

OMAHA-MADE GOODS ARE MORE POPULAR

Manufacturers of Omaha Enjoy Dinner and Cabaret Features to Exclusion of Speeches.

CARRY MANY SAMPLES AWAY

Three hundred merry-makers, Omaha manufacturers and their wives carried away about $500 worth of Omaha-made goods in free gifts and samples from the fifth annual made-in-Omaha sample dinner at the Commercial club rooms last night. It was a jolly occasion.

Right off the reel the guests found the tables loaded with everything from dry martini to fancy pressed bricks, from mineral water to butter-milk, and so on.

Then came the waiters with a series of courses of the choicest delicacies. Everything served was made in Omaha.

The dinner began at 7 o'clock and by 8:30 o'clock the distribution of bags of samples and the awarding of prizes began. The Bemis Bag company furnished sacks for everyone. These were carefully filled by the waiters with dozens of samples of Omaha-made goods from the large collection furnished by various companies of Omaha.

The bags contained everything from large boxes of crackers to lead pencils, from cartons of butterine to packages of macaroni. In all, this aggregation of good things brought the sack to a weight of some twenty-five pounds, and many of the housewives who were glad to get one of the bags, were equally glad to let their husbands assume the burden of carrying them home.

The prizes awarded were gifts presented by the manufacturers.

Cabaret performances were given in considerable number and class variety. F. S. Knapp, president of the Omaha Manufacturers' association, made a short address and introduced President George Harries of the Omaha Electric Light and Power company. General Harries tried to talk rates, but the guests were in a cabaret mood and wouldn't listen. Then President Knapp apologized to him "for the children."

"Use one word for the children," cried General Harries as he got to his feet. "Tomorrow will be my nineteenth birthday. I sympathize with the children thoroughly," and he swept his cigar hand over the audience.

MINERS' CHIEFTAIN PLAYS CHARITY OF THE ROCKEFELLERS

seen us, who care nothing for us and who will not or cannot hear the cry of our despair.

Another Cause of Unrest.

"There is another cause of industrial discontent and this, too, flows from a Rockefeller source. This is the attempt that is being made to substitute philanthropy for justice. There is not one of these foundations, now spreading their millions over the world, in showy generosity, that does not draw those millions from some form of industrial injustice. It is not their money that those lords of commercial virtue are spending, but the withheld wages of the American working class."

Mr. Lawson continued:

"Mr. Rockefeller, senior, is quoted as saying that God must be brought to New York. In Colorado there is a suffering multitude that asks only for a little of the spirit of the Christ who died for human brotherhood."

Where They Lie.

"The causes of industrial unrest are not to be removed by promises of endless investigation or by sudden willingness to hold conferences. They lie in the treatment of free men as chattels to be disposed of by deed and will; in absentee landlordism; in the theft of natural resources; or, indifference to the necessities and aspirations of those who toil in the dark for the benefit of those in the light."

"Nor will Mr. Rockefeller's proposal for the election of men in coal camps meet the needs of collective bargaining. This is in truth the shadow and not the substance, for men so elected, unless backed by an organization, wider even than state lines, will be utterly helpless in the hands of those who have annulled past grievances."

"Nothing has been more clearly shown by your investigation than that workers are unable to protect themselves as individuals, but can only gain this protection through organization in local, state, national and international forms."

Agrees to Principles.

"In the ordinary at least, Mr. Rockefeller agrees to the principle of unionism. All that remains is to give this the ordinary purpose and effect, something that cannot be done by simple expressions of good will or a suddenly expressed desire for meeting."

"The United Mine Workers of America is the one organization that represents labor in this great industry. It has been in existence for twenty-five years. It has a present membership of more than 40,000 and enjoys contractual relations with employers in nineteen states. It has kept these contracts inviolate. "With these facts in mind, I insist that Mr. Rockefeller cannot give effect to this new point of view except with the co-operation of the United Mine Workers of America. By official conference with the executive of this organization action should be taken to guarantee the enforcement of the mining and labor laws long violated in Colorado and the establishment of the principle in practice, of collective bargaining."

