PRACTICAL TALKS FOR MEN'S OUTING

Specialized Lectures During Forenoon and Speeches Afternoons at Men's Chautauqua.

MEETINGS TO START AUGUST 2

Instead of the Dixie singers, and the sleight of hand jugglers, how would a line of practical business talks suit one for a week of outing at a lake-side chautauqua?

Well, the business men of Nebraska, Iowa, Dakota, and a lot of other places will know between August 2 and August 8, for those are the dates set for the Nebraska Business Men's Outing association chautauqua at Carter lake in Omaha. The Business Men's Outing association is an organization or federation of business organizations of Nebraska. They have federated for the purpose of staging this big business chautauqua. The associated retailers, the associated hardware men, the associated jewelers, the associated clothing, and other business or trades associations of the state have federated themselves into this outing association for the purpose of staging the chautauqua.

Big Chautauqua Tent. D. F. Dolan with an office in The Bee building, is general manager of the chautauqua and outing. He has drawn together a nice list of talent for the various business talks during the afternoon of each day at the lake, where a big chautauqua tent is to be pitched for the purpose.

Sectional meetings are to be held in the forenoon when men interested in the hardware business for example may hear specialized talks on the conducting of a successful hardware business at the same moment that in another tent, the jewelers will be hearing a specialized talk on the economical handling of diamond sales for example. The implement men will be hearing discussions on the best and most efficient manner of handling self-binders or a technical discussion on the latest machinery for the printing business.

Each of these talks will be given by a delegation will have the privilege of hearing highly specialized talks each morning on its own line of business; while in the afternoon, United States senators, congressmen, and big business men from the east will be on hand at the general sessions to talk on business legislation in congress, and a dozen other subjects of interest to the business men of the country.

Cadet Taylor Says He Will Take Year Off for Vacation. Cadet Taylor, outgoing collector of customs, has already made his plans for the future, and it includes a vacation of a year or two and a trip to California and the Philippine Islands. Mr. Taylor issued a statement, as follows: "I have served four years and four months, the latter an extra allowance on account of political conditions not necessary to mention. I have been treated most courteously by both Senator Hitchcock and Congressman Lebeck, gentlemen with whom I do not agree politically, but for whom I have the highest personal regard. It pleases me to know that I am to be succeeded by a newspaper man, and Mr. McCune will receive the 'glad-hand' with my best wishes.

"My official record is made up, and the books will soon be closed, and I think my friends will find a clean balance sheet. "I leave the good people in the federal building with regret, for our official and personal relations have been most kindly. "I have been hoeing my own row practically since a boy 12 years of age, and Mrs. Taylor and I propose to take a vacation for a year or two. We will go to California to visit our son's family soon, and possibly later to the Philippines to see our other son and wife. After that, back to Omaha to again don the harness for good hard work. There is no city with a better future than Omaha, and I have too many friends tried and true in this city to say farewell. I hope and expect it will only be au revoir."

Good Housekeeping Expert Will Speak. Omaha housewives will have an opportunity to listen to that good housekeeping oracle, Sarah Tyson Rorer of Rorer cook book fame, every afternoon this week at the Orchard-Wilhelm company store. Mrs. Rorer, whose word has been law in all culinary affairs for many years, has consented to make a western trip, giving lectures and demonstrations each day, although she admits being 66 years old.

A model kitchen with gas stove, refrigerator, kitchen cabinet and all cooking utensils has been fitted out on the fifth floor of the Orchard-Wilhelm company building and at 2:30 each afternoon during the week the lecture demonstration will begin. Mrs. Rorer will answer all queries propounded by troubled housewives or inexperienced brides.

Mrs. Rorer, who is a Quaker woman from Mt. Gretna, Pa., is a pioneer in domestic science research or the scientific study of cookery. She is assisted in her demonstrations by Miss Louise Neidhart.

A feature of Mrs. Rorer's lectures will be the demonstration of a new kind of glassware, which is tempered so that it will resist heat. Foodstuffs can be put from the refrigerator into the hot oven and what will commend the innovation still more, food may be served at the table in the same utensil in which it is cooked, so ornamental are the patterns. And housewives won't have nearly so many dishes to wash.

Here is the outline of Mrs. Rorer's lectures: Monday, "Quick Breads." Tuesday, "Meats." Wednesday, "Salads." Thursday, "Vegetables and Egg Cookery." Friday, "Meat Substitutes." Saturday, "Simple Desserts and Pastries."

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Police Make Arrests in Places Where Liquor is Being Sold After Hours.

SOLVES A $100 MYSTERY

Captain Briggs and Sergeant Sheahan raided several alleged "bootlegging" and open house joints last night. Confiscation of five cases of bottle beer and the arrest of three inmates and the proprietor of an alleged bootlegging joint at 238 North Twenty-fifth street, run by Joe Jasper, resulted.

