July 11.28. This drop in the market was caused in some degree by hedging sales and profit-taking by the longs. There was an aritys interest in corn, De-cember ruling 1% lower and the May arti-cle gaining %. The range on oats was very harrow and base was very little local interest in this market.

Wheat futures were rather unsteady today and the opening prices on this article were fractionally lower. There was a sharp rally on the buying side about noon, but it did not last and the market sold off, the December raching a low point of $1.54, the May $1.54% and uity $1.35.
