

BACK TO OLDEN METHODS

Some Are Advocating the Return to Days of Helmet and Armor Plate.

LESSENS EFFECTS OF SHELLS

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.) LONDON, Aug. 8.—The London newspapers are urging upon the British government the advisability of adopting the steel helmet, as well as some simple form of protective breast armor, for the troops in France and Flanders.

Lessens the Wounds. The value of a light protective armor is attested in several recent articles in the British medical journals. Dr. Deva-

Omahans Will Urge River Development

Representatives of the Commercial club will go to Kansas City October 12 to protest against the recent report of Lieutenant Colonel Herbert Deakins, which was adverse to the development of the Missouri river for navigation. The board of engineers for rivers and harbors, commonly known as the board of army engineers, which will hear the protest, was to have assembled at Washington October 12, but the date and place have been changed.

TO BUILD NEW SMELTERS

English Government Finds Processes in Those in Great Britain Are Old-Fashioned.

KEEP EYE ON ZINC SHORTAGE

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.) LONDON, July 26.—The whole problem of increasing the manufacture of spelter in the United Kingdom is engaging the immediate attention of his majesty's government, declared Mr. Bonar Law, in behalf of the government, in Parliament recently. More than a score of questions had been put to him urging the necessity of preventing any further shortage or rise in price of zinc, which has advanced to nearly five times its value before the war.

Strange as it may seem in the face of the urgent demand for zinc in making cartridges, cases and other munitions, the output of the British works since the beginning of the war has actually been smaller than normal. Several plants have had a number of furnaces idle and the productive capacity of the others has been only about half what it was before the war. The main reason, it is said, is the withdrawal of skilled labor by enlistment. At the same time it is admitted that the British plants are old-fashioned, lacking the numerous labor-saving devices which have been adopted in Germany and the United States during the last seven or eight years.

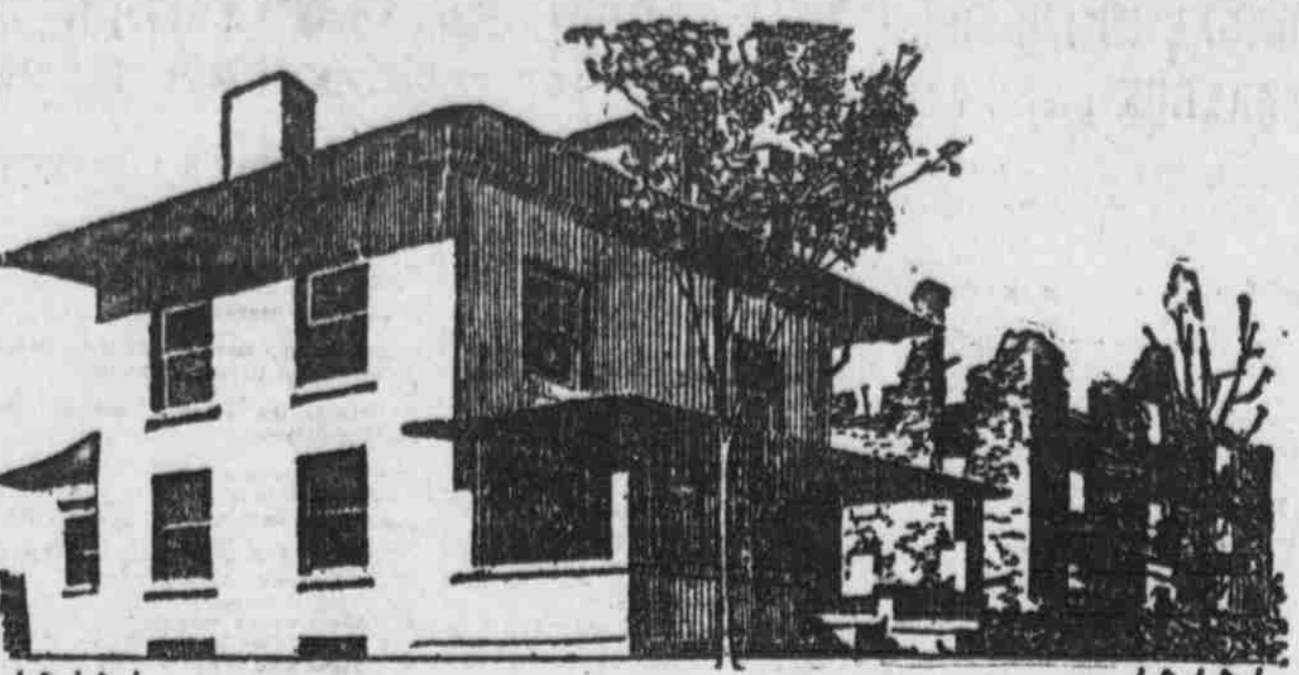

Estimates have now been prepared for the government for the erection of new smelting works of the latest type in this country, capable of dealing with 200,000,000 pounds of concentrates a year and producing about 40,000 tons of zinc. The plant could begin to make deliveries within nine months. The cost of erection would be about $4,000,000.

