Mrs. Walter Page Donates Twenty-Six U. S. Railroads Three Thousand Bibles, Which Will Be Distributed by Gould Dietz.

Mrs. Walter Page has donated 3,000 cloth-bound New Testaments to he distributed by Gould Dietz, local Red Cross chairman, among the Nebraska soldiers...

"I know personally of instances among the European armies of men cutting their Bibles into sections in order to share them with their courades who were starving for a little spiritual uplift," said Mrs. Page. "While my share will be only a drop in the bucket, I rust that it may be an incentive to others to do likewise. Malcom Baldrige was given the first Bible of the lot.

F. P. Foisie, who spoke on Red Cross work said in response to her offer: "We cannot do too much to protect our men from the degrading influences which surround them on the battletronts. When we know what stands behind war, with all its brutal cutting their Bibles into sections in the battletronts. When we know what stands behind war, with all its brutal atrocities, it is well to begin early to look after the right kind of influence."

Mrs. Page's 18-year-old son, Richard, who is in preparatory school at Lawrenceville, leaves June 1 for France, where he will be an ambulance driver. Mrs. Page leaves within week to look him work the leaves.
