GERMAN ATTACK ON BRIDGE REPULSED

French Official Report Says Movement Against Nieuport Results in Failure.

ADVANCE TOWARD BIXCHOOTE

Attempt of the Enemy to Take the Offensive in the Region East and Southeast of Ypres Is Checked.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—The French official communication issued this afternoon says that a German attack against the bridge at Nieuport resulted in failure, and that various offensive movements of the enemy around Ypres have been checked.

The text of the communication follows: "In Belgium a German attack against the head of the bridge at Nieuport resulted in failure and various efforts at offensive movements on the part of the enemy in the region to the east and to the southeast of Ypres have been checked."

"In the environs of Bixchoote, we have progressed one kilometer toward the east. Between the canal of La Bassée and Arras our troops have made minor progress."

"In the region of Lasigny and in the vicinity of the Aisne, as far as Berry Au Bac, the Germans have attacked, but without success."

"In the Argonne fighting has recommenced with greater spirit. The enemy advanced, but in vain, to recapture Fort de Paris and St. Hubert. Particularly in the vicinity of Verdun several partial offensive movements on the part of the enemy were checked by the fire of our artillery before the forward movement of the enemy's infantry could be undertaken."

"In the Woivre district and in Lorain, where bad weather prevails, there is nothing to report."

ROADS CAN SHIP STOCK TO CHICAGO

Illinois Board Lifts Embargo on Consignments Which Can Enter Yards at Midnight Sunday.

TEMPORIZING POLICY FOLLY

Head of Morris Concern Says Half-Way Measures Will Reduce Values Twenty-Five Per Cent.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—An order lifting the embargo on live stock shipments to Chicago was issued today by the State Board of Live Stock Commissioners. Railroads were notified they could accept consignments to be delivered in Chicago on Sunday at midnight when the Union Stock yards, under quarantine because of the foot and mouth disease, will be reopened. All shippers must file with the transportation company an affidavit that the stock shipped is not affected with and has not been exposed to the malady.

The new instructions of the bureau of animal industry that only the affected animals of a herd should be killed continues to draw protests from persons prominent in nearly every branch of the industry.

Temporizing Fatal.

Thomas E. Wilson, president of Morris & Co., said that temporizing with the disease would "immediately reduce the values of live stock in the United States by 25 per cent." F. A. White, director of Armour & Co., asserted he did not believe the American people wanted to run the risk of the infection of their meat supply.

The announcement of the Board of Animal Industry that, owing to a shortage of funds, a maximum of $500 would be paid to farmers whose infected stock was killed resulted in a plan by Dr. S. E. Bennett, chief of the federal inspectors at the yards, by which the farmers may some day receive a greater amount. He ordered printed a large number of conditional promissory notes, which inspectors will issue to farmers whose animals are condemned. They read:

Half of Valuation.

"I hereby agree to accept as compensation in full from the United States government in the event that congress appropriates funds out of which payments can be made, $.... which is 50 per cent of the valuation of all animals destroyed on account of the existence of foot and mouth disease."

Dr. Simon Flexner, bacteriologist of the Rockefeller Foundation, who will conduct a scientific search for the foot and mouth disease germ, left tonight for New York with fourteen sealed steel tubes containing virus and blood of diseased cattle in "various stages" of development. Dr. Flexner said he would infect a pig in his laboratory until he found some smaller animal upon which he could experiment.

Exhibitors of prize cattle at the dairy show have begun a movement to remove the 800 animals that are quarantined in a barn in the yards to a farm near the city. It is feared there will be a heavy loss in the herd from other diseases if it is kept in close quarters much longer.

Subject of Conference.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Shortage of available funds for the campaign against the widespread live stock foot and mouth disease epidemic was the subject of long conferences today between Secretary Houston and other officials of the Department of Agriculture. Later it was said a statement on the subject would be issued tomorrow.

Officials fear that unless some means can be devised to make more money available immediately the department will be seriously hampered in its work of eradicating the disease. The stage already has been reached where the department will have to husband what funds it now has on hand.

Cattle were issued today that not more than $50 worth of cattle in a herd be slaughtered without special authorization from the department unless the owner of the herd agreed that payment should be contingent upon congress appropriating the money.

The question has been raised as to whether available funds appropriated for other purposes may be diverted to fight the foot and mouth disease. The legal phases of this question were gone into carefully today, but no decision was announced.

The quarantine against hay was modified by the department today so as to provide that hay cut before August 1st may be shipped in interstate commerce without disinfection, if baled prior to November 1. The previous regulations provided that hay could be shipped without disinfection, provided it was cut and baled prior to August 1. The National Hay association had urged that the quarantine be modified because of a threatened shortage of hay.

