Cristobel Pankhurst Opens "Patriotic Campaign" and Says German Victory Blow to Women.

"FURIES" WAVE ALLIES' FLAGS
Suffragette Chief Commends Men Volunteering in the Ranks and Their Officers, Pledging Support.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Miss Cristobel Pankhurst, the militant suffragette, who recently was one of the most severe critics of English law and tradition, made a dramatic reappearance before a great audience tonight in support of the government, in opening what she called a "patriotic campaign."

"The defeat of our country and the victory of Germany," she declared, "would be a calamity from the women's point of view."

Scores of fashionably dressed women, recently freed from jail under the government's amnesty measure, cheered their leader and waved the flags of the allies. Miss Pankhurst said that the English women were ready to fight in the line, if needed, or were willing to attend to the economic prosperity of the country if they could better serve that way.

"I agree with the prime minister thoroughly at this time, and I hope he will never disagree with me," Miss Pankhurst said. The remark provoked prolonged laughter and applause.

Miss Pankhurst commended the men who have volunteered in the ranks and their officers, and pledged them the undivided support of the militant women.

All suffrage organizations are now engaged in recruiting and war relief work. The receipts from Miss Pankhurst's lecture were donated to the relief fund.
