Youth Admits Theft To Detective Chief; Came to Slay Reds

Hungary, homeless and stricken by remorse, Louis M. Hicks, 18-year-old boy, came to police headquarters last night and sobbed a confession of a $200 theft, to Captain Dempsy.

He took the money, he said, from his father, a Pittsburgh electrician, and came west, fired with the ambition to become an Indian slayer. Instead of killing Indians out west, he got as far as Burlington, Ia., where in company with other youths, he killed time in pool halls there until his money was gone. Then he beat his way here on a freight car, and then the pangs of hunger commenced to gnaw conscience.

Before surrendering and confessing to the police, Hicks tried to enlist in the army, Recruiting Sergeant Fred M. Hansen says. He was turned down because he was underweight.

CONGRESS ACTS TO KEEP U. S. NEUTRAL

Houses Vote to Enlarge Wilson's Power to Bar Ships Leaving Ports to Supply Belligerent Craft.

IS DRAFTED BY BRYAN'S AIDES

WASHINGTON, March 4.—By unanimous vote the senate tonight adopted a substitute for the joint resolution passed in the house enlarging the power of the president to prevent infringements of American neutrality by vessels leaving ports of the United States with men or supplies for belligerent warships. It was later agreed to by the house. It would authorize the refusal of clearance, except under heavy bonds, to American ships suspected of loading men or supplies for belligerent warships and for the internment of foreign merchantmen engaging in such traffic and would impose heavy penalties for violations. The resolution was drafted by officials of the Department of Justice and the State department, but owing to a misunderstanding as to its language President Wilson asked for a conference with members of the foreign relations committee before it was passed by the senate. Both democratic and republican members of the committee went to the White House at 10 o'clock tonight for the conference.
