

SYMPHONY CONCERT ENDS CONVENTION

Omaha Instrumental Organization Gives Program that Proves Worth to Audience.

PLEASING NUMBER BY VOCALISTS

The sounds of sweet music floated out upon the soft evening air as the visiting school teachers of the state took their leave of Omaha Friday evening.

A concert at the Auditorium marked the closing of the fifth annual convention of the Nebraska State Teachers' association, given by the Bureau of Publicity of the Commercial club of Omaha as an entertainment feature in connection with the general program of the convention.

The Omaha Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Henry Cox, played itself into favor of the large audience.

Under the able leadership of Mr. Cox, the orchestra interpreted selections from the masters and some numbers of a lighter class.

The sympathetic playing of Miss Silver's voice was brought out in full measure in her encore, "The Last Rose of Summer."

The program was satisfactory and marked the beginning of the career of Omaha's own symphony orchestra.

Some of the teachers were obliged to leave during the middle of the program, to make trains, but those who remained throughout the evening enjoyed every number.

The program contained the following announcements by the Publicity Bureau of the Commercial club:

"In presenting the Omaha Symphony orchestra under the direction of Henry Cox, Louise Jensen Wylie and Miss Hazel Silver, for your approval, the Bureau of Publicity desires to acquaint you with the fact that Nebraska and Omaha have produced musical talent the equal of any state or city in the union.

The orchestra, the largest musical organization of its kind ever assembled, is distinctly a Nebraska organization and has been a decided factor in the musical uplift of the state and city. In conforming to the educational spirit of the Nebraska State Teachers' association through the arrangement of the program, the director hopes to merit your approval, not only for the excellence and variety of the selections, but also for the uniform excellence of the interpretation of the orchestra and its individual members.

Thousands Watch The Shriners in Their Street Parade

Thousands of people watched the Shriner parade at Council Bluffs yesterday afternoon and pronounced it just about the best street demonstration ever seen there. There were nearly 1,000 Shriners in line and with the floats, bands and accessories the marching column was more than a half mile long.

The floats, representing choice spots in Arabia, the shrine and the camel, all told eloquent stories. Some of them hinted at gruesome eventualities, suggested by flaming cauldrons from which red-clad Imps lifted with sinning hot pitchforks fragments of human skeletons and dropped them back with splashing force.

The parade ended at the Bluffs Auditorium and when it dispersed the A. B. Beck patrol gave a series of the drills that have made it noted all over the continent. The men carried the Shriners' trophy won at San Francisco last year in competition with the Shriners of the United States.

The banquet at the Grand hotel was attended by more than 600 guests. What happened at the Auditorium after the doors shut out the profane world must not and cannot be told, but thirty-five men, garnered from all parts of western Iowa, can never forget it.

For the first time, perhaps, in Masonic history, a woman yesterday took a conspicuous part in the public portions of the ceremonial. She was the dainty little Mrs. Gene Brigant, the smallest woman in the world. In a sumptuously provided carriage were seated Mr. and Mrs. Brigant, and the vehicle was given a most prominent place in the parade.

Mr. Brigant made the perilous journey to the shrine several years ago, and the carriage in which he rode bore the inscription, "The smallest Shriner in the world." Mr. Brigant is thirty-one inches tall, and Mrs. Brigant is only twenty-eight. The presence of Mrs. Brigant was one of the interesting features of the parade.

Brings Souvenirs Presented by the Great Napoleon Himself

Medal of Bronze designed by Napoleon while he was in St. Helena, and the casting of these took nearly all that remain of Napoleon's fortune.

To Omaha to reside has come a man whose great grandfather was an intimate friend of Napoleon I, emperor of France, who, May 5, 1821, died a prisoner of war on the island of St. Helena. This man is Robert Place, who has accepted the position of art designer for the Deaton & Lahr company.

This great-grandfather was with Napoleon at the time of his death and three days before the soul of the "Little Corporal" took its flight, he was presented with a number of relics by the emperor.

These passed to the father of Mr. Place and subsequently came into the possession of the son, being regarded as most choice and valuable heirlooms.

Mr. Place came to Omaha recently, and with him he brought a large number of articles, all of which are historic and of great interest, but none are more highly valued than those that have to do with Napoleon, emperor of France, who dreamed of worlds to conquer, but who himself was conquered and died a prisoner of England, buried on the bleak shores of St. Helena, and later, his body returned to France.

Accident Reported On West Dodge Road

It was reported from Fremont yesterday that two men driving a Ford automobile had been overturned on the West Dodge road about ten miles out of Omaha and that they were supposed to live in Cortland, Neb., and had been brought to a hospital in Omaha. Inquiry at Cortland showed that Frank Shaffer, a garage owner, and A. C. Van Duse, a merchant of Cortland, had left for Omaha to trade early yesterday. No trace of the two men could be found by inquiries at the Omaha hospitals last night.

Bill Shellberg is the Hard Luck Kid

W. H. Shellberg of the South Side was the guest of the automobile good fellowship and good roads run of the Commercial club into Iowa territory Friday. He blew out four tires on the trip. A member of the crowd tells the story thus: "In every town we had to wait for Shellberg to come up. Whenever Shellberg got in we were ready to trot the horse and start. Then we would let him get clear out of sight and give him a lead of fifteen minutes before the rest of the cars would start. Out we would glide onto the splendid roads and sure enough a few miles out of town we would pass him toiling in the dust, jacking up the car and putting on a new tire."

HUMPHREY LYNCH IS LAID TO REST

Funeral Services Are Held for Pioneer Omahan and Father of County Commissioner.

MANY FRIENDS CROWD CHURCH

Funeral services for the late Humphrey Lynch, resident of Omaha for forty-eight years, were held at St. Peter's church Saturday morning. The church was crowded by friends who came to attend the last rites for the kindly-hearted old pioneer. Many city and county officials were among the number. A long procession of carriages and automobiles followed the body to St. Mary's cemetery, where it was interred.

The body was taken from the home, 1626 South Twenty-second street, at 9 o'clock, and at 9 o'clock services began at the church. A requiem mass was celebrated by Father McCarthy, assisted by Fathers Egan and Neilan. The Latin was interpreted by Father McCarthy.

In the sermon Father McCarthy told of the value of the life led by the kindly, unassuming man whose body lay in the church; of his toil to provide food for his family and of his faithfulness to his religion.

A vast quantity of flowers which had been sent by friends were heaped about the coffin. All the cut flowers were given by the family to St. Peter's church for devotional services, which will begin this Sunday.

Mr. Lynch leaves a widow and five sons: John C., county commissioner, and Humphrey, Michael, Frank and Phillip. The eldest son, Dennis, died during his enlistment as a soldier in the Spanish-American war.

The pallbearers were the following: George Storrs, William Maher, William McQuade, James Gorman, John Richer, and Willam Edmondson.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach. Says inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is really more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowels pore do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or heavy, furrowed tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, swollen complexion, others who have bilious attacks, acid stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly.—Advertisement
