of Business

T. A. Blakeslee, President.
H. F. Carson, Secretary.
Corner O and 14th Sts.
Lincoln, Neb.

High school students should carry out their plans of going to college and professional school students should continue their studies. Such are the conclusions reached by President Thwing of Western Reserve, who has just completed a thorough canvass of the situation. These conclusions supplement very nicely the conclusions reached by other educators. Never was the need of trained men greater. Never was it more evident that the untrained man is a liability rather than an asset. Every college, university, or technical school should keep its faculty and student body intact and all should redouble their energies and concentrate them on those things that will be of most service during the progress of the war and which will prepare their students for the most effective service of the country and of the world when the war is over. In an open letter addressed to high school principals, Prof. Thwing discusses what he believes to be the attitude of boys under age in the high schools and colleges and of college young men, especially those in certain professional courses.

Should Carry Out Plans.

President Thwing says that the judgment of leaders, civil and military, with whom he has conferred recently is unanimous that all students in the high school should carry out their plans of going on with their education. He says that untrained they would be a liability rather than an asset. Later the government may need them and then it will need them very much. When that need arises they will be better fitted to fall in and do their patriotic duty.

President Thwing says: "This condition has an illustration in the counsel which the medical advisors of the government are giving to medical and pre-medical students. This counsel is for such students to enter upon, to continue and to complete, their medical and hospital course."

"The country will need able and thoroughly trained citizens in the army and navy and many other fields of service, both men and women, three and six years from this time.
The present, therefore, is the time for high school students to go on with their education, in order to make their power for service greatest and lasting."

Claxton Gives Same Advice.

President Thwing's advice receives hearty endorsement in a bulletin just issued by Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education.
The Official Bulletin, published by the committee on public information, of which George Creel is chairman, says:
"The number of students in colleges, universities and technical schools should increase rather than diminish. Many of the older and upper class men will volunteer for some branch of the military service, but all young men below the age of liability to selective draft and those not recommended for special service should be urged to remain and take full advantage of the opportunities offered by the colleges, universities and technical schools, to the end that they may be able to render the most effective service in the later years of the war and the times of need that will follow. Practically all women students should remain, and all boys and girls graduating from high schools

St. Mary's College, Winona

We present herewith a front view of St.
Mary's college for boys and young men.
The college is situated on a tract of 125 acres of land just outside the corporation limits of the city of Winona, Minn., and is admirably adapted for serious work while should be urged to enter college, technical or normal schools.

"All students should be made to understand that it is their duty to give to their country and to the world the best and fullest possible measure of service, and that both will need more than they will get of that high type of service which only men and women of the best education and training can give. Patriotism and the desire to serve humanity may require of these young men and women the exercise of that very high type of self-restraint that will keep them to their tasks of preparation until the time comes when they can render service which cannot be rendered by others."—Boston

Rev. John Calvert Defeats Hannighen For City Net Title

Rev. John Calvert won the tennis championship of Omaha by defeating Clarey Hannighen in the final round of the city tennis tourney at the Omaha Field club, Calvert won from Han-nighen, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.
The match was fast from start to finish, with the result in doubt until the last game had been played.
The minister got away to a flying start by winning the first set, but his youthful opponent came back strong and won the second set, Mr. Calvert braced and won the third set, but fell back to the defensive again in the fourth set and lost.
But young Hannighen's energy had been expended and the minister brought home the victory by winning the fifth and deciding set in more or less easy fashion.