Have German Contracts.

A knotty question in connection with the spelter situation is provided by the outstanding contracts entered into by the Australian mines with German houses. As explained by Mr. Bonar Law:

"I am not aware that there is any German owned spelter in Australia. Australia, however, produces large quantities of zinc ores and concentrates. These were not manufactured into spelter in Australia, but before the war they were principally exported to Germany for that purpose. On December 11 the Australian government drew the attention of his majesty's government to the contracts with German firms by which they were controlled. The question of these contracts is now being considered."

Before the war Great Britain was content to procure most of its zinc from smelting companies in Germany, Belgium and France, which extracted the metal from the Australian ores. A bill is being put through the Australian Parliament dealing with the ore supply and releasing the mines from their German agreements, but some of the mines are owned by companies in England and legislation by the English government will probably be also necessary. The main problem, however, is that of obtaining adequate smelting capacity. Large increases in the available smelting resources of the United States are expected to relieve the situation partially within a short time. It is said that any new smelting works which may be built in England will be constructed in connection with Belgian and French interests.

Don't YOU Be Merely a Wisher

How often you meet him --the "Wisher!" He wishes for this, he wishes for that, or he wishes for some other thing; and he usually gets--nothing! Because wishing will get no one anywhere. So it is that the "Wisher" is always and forevermore a "Wisher!" You know him and his class--"Oh, I wish I had a decent place to live," or "I wish I had a home," or "I wish I could get a farm."

Well, the only way he'll ever get it is by going after it. And we say to YOU now--that if you want a house, lot, farm, or ANYTHING, don't be a "Wisher," but go and get it--go after it! Profit by the experience of the "Wisher" who never gets anywhere or accomplishes anything. If YOU want a home go get it.

And, listen, the easiest, safest and best way to proceed is to turn RIGHT NOW to the Real Estate columns of THE BEE and scan the offerings. There you will find many opportunities awaiting you.

THE OMAHA BEE

OMAHA FINGER PRINT EXPERT IS IN DEMAND

The Navy department at Washington has wired the Omaha office of the navy to send a competent fingerprint reader to Atlantic, Ia., to try to identify the man who was run over by a train there on September 12. The man was terribly mutilated and no way of identifying him was found available. He had several tattoo marks on an arm that were torn off in the accident and these lead the Navy department to believe that he may have been service in the navy. The body has been buried and as soon as an order is received from Washington to have it exhumed First Class Hospital Apprentice F. H. Ostek of the Omaha office will go to Atlantic and take the finger prints. These will be sent to Washington in an effort to identify the dead man.

MARRIED WHEN SIXTEEN NOW ASKS FOR A DIVORCE

Mrs. Minora Payne, who married Charles A. Payne November 20, 1912, when she was 16 years of age, is suing for a divorce in district court. Neglect, carried to such an extent that she has suffered "an unnatural widowhood," is alleged by her. Other petitions filed were: Fern A. Smith against John C., cruelty alleged; Esther Bennett against Charles F., non-support alleged; Blanche E. Creasey against John C., cruelty alleged. Elias L. Corwell was awarded a decree in his suit against Vera, on grounds of desertion.

SHOOTS CRAPS WITHOUT LICENSE AND IS PINCHED

Ray Cole of Fairbury, Neb., arrested for shooting craps without a license, had almost convinced the judge that compassion should be shown when he sprang the information that he was a machinist. "Let's see your hands!" interrogated the magistrate. Cole presented two unblemished lily white palms, and after turning up his nose at these evidences of manual labor the judge inflicted a fine of $12.50. A companion, John Fox, received a suspended fine of the same amount.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

Dr. F. E. Coffey has returned from a trip to the exposition on the Pacific coast and reports business picking up. Postmaster John C. Wharton returned last evening from a week's trip to Washington, Ia., near where he has a farm. He is enthusiastic over crop conditions. S. E. Bush, chief assistant to the attorney general, will not return to Omaha for another week. He is now in Kansas City on some government work which has stretched over a longer period than was expected.
