

KNIGHT OF GRIP MAKES LAST TRIP

M. C. Jones, Who Comes to Omaha in the Sixties, Dies at Salt Lake City.

ON THE ROAD FOR MANY YEARS

News of the death of M. C. Jones at Denver has been received here, having passed away at the home of his son-in-law. He was ill a short time and the fatal termination of his sickness came as a surprise and shock to many friends and acquaintances throughout the west.

Mr. Jones came to Omaha in the late '40s and shortly afterward entered the service of Randall A. Brown, a prominent dry goods merchant of that city, and later with J. J. Brown & Co. In 1876 he entered the employ of Morgan & Gallagher, wholesale grocers, as one of their traveling salesmen, and in 1879 followed Mr. Gallagher when the firm changed to Paxton & Gallagher company, with whom he has been associated for the last thirty-seven years. He pioneered northwest Nebraska, making nearly all of his territory by stage, and in 1890 his territory was characterized by the western part of Nebraska, including Wyoming, Utah and Idaho, making his home in Salt Lake City, Utah, where he has resided for many years.

He was known throughout the west as being one of the oldest and best known traveling representatives in the western country and was loved by all who came in contact with him on account of his genial disposition, lovable character and highest regard for honesty and integrity.

He leaves a wife and one daughter, Mrs. M. A. Joplin.

Ford and Graham Convicted by Jury of Illegal Sales

L. D. Graham and J. T. Ford, proprietors of a saloon at 136 Farnam street, were convicted by a jury in police court of selling liquor after hours on the night of the Al-Sar-Ben electrical parade.

M. W. Morrow, St. Brandeis Theater building, and Charles H. Hatcher, 608 Chicago street, appeared as complaining witnesses. The case was tried to the first jury which has been called in police court in two years. The jurymen were D. M. Edgar, Charles Mangum, Harry G. Kelly, C. M. Harding, George W. Sumner and Edward A. Dow.

Morrow and Hatcher testified to seeing liquor sold after hours to a score or more of men, and asserted that Graham solicited trade from pedestrians in front of the place. Morrow said the liquor looked like whiskey and was sold in whiskey glasses, also a beverage resembling beer was dispensed. "Do you know that it was beer?" questioned Attorney Hatcher, for the defense. "I've seen beer, and I've drunk beer, and I believe it was beer," retorted Morrow.

He said the fruit resembling whiskey was sold from a bottle and poured into a small glass. Another glass was also served with the drink which his companion was at loss to account for. Morrow explained its purpose.

They immediately filed appeal bonds of $50.

Mother's Pension Withdrawn, as the Woman Had Money

A mother's pension of $30 a month, drawn by Mrs. Mary Kubat, a widow, mother of five small children, has been ordered withdrawn by District Judge Sears, following a hearing at which evidence was presented that she had misrepresented her financial condition in order to secure the pension.

The discovery was made by accident by an officer of the juvenile court that Mrs. Kubat had $1,000 deposited with a local building and loan company. She also owns a small house at 206 Jackson street, South Side.

Mrs. Kubat testified under oath when the pension was awarded her that she had no money. When questioned before District Judge Sears after the discovery of the $1,000 she asserted that she was penniless and that the money belonged to her mother. An investigation, according to juvenile officers, disclosed the fact that Mrs. Kubat received $200 insurance on her husband's life and $50 given to her by her mother.

According to the Nebraska statute pensions for the support of children may not be awarded if the mother has means of her own.

Story Teller Lady Interests Many at Orchard & Wilhelm's

Over 20 busy shoppers thronged the Orchard-Wilhelm store Thursday afternoon to hear the stories told by Miss Helen Freeman, Chicago's "story lady." At the conclusion of her regular story hour, Miss Freeman told some stories especially for a crowd of "newbies" who were drawn into the building when they heard of the presence of the "story lady."

Friday afternoon Miss Freeman told "The Necklace of Truth," "How the Robin Got His Dress," "The Mirror of Matsu-Yama," a Norse legend, "How the World Was Made," "The King Who was a Gentleman," "The Royal Swineherd" and others. Miss Freeman reads her audience and tells her stories in her own words.

Today is the big doll carnival for Omaha kiddies at Orchard-Wilhelm's. Every little girl is invited to come and bring her dolls, and little boys may come also. Miss Freeman is going to tell her best stories for the little ones.
