Former Omahan Collects Four Blows, Two of Which Result in Runs.

KRUG AND JOHNSON IN WAR

One Arthur Thomason, once an inhabitant of these parts, made four hits yesterday. And therein lies the story of defeat for the battling Rourkes at the hands of the lowly Links from Lincoln, by the narrow margin of 3 to 2.

In the opening stanza of the combat Mr. Thomason cracked a twobase clout and scored on Lober's like hit. And in the eighth inning Tommy delivered a single when two men were on the sacks, counting a second run. The two runs gave the hostiles from the Salt Creek their victory. Tommy has changed a lot, he never used to do those kind of things in

All in all it wasn't a bad ball game

All in all it wasn't a bad ball game, except, of course, that Omaha lost the game. Both Carl East and Harry Krause hurled a nice brand of base ball and the fray was quite snappy. For five innings the Rourkes failed to nick a hit off East. In the sixth Smith breezed a single and in the seventh Shag Thompson smacked one against the right field boards, but it wasn't until the eighth that the Rourkes were able to assemble their hits into a crowd. In this frame with two down, Burg singled, Krause doubled and Smithy hit safely again, with the result that two runs clattered across the rubber.

Plenty of Excitement.

Plenty of Excitement.

Some excitement marked the start and finish of the fray. In the opening stanza Matry Krug and Hick Johnson got into an argument. Krug was at the bat and he accused Hick of tipping his club with his mitt. Hick denied the charge in heated terms and Marty resented Hick's reply. Both "choosed" each other, Marty with his bat in hand, and Hick with his mask protecting his face. Umps Kane stepped between the two men. Kane stepped between the two men, then thought better of it and got be-hind Marty from which point of vant-age he chucked 'em both out of the

In the ninth a decision by Umps Anderson aroused the ire of the bleacherites and a couple of peeved fans sailed pop bottles in his way while others contented themselves by referring to his ability, or lack of it, in uncomplimentary tones.

WRESTLING MATCH IS THING OF PAST

Stecher Offers to Wrestle Lewis for the Receipts, but Strangler Kicks Out.

MELADY THROWS UP HANDS

BY FRED S. HUNTER. The Stecher-Lewis match is now thing of the past.

Yesterday afternoon following thirty-six hours of deliberation during which the farcical match was viewed and discussed from every angle, Gene Melady decided to call 1 it quits, give the wrestlers their money and have it over with once and for all.

Melady made his decision late yes terday afternoon after a second conference with the Stecher and the Lewis force. Until this time he con-tinued to hang onto the money and refused to give the wrestlers their bit. When he called the second conference yesterday afternoon, Melady put it up to both weestlers. "Are you willing to give the public a fair shake?" he asked.

Stecher Speaks Up.

Stecher Speaks Up.

Joe Hetmanek, speaking for Stecher, immediately spoke up and declared in most emphatic tones that Joe was perfectly willing to resume with Lewis any time. "We'll wrestle Lewis," said Hetmanek, "tomorrow, next week, or next year. We don't care when or where."

Billy Sandow, manager for Lewis, demurred. He pleaded the excuse that Lewis is booked solid for the next four months in the west. On July 15 Lewis goes to Butte, Mont., where he is carded to tangle with Pat Connelly and he continues from there to the Pacific coast where he is slated for a bout with Adolph Ernst. Pleading the press of these engagements, Sandow said it would be impossible for Lewis to wrestle Stecher again.

It was also intimated that sui It was also intimated that suit would be brought if Melady did not turn over the wrestlers' share of the receipts. Lewis, of course, had the edge of the argument, because Melady could not legally hold the money from the wrestlers after Referee Sith's draw decision and he was even Enough Is Enough.

Discussion of the Tuesday match became calm yesterday. Apparently everybody had completely succumbed to the stinging and wanted to forget it. Those persons who, Wednesday, were clamboring for a continuation of the match, ceased their agitation and were ready to call it finis. Disgust for the whole thing had successfully displaced all soreness.

That wrestling has made adead is-
