Little Boy Injured in Accident Improves

Robert Hastings, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron R. Hastings, spent a fairly good night at Edmondston hospital in Council Bluffs following the automobile wreck north of Council Bluffs, in which he was badly injured and rendered unconscious. Surgeons now hold out a good hope for his recovery, though they have not yet been able to examine him thoroughly for fractures and for internal injuries.

The Bee's Free Milk and Ice Fund

A woman sends $5 to the fund, stating that she knows Mrs. J., whose case was described in The Bee last Monday. She has Mrs. J.'s name and address correct and has visited her and knows the fine, brave struggle she is making. "I want this to buy ice and more milk for this little mother in need of help," this woman writes.

A man came into the office and left $1, "for Mrs. J."

And so the contributions come for this most deserving cause, the supplying of pure milk and cooling ice to poor families whose babies and tiny children struggle for life in the sweltering weather of summer.

Every cent that you give to this fund goes to this purpose. The visiting nurses investigate the cases and spend the money so that not one penny is wasted.

Will you help? Bring or send any sum from 10 cents to $5 to The Bee office to help the little babies of the poor to life and health.

Boys of the Fifth Nursing Sore Arms After Two Vaccinations

The majority of the members of the machine gun company of the Fifth Nebraska are nursing sore arms up at the armory.

Ten days ago the company in a body was inoculated for both smallpox and typhoid. The vaccination is taking—and then some.

Many of the boys are quite ill from the effects of the double dose. Thursday the second dose of typhoid inoculation (there must be three) was given them. All drilling is at a standstill now and Captain Gardner and his aides are getting some experience in nursing.

Drs. J. P. Lord and H. M. Fitzgibbons of Omaha have volunteered their service in caring for the men.

Has any kind-hearted person in Omaha a water cooler to give away? There are ninety men of the Fifth Nebraska up at the armory without any method of keeping water cool these blistering days. And you know drilling makes one powerful thirsty. They are sleeping on cots there and putting up with many inconven-

RAILROADS HELP WAR PREPARATION

Most Satisfactory Results Under the New System of Assigning Railroad Cars.

Advices coming to the Omaha war board, sent by the Council on National Defense, indicate that the team work done by the railroads during the last thirty days has been attended with most satisfactory results. The secretary of the Council on National Defense says that within thirty days after the first order for cantonment material had been placed the railroads had delivered more than 12,000 carloads of lumber and other building material on the ground at the sixteen camps.

Citing what was done in the way of speeding up, the secretary of the council says in the construction of cantonment buildings in Louisville, Ky., the pine trees were cut down Saturday and sawed into lumber the same day down in a Mississippi forest. Sunday the lumber was kiln dried, loaded Monday for shipment and Wednesday used in the construction of buildings that that night housed soldiers.

Up to July 31 the railroads had delivered 64,000 carloads of lumber and other building material on the sixteen cantonment sites.

Municipal Guard to Be Uniformed Like Regulars

The Kountze company of the Muni Guard drilled for the eighth time on Friday night and showed the average improvement in the drill. Captain Hall, assisted by his two lieutenants and his first sergeant, were kept busy handling the twelve new recruits who enlisted yesterday.

The company can now execute the sound movements, which are very difficult for new recruits to handle. The discipline of the company has developed to such a point that there is absolutely no talking in the drill.

Since at the captains' meeting this week it has been decided to try to outfit the company organizations in uniforms similar to those of the regular soldier of the United States and since no other means has presented itself as a solution of the cost of this, B company of Kountze park has taken upon itself to furnish the uniforms by subscribing funds from the neighborhood.

After the banks had been emptied and the savings turned into the company fund the men of the company went out for subscriptions. This proved very popular, as the parents and friends of the young Americans contributed liberally to the cause and $22 was obtained in the period of one day.

The object of this organization is to prepare the younger generation in military tactics so that in a case of emergency they may be used as couriers in aid of better trained forces. These recruits are receiving the same line of drill and in the same form that the soldiers in the regular army are taught.

Captain Long of the regular army is the commandant of the organization and is backed by efficient high school and guardsmen officers.

Captain Hall of the Kountze company has issued an appeal to the residents of this district for their aid and co-operation in the drill and in the matter of uniforms.

Louie Ahko Arrested on Charge of Liquor Selling

Louie Ahko, proprietor of a restaurant at 1417 Harney street, was arrested last night by Sergeant Russell and Officer Anderson of the morals squad on the charge of selling intoxicating liquors.

A quart of whisky and a like amount of brandy were seized by the officers.

Military Notes

Captain Clarence R. Day is among the officers on duty in Hawaii ordered to San Francisco for further orders of assignment.

Victor Caldwell has made the aviation corps at Snelling, having transferred to it from the field artillery.

Casper Offutt has passed his examination for the diplomatic corps, according to a notice in one of the Washington papers.

Casper came down from Christmas lake Monday with his grandfather, C. E. East, but has returned to the lake again.

Warren Harries, younger son of General Harries, has arrived from the training camp at Fort Meyer, Va., to see his father, who is up from headquarters at Lincoln.

Young Harries was studying law at Georgetown university when he applied for entrance to the officers' training camp. It is probable that he will be on his father's staff. His elder brother, Herbert Harries, is a major of infantry and is instructor at one of the California camps.

Major Harries is a West Pointer who left the army to go into business and has been recalled for duty.

Your Confidence Is Capital

MUCH of the power of a business, as in man, is hidden awaiting an occasion to reveal it.

The swift-moving world-events of the past few months have brought such an occasion to the doors of every business house in America.

These are days when a business must probe well beneath the surface, grasp essentials, eliminate trivialities, and stand forth with an unflinching strength that can come only from an unshakable confidence in itself.

In this store that "confidence" is not alone a sure and certain knowledge of its resources and power, it is far more. That confidence is in reality the capital, not in money, but in something far more valuable, which the people of this community have invested in it for the past three and one-half years.

That capital is good will, an abiding understanding that the aims of this store are to benefit both the seller and the buyer alike—that it may be the "Greatest Service to the Greatest Number."

This store stands ready now with all its latent power fully aroused to pay interest many fold on that investment.
