Prices on Board of Trade. CHICAGO, June 23.—Indications of a de Prices on Board of Trade.
CHICAGO, June 23.—Indications of a decided improvement in export business turned the wheat market today from weakness to strength. As a result prices closed steady at 1%c to 2%c net advance. Other leading staples, too, all scored net gains—corn, 1971%c to 2%c, cats, %974c, and provisions; foc to 12%c.

Reports that the Norweglan government had purchased 1,250,000 bushels of wheat at the scabcard proved especially infliential in causing speculative shorts to cover. Although word of the big sale did not receive entire credence among the usually best informed dealers, no doubt was expressed but that transatlantic business had picked up. In this connection it was noticed that northwestern markets were strong throughout the day, particularly Winnipeg, where there has been a large foreign short interest. Assertions of disappointing threshing returns from Kansas and Missouri and of adverse crop conditions in North Dakota gave the buil side a further advantage late in the session.

Before wheat began to bulke prices had shown a disposition to sag, owing to bearish cables. An estimate that India would yield 281,000,000 bushels this season, as against 217,000,000 bushels this season, formed one of the elements of the temporary depression. Selling drives here, however, were at no time severe. Bad crop reports and the wheat rally brought about a strong finish in corn. One authority said referring to northern Hibnols that the field prospect was the poorcest in years and that ninety days of perfect weather would be required to make a good crop.

Oats developed firmness when other cereals tightened up. Country offerings of new oats were next to nothing. Provisions swung higher with grain. At first the market was inclined to sympathize with lower prices for hogs. Closing prices on options:

OMARA GENERAL MARKET.

OMAHA. June 22, 285.

The market in general was fairly active, today, although whoat declined a cent. The market for corn and oats was firm, corn selling from a cent to a cent and a quarter higher, while oat, advanced a cent.

The reselpts of everything were light, but there was sufficient demand to take care of all the grain that was for sale on the tables.

It is thought that the large export sales show that foreigners are willing to pas the present price for both aid and new wheat, but in the latter they are likely to continue to feel their way intil such time as they know positively as to the quality of the new crop raised in the fullent of States. Improved weather conditions in the two great grain bells and the fact that farmers are about to begin the reselpts wheat and oats is regarded as favorable to the bears.

Clearances were: Whoat and floured as favorable to the bears.
