A Vacation in Estes Park Is One Worth While

Over 50,000 Tourists Last Year Visited Estes Park and Rocky Mountain National Park

Omaha vacationists can, in the Estes Park region, spend two weeks that will be more profitable than any previous vacation. The cost is slight in comparison with the benefit derived.

For amusement in the Park there is every sort of outdoor sport. The Park is 7,500 feet above the sea level. Golfing on any of the courses is a revelation to the player who has never before pursued this recreation in the exhilarating clear air of this akieude. Mountain climbing is the best on the continent if not in the world. Long's Peak (14,271 feet) is considered the seventh most difficult of ascent of the mountains of the world, but with experienced guides it is now surmounted by even women and children.

The fisherman who goes to Estes Park will find delightful opportunities for the pursuit of gamey trout. The Big Thompson River and its tributaries are stocked each year with thousands of fish from the park hatchery.

Accommodations may be had in half million dollar hotels, in ranch cottages and in tent cities, these combining to suit the pocketbooks of all travelers to the Park.

Visitors from Omaha may now reach the Park in one day, leaving here on the Colorado Special which departs from the Union Station at 12:30 a. m. (midnight). Standard sleeper on this train is set out at the station for occupancy at 9:30 p. m. Passengers arrive at Fort Collins at 2:45 p. m. where they are met by automobiles for Estes Park village, arriving there at 5:50 p.m. same day. Returning, automobiles leave Estes Park at 8 a.m.
