growing out of the recent attempt to extort money from Arthur D. Brandeis, is to be followed by dismissal of the prosecution of Clarence Risley, Mrs. Paul's son, and his boy companions indicted for an unspeakable crime on the strength of the evidence brought out in the Paul-Brandeis suit.

While the lawyers get free because of the indisposition of Mr. Brandeis to come back to Omaha to appear against them, the young degenerates are to get off by reason of a peculiar condition of the law making the offense a crime. As unearthed by the attorneys, it appears that the last legislature passed a new act defining this crime, and providing a more severe penalty, but in so doing repealed the former statute without adding any saving clause. The lawyers, therefore, agree that the offenses for which the indictments were brought, because committed under the old law, although criminal at the time, cannot be punished now under the new law.

It is reported also that in connection with the arrangement for the dismissal of these cases Mrs. Paul and her son will go to California and stay there as soon as the time for appeal from the verdict of the jury in the Paul-Brandeis suit expires.

Sioux City Club O. K. With Union Labor

J. P. Johnson of the Omaha Carpenters' union has received a letter from Charles Honey, business agent of the Sioux City union, with the information that the Sioux City base ball club has been removed from the unfair list of the Sioux City chapter. The Sioux City club was excluded when it was learned that the new grandstand was being constructed by nonunion labor and word was passed along the circuit for all union men to remain absent from games with Sioux City.

PROPRIETORS OF MOVIES INVOKE AID OF THE COURTS

A dispute between proprietors of the Princess and Palm moving picture shows, involving the merits of a film entitled "Jack Kennedy's Adventures," was carried to district court when Joseph Kohberg sued Sam Goldberg for $10,000 damages.

Kohberg, proprietor of the Palm show alleges that Goldberg induced two police officers to stop the sale of tickets at the show on the ground that "Jack Kenney's Adventures" was an improper film and that he made slanderous statements to the audience in the Palm theater. The plaintiff asserts that the "Adventures" teach a moral lesson and show that punishment of sin is inevitable.

New Hastings Depot is Opened With Big Banquet and Dance

The Union Pacific's new $40,000 passenger station at Hastings was formally opened to the public Friday night, the function being made something of a social event in which several hundred people of the city participated.

Many Union Pacific officials from Omaha were present also at a banquet at the new Clarke hotel, erected at a cost of $175,000. They were the guests of the Hastings Commercial club and the Hastings division of the Travelers' Protective association.

Members of the Omaha party were met at the station by a committee from the Commercial club and the Travelers' Protective association and escorted to the Clarke hotel, where a reception was held. Then followed an automobile ride about the city and at 7 o'clock the visitors and 100 of the Hastings business men sat down to the banquet, the band playing "Onward, Christian Soldiers" as they entered the dining room. Following the dinner the address of welcome in behalf of the city was delivered by J. N. Clarke and the address of welcome in behalf of the traveling men by Secretary Alexander J. A. Munroe responded in behalf of the Union Pacific and he was followed by Charles Ware and Gerrit Post.

Upon the conclusion of the dinner there was an adjournment to the new passenger station, where a ball was in progress and which continued until midnight.

The Union Pacific officials speak in the highest terms of the reception accorded them by the citizens of Hastings and add that the affair was perfectly planned and the plans carried out in every detail.

All Boosting for Home Trade Dinner

All the heads of the various lines of business in Omaha are united in their efforts to make the home trade extension dinner May 5 at the Commercial club a big event, a model in harmony and good fellowship. The trade extension and wholesale trade committees of the Commercial club, the Omaha Manufacturers' association, the Associated Retailers of Omaha, the Retail Franklin Grocers' association and the Ben Franklin club are sending out circulars boosting for this event.

RELATIVES THINK THAT LANDROCK IS ON THE M'CALL

The family of Jacob Landrock, 2012 Poppleton avenue, is concerned as to whether their son, C. A. Landrock, 2012 Poppleton avenue, is on the torpedo boat McCall, now in Mexican waters. Mr. Landrock says the family has not heard from him for two months, and that the last heard of him he was assigned to the McCall. He has been in the service some six years.

