No Cushioned Pews to Be Found in the Sunday Tabernacle

No "flowery beds of east" in the way of thickly-cushioned pews will be found in the "Billy" Sunday tabernacle, now nearing completion.

The seats are planks, eight inches wide, and each back consists of one board ten inches wide. Only this, and nothing more. The upright pieces on which the planks rest are nailed to "two by fours" laid in the sawdust and fastened to the ground merely by a short stake here and there. There's not much space between the benches, either.

Still, they are not uncomfortable. The board back slopes at a comfortable angle. And, if you want to, you can bring a cushion, you know.

The Sunday tabernacle, unlike Solomon's great temple, is not built without noise. The big building is in one continuous pandemonium of hammers and saws.

The rostrum is nearly complete. "Billy's" platform is at the very front of the great rostrum. On each side of it are built desks for the newspaper men, enough to accommodate about sixteen.

The great tiers of steps slope at a shallow angle upward and backward on the rostrum. On these steps will be placed 1,500 chairs for the choir.

About half of the seats that will accommodate 6,000 people in the auditorium are already in place, wanting only the nailing on of the board backs.

The postoffice boxes have been shipped here from the last scene of a "Billy" Sunday campaign, at Patterson, N. J., and are already in place in the postoffice room. The typewritten names of the last users of the boxes are still on them. There are about 500 separate boxes.

The electric wiring is also nearly completed. "Joe" Spies, builder, says everything will be ready even before the first rehearsal, which is to be next Wednesday evening.

Omaha Women to Aid in Relief Work for Sufferers from War

To discuss war sufferers' relief for this winter, a group of well known Omaha women will meet at the home of Miss Jessie Millard Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Miss Millard headed the Franco-Belgian relief workers last year and some of these workers will attend the meeting Saturday.

Holdup Gets Nothing, Misses Hidden $50

Fifty dollars secreted in an inside pocket by Jack Glitin of 215 Chicago street was overlooked last evening by a negro who stopped Mr. Glitin at Twenty-fifth and Franklin streets at the point of a gun. The hold-up man took nothing from his victim.

A man answering the same description stole $50 from the store of M. F. Hiltz at 1613 North Twenty-fourth street during a late hour of the evening.

TWINS JOINED IN WEDLOCK

Bernice and Bertha Elder Come from Fort Dodge to Marry Their Chosen Lovers.

BOTH WEDDED AT SAME TIME

Wanted on the wings of love and a Great Western railroad train, came two happy pairs of human being from Fort Dodge, Ia., to Omaha, bent on matrimony. Nele Nelson and Bernice Elder was one pair and to her was Dan DeWitt and Bertha Elder.

Bernice and Bertha are sisters. Not only that, but they are twin sisters. Bernice was Elder, Bertha was also Elder. Both have seen the sun of eighteen summers upon this mundane sphere. And while both were, indeed, "Elder," the question as to which was "the elder" is unimportant, being a mere matter of minutes anyway.

They found their way, or love found the way to the well-known court house and eventually filtered into the lair of Marriage License Clerk Steubendorf. It was all over except trying the licenses and paying for them and trying the knots.

A waggish chap is Steubendorf, lulling the fears of the timid with many a jest and joke while he makes up the papers. He even has jokes posted up by the side of the desk, has this unscrupulous person, so that couples may read and grow merry and forget the serious business in hand. And so Mr. Steubendorf was very much concerned about the twins.

"Now you're sure this is Bernice, are you?" he asked of Mr. Nelson. "Don't make a mistake and get the wrong one," he advised Mr. DeWitt. Each swain grinned and cast adoring eyes upon his bride and declared warmly that he couldn't make a mistake, since there was no other woman in the world who possessed a fraction of the beauty, grace, intelligence, accomplishments, etc., etc., of his beloved.

And when Mr. Steubendorf had disseminated good cheer and made out the licenses and declared warmly that he was strong but, the bridegroom, is called for the count judge. But Judge Crawford was on the bench hearing a real estate case. Small Cupid kept waiting by a mere real estate case? Never.

Just then who should arrive but Justice of the Peace Kubat! Yes, it was none other than "Justice" Kubat. "Would he consent to tie the knot? Why, it was just like picking six bucks out of the pocket of old man Douglas County. So the popular jurist tied the knots right up good and tight with neat bows. Now neither Bernice nor Bertha is Elder. And they "took that midnight train for old Fort Dodge."

He is interviewing men with the idea of enlisting them in a local branch similar to those which he has helped to start in a number of other western cities.

RASH PAINED AND ITCHED SO

Would Rub It Open. Then It Would Bleed. Kept Spreading. Would Form Scales.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My brother's face started to break out with a deep red color and it itched so that he would rub it open and then it would bleed. It looked like a rash on his cheek and it kept spreading out closer to the eye. He scratched it and rubbed it open so much that it would form scales. It pained him so while he slept that he had to hold his hands so he wouldn't rub it open.

"We got medicine which seemed to make it worse and he would hold his breath every time we put it on. He had been troubled with it about two months when I saw Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertised in the paper so I got some. After using them about three weeks he was entirely healed and hasn't been troubled since."

Jardine Objects to Action of Foster

Commissioner Jardine takes the position that his duties as city commissioner take him beyond the superintendency of the department of public improvements when he observes a public matter which he believes needs correcting, particularly so when there is an ordinance covering the situation in question. He is contending for the enforcement of an ordinance regulating aisles and passageways of buildings used for public assemblies of any character. The commissioner makes the following statement: At the present time the city has filed a complaint in the police court against the management of the Empire theater to enforce the above provisions. This theater is so constructed that there are two passageways, one on each side of the building and one passageway in the center of the building, at the front thereof, which is divided into three passageways by two brass railings. The three center passageways are permitted to be used for ingress only and the two side passageways are permitted for egress only. The management permits the people to congregate in large numbers in the center passageway, which is divided into three parts. This is clearly in violation of this ordinance and similar provisions in the laws of other states have been held to that effect. This makes a very dangerous condition and the city is endeavoring to remedy this has filed complaints against this management. Judge Foster of the police court has held this matter up and the city does not seem to be able to get any satisfaction from him.