Iowa Stays Closed.

Another case of foot and mouth disease was discovered yesterday in Clinton county, Iowa. This was the latest development of the quarantine situation yesterday, but as this is in the eastern part of the state little fear is felt by the local live stock interests here. The fear of the last few days has been a feeling of confidence that the worst is over, so far as the stockmen in this territory is concerned, and it is believed to be only a question of a few days until conditions in this territory will again be normal.

So far no cases of hoof and mouth disease have been discovered in Nebraska and none in western Iowa. However, there have been a couple of suspicious cases which were reported by local authorities—one Friday at Henderson, Ia., which looked like a sure case, but a thorough inspection made by Dr. Vermillion, inspector in charge for the bureau of animal industry at the yards, and J. S. Walters of the yards company showed all the animals on the farm to be absolutely free from any disease. Other cases have also been examined and no disease found. By tonight, at the latest, it is thought the inspection in Nebraska will be completed and in western Iowa by the first of next week.

The authorities at Washington are opposed to dividing the state of Iowa, and say the quarantine will not be lifted until they have had time to canvass the entire state and quarantine every county in which any trace of the disease has been found.

Secretary Striker of the South Omaha Live Stock Exchange, who has been in Washington several days looking after the interests of the western stockmen before the Interstate Commerce commission and the bureau of animal industry, left for home Friday night.

Dr. A. W. Miller has charge of the can-

taken aboard by men of the navy. After the steamer entered Belfast harbor one of the waiters on board was arrested, charged with being a spy.

Secrecy Urged Upon All.

The Olympic carried about 200 passengers. Nearly 100 of these were English reservists. All passengers other than British were denied passage from Belfast to Liverpool, and were compelled to go to Dublin, which is an open port, to take passage for England. Secrecy regarding the loss of the Audacious was enjoined upon the crew and passengers of the Olympic, who were urged to refrain from discussing the tragedy, pending a complete investigation. The crew of the Audacious was removed from the liner as soon as warships for the purpose were available.

"The conduct of the crew of the Olympic was magnificent," said one of the passengers. "A warship's crew could not have acted with greater courage and precision. Everything was in readiness for launching the boats as soon as the Olympic was within reach of the Audacious."

Many of the passengers expressed the belief that the sinking of the Audacious possibly saved the Olympic, which might otherwise have entered a mine field. Others held the view that a submarine torpedoed the warship, basing their opinion on the fact that it was wounded stern rather than forward, which would more likely be the case, if it had come in contact with submerged explosives.

Jevo. The Serbian headquarters are reported as having been moved hurriedly from Veliko to Mladenovatz. The Serbian losses are said to have been heavy. The number of prisoners of war interned in Austria is over 95,000.

"The Ukrainian delegates (from a portion of Russian-Poland embracing the old kingdom of Poland), who were sent to Sofia have now left Bulgaria. They are greatly satisfied with the understanding reached with the Bulgarian premier, M. Radolovoff, and the presidents of both chambers of the Bulgarian Parliament, providing for the separation of the Ukrainian district from Russia."

"Snow is reported in the Vosges mountains and in the Black forest and the Thuringian forest. In the last place it is twelve inches deep."

Britons Expect Turn of Tide Soon. LONDON, Nov. 14.—The slackening of Teutonic offensive in the west, as noted in yesterday's official reports from the allies' headquarters, is regarded here as due to the fact that Germany is obliged to maintain battle fronts as far apart as east Prussia and the North Sea.

Hungarian bodies of German troops have been alternately thrown across the intervening thousand miles to counter anything in the nature of a positive success gained at either end, and German's commanding superiority in numbers in the earlier stages of the war made progress of its forces easy and effective.

Military observers here, however, take the view that Russia on one side and the armies of three nations on the other side, now having had time in which to mobilize their forces more fully, the effectiveness of this process of shifting large bodies from one theater to the other is no longer so pronounced and that any shifting of the German line on either side must mean hereafter at least a temporary assumption of the defensive on the part of the Germans and the resumption of offensive by the allies.

For the moment Berlin, according to English opinion, appears to regard the Russian menace as of paramount importance.

The allies, however, are finding the German defensive as stubborn and difficult to penetrate as the Germans found the British and French lines during the deadly, but futile, efforts around Ypres. The intimation of the official reports, however, were considered here as of promising from the allies' point of view and there is a disposition to think that the turning points soon may be reached which will open a new phase of the long drawn battle.

Turkish Army Enters Russia.

