

"The Morning After"

(By DR. L. W. BOWER.)

One of the characteristic headaches due to uric acid in the system, which acts as a poison when it accumulates, is due to alcohol taken the night before. The kidneys do not succeed in throwing off this poisonous accumulation, the stomach is nauseated, or the blood congests in the head, causing throbbing pain called headache—the heart is depressed, circulation of blood poor to the extremities, the muscles feel tired or twinges of pain here and there are felt, and when this uric acid is deposited in the tissues or joints it causes rheumatism or gout. I always advise the drinking of hot water, a half pint in the morning, and a little Anuric. Some times the "blues," or a sort of rash, or a pimply face, gives warning of an "uric acid storm." At such times always take Anuric (double strength), which can be obtained at almost any drug store, and which you will find dissolves the uric acid almost as hot water does sugar.

Avoid too much meat, tea and alcohol. Drink an abundance of water, both hot and cold. Take Anuric three times a day until the bad symptoms all subside. This is the best way to avoid rheumatism and many of the pains and aches due to a uric acid condition. If you drink any alcoholic beverage you should keep the kidneys and liver active with Anuric, so as to throw off the poisons which accumulate. If your tongue is coated—a dark brown taste, breath foul, followed sometimes by colds, indigestion, biliousness, constipation or sour acid stomach, you should take some vegetable laxative. Such a one is made in sugar-coated form from the May-apple, leaves of aloe and root of jalap, and commonly sold by almost all druggists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are standard and have been in ready-to-use form for nearly fifty years.—Adv.

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get mulsified coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Adv.

ALLEGE BASIS FOR DAMAGES WANTED*Common Law Wife of Murdered Man Tells of Purchasing Whisky at Saloon of James Kahout.

An echo of the Louis McCarthy murder case, which occurred on South Sixth street last week, was heard in police court Wednesday morning when James Kahout, ex-saloonkeeper at Sixth and Pacific streets, was fined $100 and costs for illegally transporting liquor. The charge was made that he carried the liquor from 1210 South Sixth street to 1010 Center street.

Kahout testified that before he closed his saloon on May 1 he sent home ten barrels of beer and during the month of May made it a custom to take home with him a jug of whisky every night.

Bonnie Walters, a former comrade of Viola Smith, who is now held under $5,000 bond for appearance in the district court for the murder of McCarthy, testified that about the middle of May she and another woman entered Kahout's soft drink emporium and were greeted by Kahout, who served them with whisky and gingerale. She testified he then produced more whisky, which they drank, finally consuming all Kahout had at his soft drink parlor. It was alleged that he brought the liquor from his home to the parlor.

Frank Hassen and Ed Mullen, recently arrested for transporting liquor in a concealed tank inside the gasoline tank of an automobile, declared they secured the liquor from Kahout. Kahout was cleared on a second complaint of illegally having liquor in his possession.

It was the contention of Attorney John Moriarity, who represented Kahout, that the complainants were attempting to form the basis for a heavy damage suit against Kahout for possible connection with the killing of McCarthy.

Sore-Legs No Alibi; Draws Fifteen Dollars and Costs

Ray declared that he had been working so hard recently that his legs were sore, disclaiming the alleged acquaintance with the flowing bowl.

Highest Price Ever Paid For West Harney Property

A deal involving the highest price ever paid for Harney street property west of Twenty-fourth street has just been closed, in which the old William Wallace brick residence at 2420 Harney street, was transferred to Charles W. Partridge of Los Angeles on a ninety-nine-year lease.

The ground is 75x142 feet. The seventy-five-foot frontage is on Harney street. The valuation fixed was $40,000, which makes it $533 a front foot.

The building is occupied by the Nurses' Register association. Mrs. Janet M. Curtis and Miss Mary Wallace, heirs of the late William Wallace, were the owners of the property. Mr. Partridge formerly lived in Omaha and has dealt in Omaha property for many years. He is one of the men of whom it is said that he never took hold of a piece of property without making money on it. The fact that he has lived now for some time in Los Angeles and dealt in coast property and still has come back to Omaha to make a Harney street investment of such proportions, paying the highest price ever paid on Harney street west of Twenty-fourth, is looked upon by the real estate men as an indication of what his judgment must be of Omaha values.

George & Co. conducted the negotiations for the Wallace heirs and Harrison & Morton acted for Mr. Partridge.

Moves to Iowa After Affectionate Greeting

Fannie Gamble, 411 North Sixteenth street, arrested by Officer Chapman for vagrancy, could not control her affections for Judge Fitzgerald in Wednesday morning's police court.

"Good morning, judge, dear," was Fannie's greeting. The court blushed profusely.

"Oh, I beg your pardon, you honor darling," stammered Fannie, getting in still deeper.

Asked by Judge Fitzgerald if she ever drank liquor, Fannie declared: "I hope to be struck dead, my heart paralyzed and my eyes blinded if I ever tasted alcohol."

On the promise that she would start walking for Iowa two minutes after she left police court, Judge Fitzgerald waved her toward the main entrance.

Two Mouthfuls and Costs Judge Fitzgerald's Verdict

A cavity in the mouth of William O'Brien almost proved to be his undoing at the police station Wednesday when a $5 bill, which he had put in his mouth to hide from the officers, became solidly lodged in the missing tooth.

Patrol Conductor Coffey and Detective Pete Jolly, uniting their efforts, which O'Brien slightly resisted, were able to pick the five spot from his mouth with an improvised toothpick. O'Brien was assessed two mouthfuls and costs.
