Railroads Report Freight Traffic is Good to the East

Railroads having eastern connections that reach the Atlantic seaboard are no longer complaining on account of a lack of freight business. The officials freely assert that business moving east, so far as freight is concerned, is far in excess of last year.

This winter the grain is all moving east, whereas one year ago the trend was toward the Gulf of Mexico, export stuff being sent from the ports there. This winter there is little grain moving south.

To the east the grain shipments during the last week have been the heaviest that have ever been known during a like period. It is estimated that from Omaha alone the grain going out for export has amounted to more than 1,000,000 bushels per week since early in November.

CREW OF OILSHIP BURNED TO DEATH

Steamship Vedra, with Cargo of Gasoline, Driven Ashore by Gale Near Barrow, England.

THIRTY-FOUR MEN ARE DEAD Gasoline Takes Fire Soon After Vessel Struck and Only Two Men on Board Escape—These Are Badly Burned.

BARROW, Dec. 8.—(Via London.)—The British steamer Vedra, from Port Arthur, Tex., with a cargo of gasoline, went ashore near here this morning in a heavy gale. The cargo ignited, and of the crew of thirty-six men on board the Vedra only two were saved, and they were severely burned.

The conflagration was caused by the gasoline escaping and flowing into the engine room, where it became ignited. The surface of the sea was covered with burning oil and the escape of the men was cut off. Two lifeboats reached the scene, but the flaming oil on the surface of the water made it impossible for them to approach. Several members of the crew jumped overboard, but they either were drowned or burned to death. Only two men out of the ship's company managed to escape alive. They were picked up by the lifeboat and are now in a hospital. The Vedra is a complete loss.

The steamer Vedra left Port Arthur for London November 13 and passed Newfoundland on the 21st. It was reported yesterday as passing Tasker, in the Irish Sea, which would indicate that it had changed its destination and was bound for some port on the west coast of England.

The Vedra was under the command of Captain Erewaster. It was built in 1902 at Sunderland, England, was of 407 tons and belonged to the Associated Oil Carriers company of London.
