of Miss Byers' schoolmates and friends, who led the march down the stairs carrying ropes of amilax, forming an aisle through which the bridal party marched to Mendelssohn's wedding march. The bride was led by the Rev. F. W. Leavitt, followed by F. C. Bailey, brother of the bride as best man, and the groom; then came the ring bearers, Mary Heitland and Dean Webster, dressed in white, each carrying a basket of roses which contained the rings. They were followed by Mrs. F. A. Thomas, sister of the bride and matron of honor.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white pussy-willow taffeta and chiffon with pearl ornaments, carrying a bouquet of white bridal roses.

The matron of honor wore a beautiful gown of yellow taffeta draped with silk net and yellow rose buds, and she carried a bouquet of yellow rose buds.

The bridal party assembled under a canopy of yellow and white chrysanthemums interwoven with wild amilax. The color scheme throughout was yellow and white.

The wedding was a quiet one and there were no attendants. Christmas decorations prevailed, and a reception followed the ceremony.

The bride wore her go-away suit of wisteria velvet, trimmed in fox fur, with hat to match, and she wore a corsage bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The young couple left last evening for Chicago on their wedding trip. After February 1 they will be at home at apartment No. 8, The Troy.
