In and Out of the Bee Hive.

Mr. Myror Learned has returned from Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Crossman left Tues-

Atkinson to spend the week end.

HE similarity in likeness of Miss Mildred Chapman, the house guest of Miss Lucy Updike, to Miss Joan Sawyer, the beautiful dancer N. H. LOOMIS IS THE SPEAKER who was the headliner at the Orpheum closing week, has been the cause of many interesting and amusing experiences for Miss Chapman.

At a reception given the first of the week for Miss Chapman, Miss Eugenia Whitmore, Mr. George Harcourt and two other of Miss Sawyer's torium Monday morning, under the gentlemen friends came in hurriedly from the Country club to be among auspices of the Knights of Columbus, the guests. All remarked the striking resemblance, and Mr. Harcourt as has been done each year for the claims to have received an upsetting shock on being greeted, as he says, by last five years. his erstwhile dancing companion.

At another affair of three weeks ago Miss Joan Sawyer was announced sa being among the guests, and her personality was the subject of discus- Lincoln's famous Gettysburg address sion for some of the guests during the afternoon. Later they met Miss and an appropriate address by Nel-Sawyer as Miss Chapman.