Desire for Peace.

"Press reports give great publicity to meetings that alleged to have arranged between Mr. Rockefeller and the United Mine Workers officials. Let me say that our one great desire is for lasting industrial peace. We rejoice that after all these years Mr. Rockefeller is at last disposed to consider and confer with the workers his company officials have despised, ignored and endeavored to crush."

"We welcome any and every conference, but these meetings should be official and purposeful, not merely social visits, designed to give the utterly false impression that industrial war has had no more vital cause than a failure on Mr. Rockefeller's part to shake hands. So far as possible the remedies must equal and be as real as our great wrongs."

'Hoch!' Cry Germans With Doffed Hats as Bluecher Goes Down

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The Daily Telegraph prints a story of the last moments of the German armored cruiser Bluecher, sunk in last Sunday's engagement in the North Sea.

The last scene on the Bluecher proved the heroism of the German sailors who were lined up at its rail, aware that the ship was doomed. The men doffed their hats and joined in a chorus of "hochs" as the ship began to sink.

Warnings about "jump" went up from the decks of a British craft and the sea quickly was dotted with life-belted men. The joy of the officers at being rescued found expression in gifts of rings, watches and money to the rescuers. The British sailors wanted to refuse these, but the Germans pressed the gifts on them, saying, "You have saved our lives. Take these as little mementoes." The German sailors made persistent requests of their British foes for cigars.

Kaiser Honors Man Writing "To the Day"

BERLIN, Jan. 28.—(By Wireless to Sayville.)—Vienna dispatches say that Austrian military critics at the front have observed a general weakening of the Russian offensive before "the unmistakable strategic advances" of the Austrian forces.

Heavy fighting continues in east Prussia. Reports received here state that the Russians have been unable to make headway there and that they are suffering heavy losses.

Emperor William conferred a number of decorations on his birthday, among them the Red Eagle of the Fourth Class on Gerhard Hauptmann, the dramatist, and Ernest Lassaut, author of the famous song, "To the Day," expressing hatred of England.

"PARSON" WEDGE'S BEAUTY LANDS ADMIRER IN JAIL

The fatal beauty of Rev. "Kid" F. W. Wedge, whose nom de fight is "Fighting Parson," almost landed him in jail yesterday and it did land a woman who said her name was Mrs. Frank O'Neil, behind the bars.

The Reverend "Kid," who has a fight on tonight at the Armory, went to the River Grand bath house to reduce his avoirdupois, where the woman followed him until attendants and sheeted patrons frantically called the police.

Officer Chapman took her to jail, and would have taken the fighter, too, only for his earnest plea for mercy.

"She's stuck on me, and she followed me clear down stairs," he said.

Officer Chapman, who also possesses the fatal quality, sympathized with Wedge and let him go.

Creighton Law Freshies Find Goat

Who has got the Creighton law fresher's goat? "The Yeiser," known to college fame as the newly acquired mascot of the law lads, has left for parts unknown.

"Bully," which legal celebrity was captured Wednesday by John C. Yeiser and taken by him to a class meeting of the first year men, is a live goat, and prior to its annexation by the freshmen was running at large along Eighteenth street. Now it is running once more at large, but where only the goat knows.

The original Mr. Yeiser tied the goat Mr. Yeiser to an elevator girder in the basement of the school late Wednesday and that was the last seen of the critter. The Eighteenth street youths say they will lay aside Kent and Hacktens for an hour or two today and ferry forth on the trail of their animal friend.

Fire Underwriters Meet at Omaha Club

Fifty representatives of fire insurance companies having offices here gathered at a goodfellowship banquet held at the Omaha club last night. John Howard was toastmaster, and it was he who says to it that the insurance men did nothing but tell laugh-provoking yarns and make away with the excellent repast set before them.

