Great Effort Being Made to Defeat Consolidation Plan. POLITICIANS GET VERY BUSY. They Are Clamoring for Vote on Project in Hope of Delaying Measure People Already on Record For. Laboring men and poor people of South Omaha, together with many who insist upon consolidation, are expressing themselves freely as to the performances of the politicians who have undertaken to use the old sleight of hand tricks to beat consolidation when the legislature meets this time. It is conceded that the people of the city want consolidation and that they have wanted it for years. It is said that the people have gone so far as to cast a heavy vote for the proposition, but that it never showed up in the returns. Yet the politicians with eyes turned upon comfortable offices are anxious to beat the proposition when it comes up before the legislature. The cry is now to let the people vote on it. The Last Resort. It will be remembered that the people have voted on the measure before this. The politicians of the city insist that the consolidation carried at one of the elections at least. Now the people want the legislature to put the professionals out of the running by legislative action. It will cost less and will bring quicker results. The report is being circulated that the big corporations are against annexation and that everything should be done slowly. As a matter of fact it was the corporations that saved the town for the officeholders last time. Tag Days Planned. The tag day committee discussed plans for tag day Saturday for the benefit of the building fund of the South Omaha hospital. The following captains of the tag day squads were appointed: For the Omaha business district: Mrs. Allen H. Dudley, Mrs. Roy Dennis. For the South Omaha business section: Mrs. E. J. Hinchey, Mrs. J. J. Hinchey, Mrs. J. J. Hinchey, Mrs. J. J. Hinchey. Plans are proceeding rapidly for the grand ball to be given next Saturday night at the Exchange building and tickets are selling like hot cakes. George Green's full band has been secured to furnish the music, and a good time is assured all who attend. It is the first time in eight years that the South Omaha Hospital association has asked the public for any support, as the institution has been self-supporting, but there is not enough profit in the business to permit the building of larger quarters, such as are needed at the present time. No member of the board of directors receives one cent pay for his labors, and all the money realized from the ball and tag day will go into a special fund to be used for larger quarters. Odd Fellows will meet Monday night at their hall on Twenty-fourth and M streets. Cherokee club, unincorporated, 4425 screened, 4475, South 7, Howard Lum & Co. Plans were laid Thursday to begin work on the Year Book. The date was set, who will have charge of the "annual," also decided to issue a special Christmas number. A joint meeting was held by the Young Men's and Women's Christian associations in the afternoon in Redick hall, C. G. Houshahl, National Student Volunteer secretary, addressed the meeting. A party will be given by the juniors to the class that sold the largest number of tickets for the concert Saturday evening. Ruth Sundland returned to school after a visit at several weeks to Topeka, Kas.

MANY RECRUITS WOULD JOIN ARMY AVIATION CORPS. Since the European war has shown that aviation is an important feature of modern warfare, many applicants to join the army at the Omaha recruiting station have wanted to enlist in the flying corps. However, Sergeant Fred Hansen has been unable to promise any recruits that they would be assigned to that department, as it is a branch of the signal corps, which is now full. Furthermore, the would-be bird-men are told, a recruit cannot hope to get into the flying corps until he has had considerable experience in the signal corps, or has proved himself to be adept in aviation work.

Church Women Will Start Sale in Bee Rotunda This Week. Qua Kenze and his skillful Ak-Sar-Ben artificers have converted the rotunda of the Bee building into a beautiful bower for the annual Christmas fair of Omaha churches and institutions, which opens tomorrow and continues until December 15. This space is placed at the disposal of Omaha church women each year. Four organizations are accommodated at one time and hold their bazaars for two days. The Street Mission, Church of the Lowly, Westminister Presbyterian and Pearl Memorial churches will open the sale. St. Barnabas' Episcopal church and the Church of Life are the latest to announce their participation in the sale. An immense green Christmas bell is suspended over the fountain in the lobby of the building with festoons of Christmas greens suspended from it. Rosewood Hights pink blossoms are used profusely and tall evergreen trees are stationed at the foot of the staircase and at intervals throughout the foyer. The goods for sale will be exhibited on tables erected for the purpose. Home-made candies, preserves, fancy work, hand-painted china and numerous articles prepared by the women will be on sale. Thousands in Bank, Lansky Begs Bread. With $2,000 in a Des Moines (Ia.) building and loan association, drawing 6 per cent interest, Israel Lansky, 64 years old, ragged and hungry, appeared at police headquarters last night to beg for food and shelter. There were nearly three score other human derelicts there with the same request, and Lansky's was granted along with the others. It was his pitiful appearance that caused station attaches to question him, and it was then that his possession of the money came out. "I have never had it for years," he said. "I have never touched the interest or principal, and I suppose I never will. When I die, I'll leave it to my son. The feeling that I have all that money in food and drink and comfort to me, although many times I have starved rather than spend it. It's just a whim of mine. My son don't know where or what amount, but some day he'll have a neat little pile of money."

When Baby Has the Croup. When a mother is awakened from sound sleep to find her child, who has gone to bed apparently in the best of health, struggling for breath, she is naturally alarmed. Yet if she can keep her presence of mind and give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy every ten minutes until vomiting is produced, quick relief will follow and the child will drop to sleep to awaken in the morning as well as ever. This remedy has been in use for many years with uniform success. Obtainable everywhere. -Advertisement.
