Sexton Urging All Base Ball Men to Attend Convention

President Michael Sexton of the National Association of Professional Base Ball Leagues is sending letters to all the members of the association urging them to be present at the convention of the association at Omaha November 10 to 12. In reply to some correspondence from the Omaha bureau of publicity he writes that he is urging all individual members this year to attend the convention.

He further states that he is calling a meeting of the national board of arbitration to convene in the Paxton hotel November 2, which is the day before the convention meets. This board of arbitration acts as a court of appeal in base ball circles in the settlement of disputes that arise between leagues, between teams and between managers and players in the matter of contracts.

A special train on the Rock Island has been arranged for by President Sexton to leave Chicago for Omaha the evening of Sunday, November 8, at 8 o'clock. It is due to get into Omaha about 9 o'clock the morning of November 9.

There are thirty-seven leagues in good standing at the present time, all of which are to be represented by delegations at the convention in Omaha.

to affirm or deny the report that Perritt and Wingo have signed with our club for next season," said W. T. McCullough, secretary of the Pittsburgh Federal league club today.

"But I do know that Wingo has signed a Federal league contract. I can also say that thirty-five other American and National league players have signed Federal league contracts, and eight of those contracts are with the Pittsburgh club. We expect to announce their names next week."

Haskell Indians Working Out for Creighton Game

LAWRENCE, Kan., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—"On to Omaha" is the slogan of the Haskell Indians. Last year the "Redskins" made three trips into the north, defeating Creighton, Morningside, and giving the Missouri Valley conference champions the game of their lives at Lincoln. This year only one game, that with Creighton, is scheduled, and the Braves are anxious to make good on this invasion.

Speaking of the Creighton contest today, Captain Stover, the big Indian center, said: "I look upon the Creighton game as one of the hardest of the season, and will be satisfied to win by a small score. The hard battle the Omaha boys put up against us last year convinces me that we will have to do our level best to win."

The Indian boys love foot ball and play the game for all they are worth. J. L. Smoot, head of the industrial work of the big government school, says that if the boys worked as hard at their trades as they do on the athletic field that they would accomplish wonders. Only an hour and a half a day is permitted for athletic games. This is only about half the time that many of the colleges and universities spend on the gridiron. Accordingly, the coaches keep them pretty busy while they are there. This week the work will be harder than ever in preparation for the Creighton game, and several chalk talks will supplement the work on the gridiron.
