HOUSEWORK A POEM, SAYS MRS. RORER

Expert Opens the Eyes of Many of the Women by the Ease with Which She Works.

GIVES SOME VALUABLE HINTS

Household Hints by Mrs. Rorer. Use a wire egg-beater. It is easily cleaned.

Have a spatula at hand. It saves the edges of sharp knives.

Keep salt and pepper in bowls. It is more quickly and easily measured.

Don't put vegetables away unprepared. Always wash and cut away in chesedish bases.

Keep the refrigerator clean, rather than be constantly cleaning it.

Don't scrub away with all your scouring. Use a little ammonia and scouring soap and let it do the work.

Never have a scouring day for your pots and pans. Put them away clean after every use.

Don't put on an old dress to go into the kitchen and cook. Cooking should be as clean as possible and should not ruin the daintiest gown.

"The woman who says household work is drudgery has no stamina and can't expect to raise children with any moral fiber. Housework is a poem," declared Mrs. Sarah Tyson Rorer, far-famed cookery expert, and cooking teaches us harmony, art, geography, zoology, botany and dietion. It is the most artistic of the arts; it calls upon the imagination."

Omaha housewives gazed in awe while Mrs. Rorer used a quantity of bread flour without sifting it during her demonstration on "Quick Breads," Monday afternoon at the Orchard-Wilhelm store, where she lectures every afternoon this week.

"Why, Mrs. Rorer, I thought you had to sift every bit of flour you used. Wouldn't your bread come out very heavy?" asked a housewife of many years' experience, who sat in the front row.

"No, indeed. Pastry flour must always be sifted, but good bread flour is loose and doesn't pack, therefore it is useless work to sift it," was the reply.

Use Quick Methods.

The fascinated housewives received another shock when Mrs. Rorer rapidly whisked a light, wire egg-beater through a mixture of flour and baking powder. Instead of sifting the combination, it was a quicker method than their own and one that they hadn't conceived before.

"Don't do unnecessary dredging. Simplicity, that is the test of Mrs. Rorer's recipes to housekeepers. When you must be in the kitchen in the morning, prepare for the next meal and set the food away in the refrigerator. If there is anything that has to be cooked at the

TEACH HOUSEWIFE HOW TO CAN FRUIT

George F. Farrell, Government Expert, to Give Short Course in Domestic Science Here.

WILL GIVE THREE LECTURES

Omaha housewives who have never had the opportunity of taking a scientific course in domestic science in the schools of their day will have the opportunity of taking a short, practical and advanced course today at the various schools in Omaha.

All the way from Washington, D. C., comes George E. Farrell, government expert, who will give demonstrations during the day in the real art of canning both fruit and vegetables.

This demonstration is under the auspices of the Garden club of Omaha, which is carrying on garden contests this summer under the local supervision of E. E. Dale. Having learned how to be efficient in the matter of raising garden produce, the young people are to be taught in a short course of a few hours how to be efficient in canning goods.

Every year hundreds of cans of fruit and vegetables canned by the ordinary housewife, spoil in the course of the year. Expert George E. Farrell will tell why. Many housewives who are willing to admit that they have not yet learned the last word in canning, are planning their work so as to spend a few hours at the schools and take in this lecture and demonstration.

Speaks at Three Points.

Beginning at Saratoga school, Twenty-fourth and Ames, in the morning at 10 o'clock, the government demonstrator is to work all day and in the evening. His demonstration is to begin at 10 o'clock at Saratoga, begin at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at Castellar, Eighteenth and Castellar, and in the evening at the Young Men's Christian association rooms at 3 o'clock.

While the demonstration is designed to teach the young members of the garden clubs the fundamental principles of canning, some real scientific points are also to be touched upon, and the Garden club is taking special pains to invite parents and all housewives who are interested.

Plan to Renumber and Rename Streets of Greater Omaha

City Commissioner Jardine and Superintendent Kleffner of the postoffice wish to take the citizens of Greater Omaha into their confidence.

They are working on a plan for renumbering and renaming the streets of the city and they wish to accomplish their task with the least inconvenience to citizens and at the same time remedy existing defects.

They ask the citizens what they think of this plan:

Retain the present system of numbered streets running north to south, extending the numbers continuously south of Dodge to the south limits of South Side.

Change the east and west streets to avenues, making Dodge street "First avenue," Douglas street "Second avenue, South," Farnam street, "Third avenue, South," Capitol avenue, "Second avenue, North," and so on, north and south of "First avenue."

Commissioner Jardine hopes to have a recommendation to present to the city council within a few weeks.

INJUNCTION ASKS PROPERTY RIGHTS

Judge Baker Says That Alone is Reason—Special License May Be Given Carnival.

NOT A RELIGIOUS QUESTION

The issue in the injunction suit brought by Mrs. Margaret Henry, proprietor of Lord Lister hospital, to prevent the building of Billy Sunday's tabernacle at Fourteenth and Capitol avenue, may turn on the question whether Sunday's revival may be classed as of the same nature as a carnival or street fair, according to attorneys interested in the case.

A Nebraska statute provides that the city may pass an ordinance forbidding construction of wooden buildings within the fire limits and forbids the granting of special privileges after the ordinance is passed.

But One Exception.

The Omaha ordinance defining the fire limits makes one exception to the general prohibition of wooden structures within the district, stating that the building inspector may issue a permit for the erection of a wooden building which is to be used temporarily for carnival, street fair or other similar purposes. No other exception is made by the ordinance.

Judge Ben S. Baker of counsel for the relator said yesterday that only question involved in the suit was that of protection of property interests. He said:

"The Nebraska supreme court has affirmed the right of relators to enjoin construction of wooden buildings when forbidden by law and when their property is endangered. The issue in this suit is one of property rights and we are not trying any question relating to Billy Sunday's methods or any religious or political question."

DIAMONDS WATCHES ON CREDIT

It is now considered "just the thing" to spend your vacation at home and put your money in a Diamond.

"Getting ready and going away for a vacation is not worth the time and money it costs a young man was heard to say, and added: 'I've decided to take my vacation this year the new way—stay at home and put my money in a Diamond. I can find more real pleasure and diversion right here in Omaha, among my friends, and shall be more rested when I go back to work than if I spend my vacation away. Besides, I shall have a valuable Diamond for the money I usually spend. I don't have to pay all cash, either, for I can open a charge account at LOFTIS BROS. & CO.'

We want every "vacationist" in Omaha to do as this young man decides—spend your vacation amid the pleasures and entertainments of your own city, and wear a beautiful genuine Diamond, fine watch, or other jewelry, and have "something to show" for your vacation money.
