Church Club Buys Liberty Bond.

R. P. C. C. club sounds very mysterious, but it is really very simple. Remnant of the Pilgrim Congregational Church is the name that the initials stand for and the little club is composed of 19 women who worked together in this church which was located at Forty-first and Dodge streets about sixteen years ago. When the church disbanded the members scattered to other denominations, but these 19 women have not drifted apart, for they have met once a month at each other's homes just for the sake of "auld lang syne."

Sewing has been done in the past at the meetings for certain needy families which have been brought to the attention of the club. Imbued with the spirit of patriotism they have decided to buy a Liberty bond and the members will be taxed 25 cents a month to help pay for it. Orders for comforts will also be taken to help swell the bond fund.

Mrs. Josephine Carr is the president of this enterprising group of women and Mrs. George Hurd is secretary.

The others members are: Mrs. C. C. Shimer, Mrs. Elizabeth Tyner, Mrs. W. A. Wilcox, Mrs. Thomas Dunlop, Mrs. Alice Shaddock, Mrs. George Hurd, Mrs. Mary Stethman, Mrs. Flora Kehoe, Mrs. V. A. Webber, Mrs. D. C. Prall, Mrs. G. Ekstrom, Mrs. F. J. Shaw, Mrs. C. T. Tobey, Mrs. Elizabeth Gibb, Mrs. Mary Knight, Mrs. John Lloyd, Mrs. L. J. Blake and Mrs. Elizabeth Knight.

Advice to Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a girl of 20, seeking advice. I have a brother who is just 22. He is very attractive looking and of course the girls are crazy about him. Having lost both our parents we were shunted about. I try and keep home just as mother did, but my brother refuses to work. Now Miss Fairfax, I cannot keep home on $9 a week and support two. By that I mean my brother wants a new suit every two weeks or hat, shoes, etc. He does not think that I have any sense and as a housekeeper for that money. I've tried to tell him, but he told a young man that works in my place of business, "What is the good of working when your sister works for you?" I felt hurt over that remark and I spoke to him. He says he will not work as long as he is at home. It would break my heart to turn him out, as he was mother's ideal.

HEART BROKEN SISTER.

From what you write, I gather that your brother is a weakling of that contemptible sort that gladly permits a woman to work for his support. In allowing this, you are doing the boy a frightful injustice. No man who has a real respect for himself will let a woman work to support him. In working that he may be idle, you are encouraging the boy in his desire for life with ease and luxury, and in a selfish and even vicious feeling that it doesn't matter who works for him as long as he works in any way that will support him. If kindness won't help, he must be forced to make his own way. He may have to learn in the school of hardship and adversity, but he must be saved from turning into the most contemptible of all creatures, a man who sets back in callous brutality and lets a woman slave to support him.

Go to Her Parents.

Dear Miss Fairfax: I am engaged to a girl 19 years of age and she has been my girl for four years. We have been going out together until recently, when for some reason or other her parents have decided to go out with me alone. There hasn't been any explanation on her parents' part except what I hear from her, as she is the only daughter. I think the disappearance of so many young girls has taken a deep effect upon them. I am deeply in love with the girl and I know my love is reciprocated. It would simply be useless for us to separate. I am in a good position and am well able to support a wife, therefore I would like your advice. S. C. W.

If you have a perfectly clear conscience, as your letter leads me to suppose you have, the explanation may be what you suggest.

In any event, the thing for you to do is to go to the girl's parents and ask them if they really mean to separate you from the daughter you love and want to marry. By the way, have you ever gone to her parents and told them of your intentions and hopes in regard to their daughter?

When Milady Goes Shopping

Women and children are doing fine, but how about the men who furnish only chin music for the tramp of loyal feet! Which slice o' life do they belong to? : : :

By ADELAIDE KENNERLY.

A LITTLE SLICE OF LIFE.

She had three heavy bundles And she thought, "What a shame! She got off the car at my street and I offered to carry the heavy bundles in addition to my own, when I saw she was going my way. A large gentleman had got off the car just when we did and he hurried on up the street. In the bundles she had three electric flat-irons And several dictionaries. I thought. It was a back-breaking trip of five blocks. The large man ahead of us turned in at a cafe.

When we came to same gate she turned in And said: "I live here. Thank you so much. "But the big guy who turned in here?" I said. "The man who got off the car when we did." He turned in here, too. "Yes," she replied sweetly. "He's my husband. And he just hates to carry packages through the street. Thank you so much."

Roy K. Moulton, of the New York Evening Mail staff, wrote the above. Roy knows more than a wee bit about these uneven slices o' life, too. He observes.

Now that Uncle Sam is calling our boys and young men in such great numbers to the front, the little fellows and the women are asked to "fall in line and help."

Are they doing it?

Well, I want to announce to the world that they are!

Boys are being excused from school to help out the farms during the harvesting season.