BRIDGE CARPENTER DIES WHEN HE FALLS IN PLATTE

E. E. Ziesel, aged 28 years, was drowned when a part of a bridge that he was working on at Ashton across the Platte river broke down, pinning him down in the water. Ziesel was a bridge carpenter and came to Omaha Thursday to enlist in the National Guards for service in Mexico. He then returned to his work to await a call to arms should the troops be sent to the front.

ARMY DESERTER RETURNS TO RE-ON HAND IF NEEDED

Bruce Buzbee, 26 years old, deserter from the United States army at Fort Meade, S. D., returned to the ranks by applying at the local recruiting station. He will consequently get off with a commendation. Buzbee explained that he did not wish to violate his oath at a time when he might be needed by his country.

OMAHA SUPPLIES TO FRONT

Ten Cars Loaded with Army Provisions Sent to Texas.

STRITZINGER KEPT QUITE BUSY

is on the Jump Filling Telegraphic Orders for Field Equipments—Beef Shipments from the Packing Houses.

In compliance with telegraphic orders, ten cars were loaded with supplies and special corps equipment from the United States army quartermaster's depot here Friday night, and sent to San Antonio and Galveston.

The supplies for the signal corps include a field company equipment and a telegraph equipment, which were sent to San Antonio, to be used with the expedition which may start from that point in the event that war is declared with Mexico. The balance of the ten cars loaded shipped by Captain Stritzinger included rations and supplies, the major portion of which was corned beef for use in a campaign, should the troops enter Mexico.

Omaha Beef to Front.

Omaha's beef will comprise part of the supplies for the army and navy in Mexico. Orders for canned meat have been placed regularly at New York by government commissary agents, and part of these orders have been filled by Omaha packing houses. The meats were sent by rail to New York, from which port supply boats have carried it to the mobilized troops in Texas since they were sent there. Manager Robert Howe of Armour at South Omaha says that so far no increased orders have been received for government provisions.

Road to Gibson to Be Completed at Once

Street Commissioner J. J. Ryder has directed his assistant, Dean Noyes, to throw a force of men into the field between Fourth and Bancroft streets and Gibson at the earliest date. Work on the road began today. The street will be widened at city expense until it is connected with the widened road from Gibson.

OLD GLORY TO FLY FROM ALL THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The American flag will henceforth fly from all public school buildings in Omaha, by order of Superintendent E. U. Graff. The flag is usually raised over school buildings only on holidays or special occasions. The Mexican situation has inspired the school authorities to order Old Glory unfurled above the schools until the war is over. A few of the schools have no flags, but His Turn. Mr. McCandless' untoward behavior during the evening out was serving as the topic of the customary curtain-lecture.

"I trust I have made myself plain," Kelly continued his better half, in the early stages of her preparations for retiring.

Her crushed, down-trodden victim, catching a hazy eye in her direction, gave vent to a hollow chuckle.

"Yes, my dear," he assented; "I cannot but acknowledge that you have."

And during the period of scornful silence which ensued, McCandless dropped off to peaceful slumber.—Judge.

You Still Have Time to Enroll in Our Free Dressmaking School Which Opens Tomorrow

We have now enrolled nearly five hundred women in our free school of dressmaking, and will continue to receive pupils up until the latest possible moment, so you still have time to take advantage of this unusual opportunity.

Any Woman Can Learn. You can easily learn to make your own clothes and those of your children if you attend the special dressmaking school which opens here next Monday under the personal supervision of Mme. Coates of New York and Paris.

Practical and Complete. Special attention given to specific problems, such as making buttonholes, darning, patching, seamings, hemming, facing, tucking, setting in lace, etc., while the principles of the correct handling of different portions of garments, such as plackets, belts, yokes, collars, sleeves, cuffs, pockets, etc., are dealt with as individual subjects.

Suited to Your Needs. You may bring your individual problem and Mme. Coates will give you her personal attention and assist you in working it out, whether it be selection of suitable styles, lines, materials, colors, difficult fitting or hanging of any perplexing point on which you desire assistance.

50c Registration Fee. No system charts or "methods" to sell. You learn to use the paper patterns of today. The fee of 50c is for registration only; there is no charge for the instruction and valuable personal assistance of Madame Coates, which is assured every pupil.

We strongly urge you to investigate this, and, if interested, to enroll at once. The work of the school begins tomorrow at 2 o'clock, and applications for enrollment will be received at that time. We urge you to start the work at the beginning so as to receive full benefit from it.