The Turks, in an official communication given out at Constantinople under date of November 12, claim to have invaded the Russian territory of Caucasus. The Turkish official communication contained in an Amsterdam dispatch to Reuters' Telegram company says:

"Last night our troops, after a surprise attack, occupied all the Russian block-houses on the border of Trebizond, penetrated for three hours in Russian territory in the direction of Batum and occupied the Russian barracks of Kerdaghin."

"In the battle of Koprakeul on the 11th and 12th the Russians were defeated, losing 4,000 dead, 4,000 wounded and 500 prisoners. Our troops captured 16,000 rifles and much ammunition."

"The Russians retired in bad condition in the direction of Kutch. The steepness of the ground, together with fog and snow, handicapped our outflanking movement and consequently the Russians could not be completely cut off. The pursuit continues."

Find Bomb with Fuse Burning in Court Room in the Tombs

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A bomb, somewhat similar in construction to the one that wrecked the entrance to the Bronx county court house last Wednesday, was found today in the Tombs court room, just under the district attorney's offices, occupied by Governor-elect Whitman. The room was crowded. The bomb contained gunpowder, sticks and bullets. Its fuse was partly burned.

George L. O'Connor, a policeman, saw smoke from the burning fuse of the bomb fan to the spot, tore off the fuse and carried the bomb from the court room. The bomb contained explosive enough, it was estimated, to have wrecked the building.

Approximately fifty persons were in the room awaiting the arrival of Magistrate Campbell, to open court. It is believed his arrival was the signal to fire the fuse.

The bomb was wrapped up in a Jewish daily newspaper, tightly bound with wrapping cord.

Magistrate Campbell said that he had no idea who would seek to take his life, unless it were the writer or writers of threatening letters he had received during the recent trial of Industrial Workers of the World leaders at which he presided.

The police believed the bomb was placed by the same band of anarchists that fired the bombs Wednesday night at the Bronx county court house and last month exploded bombs in St. Patrick's cathedral and at the church of St. Alphonsus. The police recalled the Frank Tannenbaum and his Industrial Workers of the World entered St. Alphonsus church during their demonstrations last year, as a result of which Tannenbaum was sent to jail.

MANY ARE INJURED BY EXPLOSION OF CHEMICALS

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—One man was killed, twenty-seven persons injured and the two-story stone building of a chemical company in Brooklyn was demolished when four explosions in rapid succession occurred in the laboratory late yesterday. Four of the injured are in a serious condition. The cause of the explosion has not been determined.

ALLIES RESUME ADVANCE ALONG BELGIAN FRONT

jective, and dispatches reaching here from Petrograd convey the belief of the Russian authorities that even the resumption of the German offensive against Russian Poland will not cause a diversion.

The usual absolutely contradictory reports come from the scene of the Russo-Turkish front. The Russians report steady progress over the old battle grounds of 1913, while the Turks claim that the Russian armies have been pushed back across the border with heavy losses.

From the headquarters of the Teutonic armies come conservative statements of the activities of their armies. Vienna admits certain Russian successes, which means that the Slav power again is in possession of the great oil fields of Galicia, but another report from Austrian headquarters claim continued success against the Balkan enemy in the campaign to force the Servians behind their own borders.

Allies' Energetic Flanking. Berlin reports progress on the western front, accompanied by the repulse of every attempted advance by the allies. German military experts, commenting on the fact that the prisoners taken at Nieuport were French, claim this is proof that the Belgians have been so cut to pieces that it has become necessary for the French to take their places. They believe also that the taking of prisoners on the Ypres front indicates that the entry of the allies is flagging.

One of these military writers does not conceal the anxiety caused by the Russian advance, but sets down his belief that the German frontier has not yet been crossed.

The only naval news of importance is the announcement that the submarine menace off Dover has been relieved by the dragging of chains along the bottom of the channel. This procedure is believed to have destroyed certain German submarines, which for weeks have been successful in eluding the British guardships.

Grand Island and Hastings Attack Tariffs on Freight

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Freight rates on fish, fruits, peanuts, coffee, cheese, canned goods, wrapping paper, woodens, vegetables and provisions generally were attacked today before the interstate Commerce commission by the Grand Island Commercial club and the Hastings Chamber of Commerce of Nebraska. The complaint was directed against the New York Central lines and about 100 other railroads and systems operating in the east and middlewest.

Grand Island and Hastings are considerable shipping centers and it is alleged that the rates on the commodities are grossly excessive as compared with the rates from the same points of origin to Omaha, Neb. An equitable adjustment of the rates was requested.