Boys are working after school on delivery wagons. Boys are turning in and doing work that men did prior to the call to the colors.

Women are stepping into positions which were formerly held by men in order that the "American machinery" may be kept in running order; that our boys in service may be clothed and properly fed; that the little children's education may go on just the same as in normal times.

In the homes women are doubling their activities and rallying to the "cause" in fine style. They are carrying home many of their bundles; they are shopping more consistently than ever before; they are more reasonable and less prudish.

The women and children are coming through with colors flying, but how about the men who are under the exemption line because of their age or physical defects or some other reason? We have a certain class of men who furnish chin music and little else. They shout about Germany, they applaud the allies and talk conservation and what-not, but when it comes right down to brass tacks, what are they doing to win the war? Many of the are not even willing to carry their bundles home because of false pride.

Every time I see a man carrying unruly packages home through the crowd, and on a crowded car, I cannot help believing that he is doing his bit and maybe his most. Anyway he doesn't belong to Roy K. Moulton's "Little Slice of Life" kind of men. He is doing more than furnishing chin music for the tramp of loyal feet who carry their bundles.

It is up to the women, sometimes, to point out to their husbands, and sons, and brothers, which slice of life they belong to. Now is the time to start.

Boy Scouts of America Will Compel U. S. Boy Scouts to Change Name

The Boy Scouts of America has begun a suit to protect its name and the words "Boy Scouts" and "scouting." This action is brought by its attorney, former Justice Charles E. Hughes, against the "United States Boy Scout." The Boy Scouts of America has a federal charter and is the only boys' organization in the United States specifically authorized to wear a uniform, any part of which is similar to the uniform of the United States navy, army or marine corps. There are now 258,891 Scouts in the organization, with 11,474 scoutmasters and about 70,000 members of troop committees and other local officials, in 2,000 towns and cities. Since the start of the scouting movement less than a decade ago this organization has led about 375,000 other boys through the program of scouting.

These men and boys are conscientiously devoting themselves to the program of scouting as it is commonly understood the world over and as promoted by Lieutenant General Sir Robert S. Baden-Powell since 1907 in England. The Boy Scouts of America form a part of the world brotherhood of scouting, the different members of which follow the same program.

The movement in this country was incorporated February 8, 1910, with the patronage and support of General Baden-Powell. Its honorary officers are President Woodrow Wilson, former President Theodore Roosevelt and William H. Taft and a large number of the governors of various states.

The Boy Scouts of America has no time nor desire to interfere with any organization which is helping boys. All the boys in all the boys' organizations in the country form only a small percentage of the boys who need direction in their activities and character development. There is plenty of room for every legitimate and useful boys' organization. It should be made clear to the public that this is not a rivalry between rival organizations. It is an attempt to protect boys from being misled and to protect contributors against the possibility of hav-

Miss Edith Willibrands took the part of Uncle Sam.

"Sweetheart, You Look Ten Years Younger

Complexion Blemishes Banished—No Sign Of Wrinkles—How She Did It

Only a woman who has watched her complexion change from wrinkled, coarse, sallow ugliness to clear, soft, youthful beauty can realize the feeling of joy that came over me when first I saw that my own wrinkled, faded-looking skin was actually regaining its girlish freshness. Yet prior to this there was scarcely a preparation, including treatment at the highest prices, which I had not tried, only to make my face look worse. Finally a French lady gave me a beauty recipe which she had obtained from a doctor in Paris, who told her the reason most things failed was because they checked the power to get down into the skin and renew the youthful activity of the tissues. It was only a short time after that my husband exclaimed, "Sweetheart, you look ten years younger! That warm water and rub in is a marvel." I am certain that most women who successfully use the same plan, so I gladly repeat it here for the benefit of others. Merely wash your face with clear, warm water and rub in a teaspoonful of roseated cream (which can be obtained from drug stores); wipe the face and apply Poudre Petalase—a very fine complexion powder prepared especially for shiny noses and bad complexion. If your face is badly wrinkled, get a box of Poudre Petalase to use in connection with the roseated cream. I have seen many a wrinkled, hollow-checked, faded-looking woman banish every sign of wrinkles and complexion blemishes and marvelously increase her beauty through this simple and inexpensive recipe.

Translation of Original French Prescription: "Apply night and morning one cup of clear, warm water and one teaspoonful of roseated cream" (Fully Explained in this article).

Pure roseated cream—Creme Tokalon Roseated—is guaranteed by its manufacturers to banish complexion blemishes and make any woman look years younger and far more beautiful in three days' time or the price paid will be refunded. When shown the above article the following local merchants stated that despite the war, they could supply Creme Tokalon Roseated and the other French created products: Green's, Greenman & McConnell Drug Co., Green's Pharmacy, Brandeis Stores, Richardson Drug Co. and Hayden Bros. Store.