Emergency Officer John Zaloudek and Detective Andrew Lepinski were also making the rounds and secured evidence in the case of at least one saloon. No arrests were made, however.

Missing Hundred Found. Captain John Briggs yesterday unfolded the mystery of the missing $100, which his wife wired had been stolen on a Burlington train, while en route to Steamboat Springs, Colo., a week ago. Captain Briggs found the missing money in a dresser drawer at his residence, 1625 North Twenty-sixth street, where it had been mislaid by Mrs. Briggs before her departure.

Last week when Mrs. Briggs left for Steamboat Springs, she thought she had secreted the money safely among her effects. On the train she missed $100, she wired her husband in Omaha that the money had been stolen. The captain being wrathful took the matter up with the railroad officials and an investigation was under way in a trice. Then came a letter from Mrs. Briggs in which she explained that the thief had carefully sewed the money back inside her coat after having abstracted $100. I knew the money was not lost," she wrote right away that the money was not lost.

A careful search about the house brought the cash to light yesterday.

Jerry Fitzgerald Congratulated. Jerry Fitzgerald, new police court clerk and deputy prosecutor, was receiving congratulations and sympathy from his many friends. He has long been in public office and is known for having one of the gentlest dispositions. He is a bachelor, who would rather see a woman cry, than a couple of weeping females. A tale of woe will bring his hand to his pocket as quick as lightning. So when the news got out that he was to be prosecutor and clerk of the South Side station, his friends, while pleased, sighed for Jerry's new troubles.

Brother Not Among Missing. "Emil Peschek, not among the missing. Undoubtedly saved." This little message to Joe Peschek of the Seagrave Drug company yesterday evening brought bright smiles to the face of the popular South Side pharmacist.

Emil Peschek is one of the foremen of the Western Electric company, many of whose employees were drowned yesterday when the steamer Eastland turned over. Joe knew that his brother, a long-time employe of the Western Electric, would probably be on the trip. He wired for information, but was kept in suspense until late in the afternoon when the good word came that his brother was not among the missing. Emil Peschek lives at 235 South Avera avenue.

No More Pool Hall Saloons. Effective August 1, the joint pool halls and saloons will be discontinued on the South Side. It is contended by the police authorities that joint pool halls and saloons are the cause not only of teaching young boys to drink, but also breeding places for crime. In several places on the South Side the new law will be felt.

Accused of Using Knife. Eva Jones, colored, 318 North Railroad avenue, was arrested last evening at 11:20 o'clock on complaint of having slashed at Retta Johnson, also colored, 357 South Twenty-eighth street with intent to do bodily harm. The woman admitted the charge after she had been arrested by Sergeant James Sheahan, but told the police that the Jones woman had attempted to cut her the week before. She will be held for investigation.

Adare Runs Away. Floyd Adare, 13-year-old son of Clay Adare, 365 C street, was reported to have run away from home yesterday morning. The boy had secured a quantity of goods on the credit of his father at a local grocery store and was seeking to evade the criticism of his parent when the matter was found out.

At noon yesterday he was seen in company with three men near the L street viaduct in the Missouri Pacific railroad yards, apparently in the act of attempting to board a Missouri Pacific train for Kansas City. The police were asked to look up the boy.

Peddlers Arrested. Three peddlers, J. Brokstein, Myer Groff and Joe Nivitch, were arrested yesterday morning by Inspector of Weights and Measures John Grant Pegg on the charge of breaking the law in peddling their products. The case will come up in police court Monday morning.

Maggie City Gosyp. H. W. Phillips and family have returned from a month's vacation spent in Wyoming. CLEAN UP wall paper sale. Koutsky-Pavlik Co. Sorreent Carey arrested P. Barrett on a charge of assault and battery last evening. Will move August 2 to 319-321 North Twenty-sixth street, across the street from old location. L. Lorr. William Kienle, eastern stock shipper to the local yards from Coffman, Neb., visited with friends here in the city yesterday.

Office space for rent in Bee office, 2313 N. street. Terms reasonable. Well known location. Tel. South 27. Miss Viola Williams left yesterday afternoon for a week's visit with Miss Patience Kealey, now residing at Carter, Neb. Ladies' day at the Spring Lake park swimming pool last Friday brought out a record-breaking crowd of feminine bathers, as well as spectators. Misses Marnie and Marie Ackerman have returned to their home at Chicago, after visiting with their uncle, John McIntire, of this city, for three weeks. Want Ads for The Bee may be left at the office, 2313 N. street, Rates: 2c a word for one time, 15c a word each day for three days and 1c a word each day for a week. Prompt and courteous service.

Miss Mary McLaughlin, daughter of Mrs. J. S. McLaughlin, 313 T street, won the debut contest held at the Columbian club festival last Wednesday evening. The other successful contestants were Misses Margaret Gillin and Minnie Windel.

