IT IS TIME TO SHOW HIM UP

By A. R. GROH. A certain ignorant creature has been pretending for years to be wise. Today I shall smite this creature. I shall tear from him his mask of intelligence. I shall hurl him from his pedestal. And I shall leave him lying there a laughing stock of those whom he has so long deceived. The creature that is to feel my wrath is none other than the groundhog. Today is his day, you know. Today it is supposed he issues from his burrow. If he sees his shadow he becomes frightened and rushes into his hole again. And this, we are told, is a sign that winter will continue yet forty days. I shall place this superstition beneath the merciless rays of my logic. I shall rend it root from branch. I shall leave it not a leg to stand on. The metaphors are mixed, it is true. But this is no time to think of metaphors. Forward to the argument!

Has no Calenda.

In the first place, how does the groundhog know when February 2 comes? He hasn't and calendar hanging in his burrow. He knows no more of calendars than a cat does of trigonometry. In the second place, he wouldn't be scared by his shadow. Don't believe it. He is a courageous little cuss. The cyclopaedia says: "The woodchuck, groundhog, or Maryland marmot (Arctomys monax) will often successfully contend with a dog of larger size than itself." In the third place, suppose that he did know when February 2 came and did rush back into his hole, how would that cause the immediate arrival of gentle springs? At this startling climax of my argument I pause for reply. Nobody answers. My logic is unanswerable. Be no Longer Deceived. Good people, let us rouse ourselves from this superstition. Let us refuse any longer to be influenced by the mythical sagacity of this fellow. He is a fraud. He is nothing but a low, common, vulgar rodent. I cast it in your teeth, groundhog, woodchuck, Maryland marmot or whatever you call yourself. You are an impostor. You wouldn't know a calendar from a calabash. You lie there in the dried grass in your burrow all winter and you never do wake up until the warm sun of spring has thawed you out. Ha, ha! I laugh at you, woodchuck. I laugh in your face, groundhog. Go ahead. Eat your clover and cabbages and beans, as the cyclopaedia says you do, but don't try to pose as a forty-day weather forecaster. You can't get away with it. Not while brave and outspoken men are guarding the liberties of the people.

Five Minutes to Convict

It took a jury in Judge Troup's court just five minutes to return a verdict of guilty in the case of Eloy Mitchell, a negro, charged with having strong-armed and robbed Charles Curtis at Thirtieth street and Capitol avenue. Curtis lost $12 in the holdup. Mitchell may be sentenced from six to fifteen years in the state penitentiary for the crime of highway robbery. Fine Fireplace Goods—Sunderland. Women Sleep White Burglars Rob the Home Furs, silverware, and jewels to a total value of $650 were stolen Wednesday night by burglars who gained entrance to Mrs. Thomas Brown's home at 1824 Wirt street by means of a side door that had been left open. Mrs. Brown and her two daughters occupied rooms on the second floor, but were not awakened and did not discover the loss until morning. Mrs. Brown arose and when she went downstairs she found a side door open and the rooms bitterly cold. A hurried inspection disclosed that all of the lower rooms had been ransacked and everything of value taken that could be easily carried away. Mrs. Brown believes that burglars have it in for her particularly. This is the third time she has been robbed. "Two years ago all of the plumbing was removed from my house at 2106 Cass street," said Mrs. Brown, "and last year a lot of plumbing and other things were stolen from my barn. This year they robbed my house and goodness only knows what they will do next."

Many More Deeds Filed

In January Than Last Year Harry Pearce, county registrar of deeds, predicts the most prosperous building year in Omaha's history. He is basing his prediction on the business transacted in his office this year. He is comparing it with that of January, 1916, the start of the heretofore banner year. The receipts for January, 1917, were $1,597.30, as compared with $1,376.35 in the same month of the previous year. Five hundred and twenty-one deeds were recorded, as compared with 432 in January, 1916. The number of instruments recorded was 1,312, as against 1,116 in the same month a year ago.

Burgess-Nash Store is Now a Contract Station

The mail station in the Burgess-Nash store has been changed from a classified to a contract station. This, according to Postmaster Fanning, will result in the store giving better service than ever to its patrons. Under the old plan the government was limited to the amount of help it could keep at the store. Now the help is furnished by Burgess-Nash. The station is one of the busiest in the city, selling about $1,000 worth of stamps daily.

But Few Spectators at Brief Session of Court

Thursday's session of police court, in the belief of attorneys of that dignified tribunal, was one of the briefest in recent years. But eight cases were on the docket, and these were disposed of in less than half an hour. Absence of spectators was another feature of the session. Scores of persons, many of them regular attendants, were kept away by low temperatures, and benches set aside for the crowds usually present were vacant.

Ignorant Creature Has Been Posing as a Long-Distance Weather Man Too Long.

Firemen Rush to Six Small Fires Within Two Hours

Six fire alarms in less than two hours Thursday morning between 7 and 9 o'clock, scared Omaha firemen into the belief that another day of fires, such as marked the recent cold snap, was on. None of the fires, however, caused any considerable damage. At 7 o'clock an alarm came in from the home of Frank Malm, 520 North Thirty-second street, where sparks had set fire to the roof. This was quickly extinguished. At 7:20 an alarm was answered at South Thompson's home, 2801 South Thirty-second avenue. Water pipes had burst in the furnace and the door was blown off. This filled the house with smoke, but there was no fire. Ten minutes later firemen were called upon to extinguish a rubbish fire in the basement of a house at 530 South Twenty-fifth street, occupied by Mrs. Paul Martin. Sparks set fire to the roof of Mrs. Jane Stribbling's home at 2708 Lake street and an alarm was answered there at 8:50. The blaze was put out before it caused much damage. H. C. Myers, 1413 North Thirty-fourth street, asked for aid at 8:40. The wall paper caught fire in the kitchen as the result of an overheated stovepipe. Smoke in a cafe on Thirteenth street between Douglas and Farnam, caused some one to turn in an alarm at 8:42. The smoke was due to an attempt to thaw out frozen water pipes.

HOW I KILLED MY SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

Hindoo Secret Banned It So It Never Returned After Electricity and Many Depilatories Had Failed. LET ME HELP YOU ABSOLUTELY FREE. Until nearly middle age I was sorely troubled by hideous Superfluous Hairs. My face was a sight with a heavy moustache on my lip and a patch beard on my chin. My arms were also heavily covered. I tried one thing after another without success. The electric needle only made the growth worse. Finally my husband, an Officer in the British Army, secured from a Native Hindoo Soldier (whose life he saved) the closely guarded secret of the Hindoo religion, which forbids Hindoo Women to have even the slightest trace of hair on any part of their body except that on their head. I used it and in a few days my hair-growth had entirely disappeared. Today not a trace of it can be found. I will send, free and without obligation to anyone full information and complete instructions so you can follow my example and completely destroy all traces of hair on your face without having to resort to the dangerous electric needle. I will send you money on worthless depilatory preparations and complete my name and address, stating whether Mrs. or Miss. All I ask is that you send me a 2c stamp for return postage. Address Mrs. Frederica Hudson, Suite 412 N. E. North Main St., Attleboro, Mass.

This condition lasted for four months. Then I began to take CARDUI. Before I had taken one bottle I felt as if I would never have another one of those spells; but I kept on until I had taken two bottles, because I wanted to be completely cured. I am only too glad that I can write these few words. That some lady may be benefited by this great medicine the same as I have." USED 20 YEARS
