

CHANCE FOR STEAMBOATS

Omaha May Secure a Line if Tonage is Guaranteed.

NEW BOATS FOR THE SERVICE

Are to Run from New Orleans to Kansas City and May Be Extended to Carry Omaha Freight.

If Omaha can guarantee the necessary tonnage to make a steam barge line, the Mississippi River Transportation company, just being organized to operate boats from New Orleans to St. Paul and Chicago, will send a barge to Omaha on the Missouri river. The trade extension committee of the Democratic club has been actively looking into the matter of possibly reviving Missouri river steamboat transportation. They have recently had some correspondence with J. H. Bernard, inventor of the self-propelling steel river barge, which has already made some successful trips to St. Paul and Chicago. When it was seen that the trips were successful, a company was organized, to be known as the Mississippi River Transportation company.

This company, according to information received by the local committee from the New Orleans Chamber of Commerce and the patentee of the boat, contemplates the construction of six barges of 3,500 tons each, to be operated on the Mississippi. It will also manufacture ten other steel barges of 1,500 tons capacity of a similar type. The large type is to make twelve miles an hour up stream and the smaller one ten miles an hour. The smaller type is to operate between Chicago, St. Paul, St. Louis and Kansas City. The larger barges are to ply between St. Paul and New Orleans.

Along with this information came information that the line could be extended to Omaha if Omaha could guarantee the tonnage.

MORRIS KATLEMAN DIES SUDDENLY IN CHICAGO

Morris Katleman, formerly of Omaha, but later residing in St. Louis, died Wednesday evening from an acute attack of appendicitis. The body will be brought to Omaha for burial. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the residence of his brother, A. G. Katleman, 1113 North Nineteenth street, with interment at Golden Hill cemetery.

Mr. Katleman resided in Omaha for about twenty-five years prior to his removal to St. Louis three years ago. While in Omaha he was engaged in the grocery business on South Sixteenth street for a number of years. He is survived by his wife, Fannie Katleman, and one daughter, Mrs. M. J. Novoson of St. Louis; also by his brothers, Jacob, Aaron G. of Omaha and Abe of Los Angeles, Cal., and the following sisters, all of Omaha: Mrs. D. D. Blumenthal, Mrs. M. Zalkowich, Mrs. B. M. Brown, Mrs. Zonia Katleman and his mother, Mrs. R. Katleman, also of Omaha. Mr. Katleman was a member of a number of local organizations, which will have charge of the funeral.

Amsterry, Broken Bow, second vice president; Rev. J. G. Botala, Fremont, recording secretary; Rev. Fred Henry, Lincoln, corresponding secretary; W. E. Rhodes, Omaha, treasurer; Rev. H. R. Coon, Grand Island, historian.

Elmore, a missionary to India, gave the chief address at the Calvary Baptist church Wednesday evening. Fred Henry was chosen superintendent of mission work and Wilson Mills of Omaha secretary of unified missions.

MURRAY HURTS HIS HAND WHEN HE HITS A MASHER

Paul Murray, janitor of the federal building and ex-puglist, is pursuing a sore right mitt as the result of his plugging the same in the countenance of a North Twenty-fourth street masher.

Paul was returning home from work when a woman pedestrian asked him to call an officer and take care of two young blondes who were annoying her. Paul took the job into himself and accented the would-be-sports. One of the lads swung at Paul's paw with the result that he adorned the middle of the street car tracks when Murray ducked and countered. The other masher was last seen passing at top speed through Florence and is probably still on his way.

SUTEN BEING TRIED FOR DEATH OF JOE OPERITTA

John Suten is being tried in criminal court on the charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Joseph Operitta in South Omaha at Twenty-sixth and P streets, South Omaha, about a month ago. Both men were packing house laborers and Austrians by birth. An interpreter is necessary to secure the testimony of witnesses. Suten's defense is that he merely went to the place where several men were quarreling, and protested that the noise was preventing him from sleeping in his room upstairs. When Operitta was fatally stabbed, Suten says, the guilty party escaped and he was arrested because he was present.

