ENLISTED MEN MUST SEND AFFIDAVITS

State Exemption Boards Are Entitled to Know Officially Whether They Are in the Country's Army.

(From a Staff Co respondent.) Lincoln, Oct. 26 .- (Special.) - When a drafted man fails to appear before the exemption board of his district, it becomes evidence that he is an enlisted man and is under the same provisions that an enlisted man would be and failure to obey orders of the War department places him in the desertion class and he will be thus dealt with.

This is the instructions received this morning at the office of the governnor from the War department. When a man fails to appear his name is placed in a list with others under the same head and sent to the district board. If nothing is heard from these men the list is then sent to the office of the governor. It is then up to the adjutant general and the governor to locate the parties. If the men on this list do not report personally or by letter or telegram they will be dealt with according to military rules. Some of the men whose names may be on the list are legitimately in the service by reason of having enlisted before the draft was called. These, of course, have a good excuse. However, they must report with an affidavit from their commanding officer that they are in the service so that the board can check them off. This the only way the list can be checked up and every man located. It is said that there are about 2,000 in Nebraska who have not reported and each of these is being sent the following notice: "Your name has been reported to this office as one who has been noti- ders during the first years of the fied to appear for physical examina- war. tion by your local board. "From the fifth day after mailing this notice you will be in the military service of the United States and if you have failed to report in person or to communicate with the adjutant general, advising him of your present status, you will then be held as a deserter and subject to all of the mili-tary rules and laws governing the dis-position of such men."