Washington Affairs

The official board which will represent the Philippine islands at the San Francisco exposition, headed by Dr. Leon Guerrero, called on President Wilson and Secretary Garrison and invited them to visit the Philippine pavilion at the exposition.

President Wilson issued an executive order directing that the work of the Alaskan Engineering commission on surveys of the proposed government railroad in Alaska be performed under the control of the interior department. The bill providing for the railroad authorized the president to construct it.

J. Franklin Fort, former governor of New Jersey, has accepted the chairmanship of a commission which is to be sent by the administration to Haiti to attempt to settle factional differences which have caused almost continuous fighting for several months. Mr. Fort headed a similar commission which went to the Dominican republic, watched elections and restored harmony.

Culls From the Wire

The Colorado public utilities commission will investigate, with a view to adjustment of the passenger fares of all railroads in Colorado.

The first "jitney" bus in the streets and announcement was made that several lines of motor buses, to compete with the electric cars, would be inaugurated next week.

Ralph W. Schiringer, owner of the Peckskill, N. Y., Evening News, undergoing treatment at an Easton, Pa., sanitarium for a nervous breakdown jumped from the Delaware river bridge while walking with a nurse, and was killed.

Orders were issued by the H. C. Frick Coke company at Connelleville, Pa., to immediately fire 1,000 coke ovens that have been idle a year. About 1,000 men will be given employment five days a week in twenty plants scattered throughout the region.

Prof. W. F. Allen of the University of Minnesota was released by the Minneapolis police after the Hennepin county grand jury had absolved him of all blame in the death of Earl Nyrall, who was shot and killed in an alleged attempt to enter the Allen home.

Three million acres of desert land have been made to bloom and produce food crops since the government instituted its reclamation department in 1902. C. J. Blinnard, statistician of the reclamation and forest conservation service told the Southwestern Lumber Dealers' association in convention at Kansas City.

Extreme cold slowed up the work of cleaning out the Chicago stock yards and the hope was shattered that the disinfecting of the plant would be complete by Monday to permit the lifting of an embargo against the shipment of cattle. Ice has formed about the most of the open pens and must be removed before the fumigating can be undertaken.

Ward S. Snyder, said to be a well known oil man of Pittsburgh, Pa., was found in a comatose state from poisoning beside the mutilated body of his wife, who had been a patient in a Houston sanitarium. Physicians say Snyder will die. On Snyder's arrival at the sanitarium he was shown to his wife's room and the nurse retired. Ten minutes later seeing blood trickling from beneath the door, the nurse hurried in to find Mrs. Snyder dead with her body gashed in numerous places. No motive for the killing is known.

Closing arguments were begun at Chicago in the government's anti-trust suit against the Chicago Board of Trade before Judge K. M. Landis. M. L. Davies, assistant district attorney, maintained that the board, by establishing the "call rule," fixing an official price for grain when the board is not in session, stopped the flow of business between buyer and seller and thereby restrained trade. Interstate commerce was affected, he said, because evidence had shown that the board was a dominating influence in the grain markets of the central states.

MOTHER DESERTS INFANT

Police Find Her Identity, but Pitiful Features May Stop Prosecution.

NOT YET FOUND IN SEARCH

When Mrs. Mable Day, proprietress of a lodging house at 211 North Eighteenth street, entered a room last night which she had rented an hour before to a young man and a sickly-appearing young woman, she found that both lodgers had taken their leave, abandoning a suitcase which the woman carried.

Calling in other roomers, she opened the grip and found a tiny girl, apparently less than three days old. The police were immediately notified, and Sergeant P. H. Dillon after a brief investigation uncovered a pitiful story besides finding that the mother was the daughter of one of his life-long friends.

The girl, who until recently was a zealous worker in Jewish circles, has been living at the home of relatives while her parents are sojourning in the west. In the course of her duties in connection with the church she met a young man who betrayed her and fled.
