Pacific Points Are Exporting Large Quantities of Wheat and Flour.

CORN FUTURES ARE QUITE DULL Show Sluggishness at Beginning of Market, but Are Strengthened by Wheat and Prices Are Unchanged.

OMAHA, Sept. 21, 1914. Reports reached the trade here yester-ay that Pacific coast points have been xporting wheat on an enormous scale in he last few days, and this news was a the last few days, and this news was a big factor in railying the market. The Seattle correspondent of one of the big local houses wired that he had it on good authority that 5,00,000 bu, of wheat had been sold for export from Portland in the last week, and as much more from Tacoma and Seattle. This report followed up early claims of liberal flour and wheat loading at the Pacific coast for Great Britain, and it is evident that foreigners are buying to an advantage in that terri-
