Bodies of General and Mrs. Dodge in Last Resting Place

The new Dodge Memorial mausoleum in Walnut Hill cemetery, Council Bluffs, was dedicated Tuesday. The bodies of General Grenville M. Dodge and Mrs. Ruth Anne Dodge were laid in their final resting place.

The services were private, only the three daughters, Mrs. Lettice Dodge Montgomery, Mrs. Eleanor Dodge Pusey and Miss Anne Dodge, and several old family attendants being present.

Rev. T. J. Mackay of All Saints' church, Omaha, an old friend of the family, delivered the address. He referred to the sepulcher in the land of Canaan, where lie the bodies of Abraham and Sarah, of Isaac and Rebecca, of Jacob and Leah. Continuing, he said:

"Today we are to set apart this beautiful building to the memory of a brave man who served his country during the war of the rebellion. It is meet and right that we should honor the memory of such a man and it is a credit to the state of his birth that here in this western land such a building should be erected to perpetuate his loyalty and the constancy and devotion of his faithful wife."

The Elks quartet, composed of C. F. Haverstock, Omaha, and J. F. McCarter, J. R. Gerke and A. E. Bengtson, Council Bluffs, sang at the services.

Little Loretta Borhoff, Omaha's talented child dancer, delighted the audience with several costume dances, in which she performed exquisitely.

Students to Talk For Food Cause in Schools This Week

Miss Julia Newcomb has coached 22 boys and girls of her eighth B class at Park school in a series of short talks and recipes in connection with food conservation week in the schools beginning Monday.

These young people will visit all rooms of their school and address the pupils. They have read bulletins and circulars which have been issued on food conservation and are prepared to promote this movement to the best of their ability.

Every phase of conservation will be covered. One of the girls will explain the value of corn and why it should be used more generally as food. Another girl will tell of fats and another will emphasize the importance of avoiding waste sugar at the bottom of tea or coffee cups.

Clara B. Mason, principal of the school, encouraged this work as being of educational as well as patriotic value. Some of these boys and girls will deliver talks in other schools and they are willing to go to any place where they may be needed.

During the week the teachers and upper-grade boys and girls will canvass the city with pledge cards to be signed by householders who will agree to co-operate in the nation-wide food conservation movement. ### Suffragists Pleared With President's Latest Letter

Local suffrage enthusiasts are rejoicing over a letter written by President Wilson as a boost for their cause in New York and given out by Mrs. Catt, to whom it is addressed. The letter reads:

"I am not to express to you my very deep interest in the campaign in New York for the adoption of woman suffrage, and may I not say that I hope that no voter will be influenced in his decision with regard to this great matter by anything the so-called pickets may have done here in Washington? However justly they may have laid themselves open to serious criticism, their action represents, I am sure, so small a fraction of the women of the country who are urging the adoption of woman suffrage that it would be most unfair and argue a narrow view to allow their actions to prejudice the cause itself. I am very anxious to see the great state of New York set a great example in this matter.

Nine-Hour Female Labor Law May Be Waived During War

On account of the scarcity of labor, prosecutions for violations of the nine-hour female labor law in Nebraska may possibly be waived during the period of the war, on account of scarcity of labor.

Directors of the Omaha Manufacturers' association have suggested it to the State Council of Defense. At the last meeting of the association, a committee headed by Penn P. Fodrea, was appointed to take the matter up with the state council. The recommendation made embodies three main points:

First—That no female be required to work overtime, but that all overtime must be voluntary.

Second—That overtime shall not exceed three hours in any one day.

Third—That overtime shall not be worked more than four days in any one week.

The Omaha manufacturers held conferences with their employees before making the recommendations, and it is understood that a great many of the women wish to work overtime if the law will permit it.

"Helping Kaiser," Wattles Tells Food Pledge Slacker

Someone in Nebraska wrote a "don't sign" letter to State Food Administrator G. W. Wattles, and said he would not sign the food pledge card. Mr. Wattles declined to make public the man's name, but wrote him a letter and, among other things, said:

"By withholding your support to the nation-wide campaign for membership in the federal food administration, you are doing precisely what the German emperor would like to have you do. If enough of our women in this country follow your example and the food administration plan for a national organization is defeated, the kaiser will be greatly pleased and will be encouraged to go on with the war and it will probably cost the lives of many thousands of our young men, which might have been saved if all citizens of this country had presented a solid front on all propositions inaugurated to help win the war.

"You intimate that you do not need to sign a pledge, because you are already saving food. Your example and influence would no doubt assist in securing others to save food, but if you refuse to join, you stand in the same position as the Russian soldiers, who refused or neglected to obey the commands of their officers and by so doing they pleased the German emperor, but their own army was defeated."