A. L. Mohler, president of the Union Pacific, has at last contracted the automobile disease and has become the possessor of a big new touring car, having just purchased it. President Mohler will not use his automobile in making trips out along the Union Pacific system, but will ride in it about the city and when he goes out on short jaunts. He proposes to learn the machine so that he can drive it.

What Would You Do?
There are many times when one man questions another's actions and motives. How act differently under different circumstances. The question is, what would you do right now if you had a severe cold? Could you do better than to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy? It is highly recommended by people who have used it for years and know its value. Mrs. O. E. Sargent, Peru, Ind., says, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is worth its weight in gold and I take pleasure in recommending it." For sale by all dealers—Advertisement.

Violators of the Federal Shooting Laws Are Caught

Emmet C. Higgins, government inspector of the migratory bird law, and Harry Barmeter, federal inspector from Dubuque, Ia., sneaked out to Carter lake Wednesday night and procured the names of fifteen hunters who were violating the federal regulation prohibiting shooting between sunset and sunrise. The inspectors made the raid between 7 and 8 o'clock and obtained sufficient evidence to bring the culprits before the United States commissioner for hearing.

Alvin Malone and George Cliscara were found in Iowa territory and were fined $50 and costs under the state law for shooting from boats. An Omaha police officer was also among those nipped in the raid on Iowa land.

Mr. Higgins and his colleague would have captured probably half a hundred violators of the law if their launch had not unexpectedly broken down. The momentary accident gave the swarm of shooters ample time to escape. Quite a number of prominent Omahans were caught by the inspectors and Mr. Higgins intend that several more be captured if they persist in overlooking the laws and regulations of Uncle Sam.

The penalty for shooting between sunset and sunrise is a fine of $100, ninety days imprisonment, or both.

A. Pixley, auditor of the Nebraska Telephone company, will also make the trip to Richmond.

Lininger Auto Co. Succeeds McIntyre

J. A. McIntyre of the McIntyre Auto company has disposed of his interests in the firm to the Lininger Implement company and henceforth the concern will be known as the Lininger Auto company. Mr. McIntyre will retire from the automobile business, temporarily at least, and take up his residence on his farm in Mills county, Iowa. Mr. McIntyre has handled Oakland machines in Omaha for six years. He first went into the motor car game when two cylinder cars were on the market. The Lininger Auto company will sell Oaklands, as did the McIntyre firm.

STATE TEACHERS' ASS'N HAS NO REGULAR COLORS

During the last few days Miss Belle Ryan, assistant superintendent of the public schools, has been besieged with inquiries from Omaha merchants as to what the official colors of the Nebraska State Teachers' association may be. The merchants, who realize that the convention is one of the biggest for Omaha, are anxious to decorate their places of business in the colors of the association. But Miss Ryan has been forced to inform them that the association has no colors, and the enterprising mercantile men will be compelled to seek other means of expressing their welcome to the teachers.

PRISONER GAINS FREEDOM

Alonso Bellamy is Mistaken for Another and Makes His Escape.

WILLIAMS SAYS HE WAS ASLEEP

When Jailor Calls for Williams to Be Released Other Man Takes His Place and is Escorted to the Door.

Alonso Bellamy, prisoner at the county jail, has made good his escape from that institution.

When Jailor Cahill went to the cell containing colored prisoners Wednesday morning and called out Jack Williams to don his street clothes and prepare to be released after serving his time, Alonso Bellamy took his place without the jailer becoming suspicious. The latter had been bound over to the district court from Plattsmouth and was awaiting trial on the charge of breaking and entering.

After putting on Williams street clothes Bellamy was escorted to the jail door and freed by Cahill, who did not discover the prisoner's trick until Williams "woke up" later from what he ascertained was a genuine sleep, and clamored for his own freedom. Williams is still being held, however, as it is suspected that he was "wise" to the scheme to let Bellamy escape.

No trace has been found of the Plattsmouth prisoner, who is supposed to have left the city by the first train. He is said to have been a porter and is described as follows: Very black skin, age 33, height five feet seven inches, weight 140 pounds.
