Morehead Appears Before Meeting of Irish Good Fellows. Politicians glare, headed by Governor John H. Morehead, scoffed at rubber elbows and partook of refreshments at the meeting of the Irish Goodfellowship society at Arlington hall last night. The governor did not indulge in any issues of the campaign, but dwelt upon the merits of Omaha—which he claimed he was just beginning to get thoroughly acquainted with—and the Irish nationality.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Burglar Brings Back Keepsake to Richard Auer.

SUFFRAGISTS ARE INSTRUCTED. Committee Workers for Equal Franchise Are Addressed by Miss Janet Thomson on Needs of the Moment.

Richard Auer, Thirteenth street and Boulevard, employed as a switchman in A. H. & Company's yards, reported to the police that while at work someone had opened a window in his home and stolen several suits of clothes and a gold diamond-studded locket, which had been presented to him by his fellow employees.

Yesterday noon, upon returning home he found the locket wrapped in a piece of paper, upon which was the following message: "Please forgive me for stealing your things, but I was awfully hard up, and upon seeing your window open I could not resist the temptation of going in. I have learned that this locket was presented to you by your fellow workmen, and knowing from my own experience how much you must prize it, I am leaving it here for you. Think as kindly of me as you can as I am a broken down brother workman."

Auer could not discover how the individual had entered the house the second time, but was delighted again to come into possession of his cherished locket.

Women Get Suffrage Instructions. Twenty-five women congregated at a committee meeting of ward and precinct workers at the city hall yesterday morning and listened attentively to instructions given them in the work by Miss Janet Thomson, national field secretary of Chicago. The meeting, held under the auspices of the South Omaha Equal Franchise league, was presided over by Mrs. G. F. Copper. Following the meeting Mrs. G. F. Copper, Mrs. Harry Doory, Mrs. Caroline Bronson and Mrs. M. B. Munson journeyed by automobile to Swift's packing plant, where Mrs. M. B. Munson spoke during the noon hour.

At the same time Miss Janet Thomson addressed the women at the West Q Street Mission, who were giving a chicken dinner at McCrann's hall.

Following the noon addresses they once more met at the public library, and from there speakers among the number were sent to the Third district of the First ward, where they made a house-to-house canvass.

At night Miss Thomson spoke at the Besse theater. Tonight she will speak at the Columbian club festival and at the Orpheum. Saturday night a street meeting will be held at Twenty-fourth and M streets.

William Mullaly Dies. William Mullaly, for many years a foreman at the Cudahy Packing company cooper shops, died at his home, 708 North Thirty-third street, yesterday morning of heart failure. Mrs. Mullaly, hearing her taken the South Omaha High school by storm, is one of the latest developments at the institution. A big demonstration at the South Omaha-Nebraska City road ball game to be played at Rourke park, November 14, is planned by local student leaders. The students leading this movement are under the active direction of Prof. E. H. Johnson of the Commercial department.

Children's jersey ribbed vests and pants husband breathing hard in the early hours of the morning, awakened him, but upon his reassurance that nothing was wrong she left him for several hours when again becoming uneasy she attempted to arouse him, but failed. The family physician was summoned, but to no avail.

Mr. Mullaly was 63 years of age. He was born at St. Johns, Newfoundland, and came to this country when a young man. For more than twenty-six years he had been employed at the Cudahy plant, and also served as a member of the city council. His brother is mayor of St. Johns, Newfoundland, where the deceased is said to have been a candidate for consul. He is survived by his widow, two sons and four daughters. Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Bridget's church and the body placed in a receiving vault to await the arrival of a son from Cuba.

Henry Dross and Therese Beutenleher were united in marriage at St. Agnes' church by Rev. Father Ahearn. The wedding march was played by Mrs. John Hiphey and vocal solos were given by Miss Helen Redmond and Miss Mary Hallahan. The bride wore a gown of white satin with overtrains of Chantilly lace. Her veil was held in place by lilacs of the valley. The bride was attended by her sister, Edith, the groom by Martin Holbrook. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, the decorations being white and yellow roses. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dross will be at home after November 15 at the Thielke apartments.

It has developed that Fred Parks, who was found unconscious at Twenty-fourth and F streets last Friday evening, was not suffering from lead poisoning, but had been slugged while on his way to the Midland Glass and Paint company in Omaha.

It is said that the slugging was done near Fifteenth and Dodge streets, where after being knocked down, Parks said he was kicked in the stomach. Parks remembers this and a man saying before the affair, "Now I've got you." He has no idea how he reached Twenty-fourth and F streets, but believes he was taken there in an automobile. He is reported to be considerably better.

High School Debate Tomorrow. The annual debating troupe, in which the debaters to represent the South Omaha High school are chosen, will be held tomorrow evening at the high school auditorium at Twenty-third and J streets at 8 o'clock. Seven contestants will enter the troupe this year for places on the first and second debating teams. With the exception of one, all are novices.

Remnants of the gypsy camp at Thirtieth and Y streets disappeared yesterday, the grounds being clear for the first time in weeks. Citizens residing in the immediate neighborhood of the camp were greatly bothered by the gypsies and the police were called to the camp practically every day they were in the city.

Korbmaker's Car Destroyed. Chris Korbmaker's auto was greatly damaged last night as it stood on the corner at Twenty-fourth and N streets, in front of his office. Some individual took a knife and cut the cushions as well as detaching the outside of the car. The machine was damaged to the extent of $50. Korbmaker has given the police a description of a man, whom he suspects.

LIGHTED MATCH BURNS LETTERS IN MAIL BOX. About 10 o'clock Thursday evening, one-half hour after the last collection of mail, the janitor of the Brandeis theater building discovered smoke issuing from the mail box there. He called a post-office official and upon opening the box discovered the smoldering remains of several letters, one of which had contained a $20 bill. The charred end of a match testified as to how the fire had started.

Morehead Appears Before Meeting of Irish Good Fellows

Politicians glare, headed by Governor John H. Morehead, scoffed at rubber elbows and partook of refreshments at the meeting of the Irish Goodfellowship society at Arlington hall last night. The governor did not indulge in any issues of the campaign, but dwelt upon the merits of Omaha—which he claimed he was just beginning to get thoroughly acquainted with—and the Irish nationality.

"Whether elected or not," said the governor, "I am going to make it a point to visit Omaha more. An extensive canvass of the city and its population during this campaign has made me see that we have here in this state a city much greater than I ever thought it was before."

Some of the candidates who spoke were Fred Elbaesser, George A. Magney, William Quigley, R. J. Madden, John C. Barrett, Tom Murray, J. P. Brennan, Sam Spratlan, George E. Keyser, James Ford and T. R. Mullen, candidate for the school board. James H. Hanley passed the word from Congressman Lobeck and Attorney Arthur Mullen delivered an effusive eulogy of Sheriff McShane, who was present, but left before it came his turn to talk. Ed Walters presided.

While refreshments were being served in the early part of the evening, several of the members entertained with songs and Irish recitations. Governor Morehead last night addressed the students of Creighton on the various phases of political questions now up for consideration by voters of the state. All the heads of the school's departments were present as well as several aspirants for political positions.

Nebraska Odd Fellows Meet Here Next Year

The selection of Omaha as the meeting place for the 1915 Nebraska grand lodge of Odd Fellows adds another convention to this city's long list. Nels Lundgren, republican candidate for state representative, led the Omaha delegation in the contest for the next convention, which was not decided until the second ballot. He presented the invitations of the publicity bureau, Mayor Dahman and the city commissioners.
