Elks' Big Annual Clam Bake to Be at Krug Park Sept. 11

The date for the 1915 clambake of the Omaha Elks has been in doubt for some days for the reason that it was originally fixed for Thursday, September 9, at Krug park. The Omaha letter carriers, however, desired that date for the entertain ment of the delegates to their national convention to be held in Omana during that week. After telegraphic correspondence with John Sipple of Gloucester City, N. J., the expert clambaker who comes to Omaha each year for this special purpose, his eastern and middle west clambake dates were so adjusted that he will be able to do the bake on September II. The general committee of arrangements is preparing a high-class vaudeville program in connection with the clambake invitations have been sent out to all the Nebraska and Iowa subcrdinate lodges and many prominent Elks of the two states will be present, noticeably among them being Frank L.
