Montana. IT IS a fact that the middle west coun-try towns are populated with more retired farmers than any other class. Many of these farmers have profited from ands bought cheap and sold at an ad-vance proc and the yield per acre-larger than other states. If an inter-seted buyer, I would be willing to show you the lands that I actually own, num-bring many sections. For cattle, sheep or horse ranch, or for farming purposes, the excellent values and conditions are the best. If interested write me about what is wanted and the cash investment you can make. C. H. Omaha Hay Market. PRAIRIE HAY-There is a very large pupply of hay on the market. Total sup-pupply on all roads, including today's re-ceipts, amounts to between seventy-five and eighty cars. There are about thirty cars on the Union Pacific, thirty on the Chicago & Northwestern and about twenty on the Missouri Pacific and Bur-lington. The last twenty cars are south-ern hay from Kansas City. Prices must decline low enough to prohibit shipments from Kansas City here. With this heavy supply on hand and prospects of clear weather ahead and liberal advices of hay to arrive, the market cannot remain where it has been. The hay that is on the market averages fairly good. Very little, however, that is choice, but the majority will grade No. 1. Following is the range of values: Choice upland, fillion (No. 1, fillongfillio): No. 2, fillongfillion, No. 1, fillongfillio: No. 2, fillongfillion, No. 1, fillongfillio: No. 3, fillongfillion, No. 1, fillongfillio: No. 3, fillongfillion, No. 1, fillongfillion, No. 3, fillion (No. 4, fillongfillion, No. 3, fillion (No. 5, fillion of this market No. The prevailing opinion of this market

Even at that, how-ever, packers had a liberal assoriment to pick from Chicago reported a sharply higher trade and after a little preliminary otkering the local market opened fairly active, and as a general thing lights higher. A few of the first sales were only quoted as logitie up, but it is safe to describe the trade as all of logitic up, and most traders quoted prices logitics better. Several strings of good lambs sold as high as $5.00, which up to a late hour was the day's top, and some leas desirable bunches were scattered on down.

Foreign Exchange and Labor Troubles Annoy.