The cattle men of the local yards beat the hog men at their annual base ball game played at Rourke park Friday afternoon, by a score of 10 to 4. This makes the second consecutive victory for the cattle men over the hog men in the last two years.

District Deputy Grand Patriarch A. B. Ross installed the following officers of Crusader Encampment No. 47, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, last Friday evening: T. C. Talbot, chief patriarch; B. W. Loomis, high priest; Frank Hiner, senior warden; O. Olson, junior warden; L. E. Peterson, Henry Burman, treasurer; L. C. Mook, first watch; Jesse Sterns, second watch; A. Hess, third watch; George Haysman, fourth watch; L. Augury, inside watch; C. Ross, outside sentinel; Chadwick, guide; N. Adams, first guard; Bliss, second guard.

Pegg Finds Some Short Measures on The South Side. John Grant Pegg and his crew of weight and measure inspectors made a raid on the South Side, the result being that Meyer Groffelt and Z. Brokstein, Omaha peddlers, and Joe Munsky, grocer at 323 Q street, were fined $5 and costs each in the South Side police court yesterday morning.

Groffelt, according to the evidence, was caught with a set of short measures. Brokstein also had short measures, while Munsky sold a bushel of potatoes to a woman, the purchase weighing fifty pounds, whereas the law requires sixty pounds.

The South Side police judge told Mr. Pegg the court will back him up in his campaign to secure honest weights and measures on the South Side. More inspections will be made during the coming week. Restored to Good Health. "I was sick for four years with stomach trouble," writes Mrs. Otto Gans, Zanesville, O. "I lost weight and felt so weak that I almost gave up hope each in being cured. A friend told me about Chamberlain's Tablets, and since using two bottles of them I have been a well woman." Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

STATISTICS NOT DEPENDABLE

Figures on Exports and Imports of Holland Prior to War Appear to Have Been Badly Kept.

MANY STATEMENTS DISCOUNTED

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.) THE HAGUE, July 25.—In the absence of a detailed statistical system in Holland it is impossible to say how nearly accurate are the figures given in English and French publications respecting the effect of the war on imports and exports.

The truth of the matter, according to the department of foreign commerce in The Hague, is that nobody ever knew precisely how much or how little Holland imported or exported. Holland is a free trading country. A few items like tea pay 4 or 5 per cent duty. Otherwise practically everything can be brought into the country free of duty. Of the total amount of imports Holland never consumed more than a tenth part. Most of the trade was of a transitory nature. From all parts of the world goods were brought to Dutch ports and were sent on by rail to Germany, Russia, Austria and Switzerland.

Statistics of exports were kept, but since nobody dreamed of a war which would uproot the entire fabric of modern life, they were not kept in detail and the total amount of goods which crossed the Dutch frontier into Germany was never specifically mentioned.

This caused a curious situation at the outbreak of the war. The government knew in a general way how much it imported. It also knew in the same vague fashion the total amount of exports. By subtracting one from the other it expected to arrive at the amount of grain and wheat and beer and butter which remained in Holland for the consumption of the people. Statistics, however, do not seem to obey the laws of mathematics, for it was found that the Dutch people consumed much more than the difference which was the result of this official subtraction.

Statisticians are seriously working upon the problem, but the war has upset every established way of living to such an extent that the problem is not an easy one. For example, instead of food being an urban population doing chores in offices and living the lives of clerks, the government now has to feed 600,000 soldiers doing hard labor at digging and marching and the entire diet has been upset. Then the Belgian refugees have come into the country by the hundreds of thousands (nobody knows exactly how many) and they eat different things from what the Hollanders do.

But in other ways the Dutch statistics are precise. In the British and French papers do not give a clear idea of what actually happens. It is often claimed that the imports from America have increased by leaps and bounds. This is quite true. But in the first place the old import route by way of Hamburg, Bremen and the other German ports has been entirely stopped. These ports are blocked and no ships can enter.

Although the British and French ports are open, the war regulations of these countries do not allow any exports to foreign countries and all the many materials which formerly came from France, England and Germany, now have to come exclusively from America.

The stories of large amounts of foodstuffs being smuggled into Germany across the Dutch frontier are entirely discounted by the department of commerce.

To Break Potato Corner. It is true that potatoes have gone into Germany, but they were not on the contraband list and they went in small quantities, just sufficient to break the potato corner which some German speculators had brought about. According to French newspapers, every sack of potatoes sold to Germany meant the lives of fifty French soldiers. According to the Germans, it merely meant the breaking up of the corner and a fall in the price of potatoes from 8 marks a bushel to 2 marks twenty.

The accusations of the allied press against Holland's refusal to assist in the starvation of Germany and Austria are made possible by the faulty system of statistics mentioned before, and the first measure of the Dutch government after the war will be the establishment of a most minute statistical bureau, so that every potato, every mustard seed and every pot of jam can be closely traced from the moment it enters the kingdom until it disappears into a Dutch household or finds its way abroad.
