High School Pupils Hit Swift Stride On War Aid Trail

Nineteen pupils of the Central High school have gone to war, 52 spent their vacations on farms, three are on farms now, $6,050 was subscribed to the Liberty loan and six of the members of the debating teams will speak in local theaters on food conservation as the student body's bit.

The girls are also doing their bit. Most of the girls over 16 have signed the food conservation pledges and the girls' literary societies are devoting their time to knitting and making surgical dressings for the soldiers.

Leonard Kellner, George Benolken and Fred Montmorency are the boys who have left school to husk corn. In addition to those whose names appeared lately in The Bee, Fred Carey, Merle Howell and Roy McFarland have received full credit for the time they missed last June while helping the farmers.

The teachers have not been idle either. Over $1,150 was subscribed by them to the Liberty loans and they have formed classes to limit after school.

The high school boys who have joined the colors and their divisions are as follows: Harold Moore, ambulance; Robert Kutah, infantry; Sidney Cullingham, aviation corps; Lyman Phillips, aviation corps; Edward Foy, "somewhere in France"; Yale Beatty, navy; Ronald Kane, navy; Robert McShane, machine gun company; Clarence Fisher, Fifth Nebraska; Vincent Shook, marine corps; James Hamilton, Annapolis; Paul Beard, ambulance; Clyde Case, navy; Robert Pinkerton, navy; John Spener, navy; Eugene Snowden, Fifth Nebraska; Ed Winterton, army; Russell Hughes, army; Jerome Abbott, Sixth Nebraska.

Grass-Fed Steers Double In Price in Three Years

Seven grass-fat steers from Wyoming brought as much money this week as a carload of steers used to bring three years ago. Harold Hillman of Big Horn, Wyo., was in with seven steers in which he had a part interest, which brought nearly $1,610. They ran on the range, fattened on buffalo and bunch grass and weighed 1,533 pounds each. They brought $15 per 100 pounds, or $229.95 apiece.

He Had to Leave Wife Because She Was Jealous

William S. Doty, suing Louise M. Doty for divorce in district court, says she is so terribly jealous of him he had to leave her. He alleges that they were married at Sioux Falls, S. D., September 10, 1906, she began to accuse him of "trifling with other women" on an average of once a month. Soon, he says, it was once a week, and finally, he adds, daily. He says he was compelled to leave her November 28, 1912.

SOUTH SIDE LITHUANIANS TO CELEBRATE SUNDAY

Observance Will Be in Nature of Religious Festival and Patriotic Rally; Several Prominent Speakers.

The Lithuanian church of St. Anthony, Thirty-second and S streets, will celebrate its tenth anniversary next Sunday. Rev. George F. Jonaitis is pastor of the parish. Solemn high mass will be celebrated at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning. Other services will be held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

There will be a meeting of all Lithuanians of the city Sunday afternoon in the hall at Twentieth and S streets, to be followed by a parade, in which all Lithuanian societies will take part. People from other European nations which are closely connected with the Lithuanians will also be present in the celebration.

Mayor Dahlman has been asked to be present and give an address. Joseph Dvick and other prominent men will also speak. The meeting will be a religious celebration and will also be a patriotic rally.

Rev. Petar O. Stiyachich to Leave Omaha This Week

Rev. Petar O. Stiyachich, rector of the Serbian Orthodox St. Nicholas church of the South Side, leaves Omaha this week. Rev. Mr. Stiyachich is known on the South Side as "the man of sorrow." His father and his brother have both been victims of the brutality of the Germans, who have invaded his home. His sister was worse than dead. Rev. Mr. Stiyachich fears that she has fallen into the hands of the Turks and has been carried into a harem.

Rev. Mr. Stiyachich has been decorated with the cross of St. Peter by the king of Serbia for his work in behalf of the Serbian Red Cross. He wears the cross with pride, but the heart beneath it is heavy. The monastery where he studied has been burned by the German invaders. His home has been devastated and his property confiscated.

Rev. Mr. Stiyachich is a person to command attention. He is large and his heavy beard and dark, sorrowful eyes made him look like a disciple. His work in Omaha has been far-reaching. He was the instigator of the building of the Serbian church on the South Side. At the outbreak of the war he aroused local Serbs so that a company of them went to service with a Canadian troop. He has also been active in American Red Cross work.

He has given this goodbye to the people here: "Upon my leaving the city, I wish to express my thanks to all the citizens of Omaha who have so unselfishly and kindly helped me to build up our dear Serbian church in South Side.

"It has been a great pleasure to me to come in contact with the different patriotic societies. I only hope that victory will be ours very soon. "The patriotic work I shall indeed hope to continue wherever I may be. "My sincerest greeting and thanks I send to all clergymen of the city of Omaha."

Germans Seem in Dark On Number U. S. Forces

Paris, Oct. 26.—German wounded questioned by the Temps correspondent have shown the usual ignorance of American intervention in the war.

The correspondent heard one of the Germans lying in the hospital say to an American general: "Intervention by your 20,000 men won't disturb us," whereupon the general replied: "Excuse me; we shall be 2,000,000, I assure you."

Another wounded prisoner, an officer, commenting on the result of the recent attack said: "With such a bombardment small local successes can always be obtained."

"But," said the correspondent, "we have taken 6,000 prisoners." This German, adds the correspondent, was as much surprised as the other one.

Red Cross Supplies Inspected First In City of Omaha

The state office of the Red Cross, through Director F. W. Judson, announces that on November 1, or as soon after as possible, all finished articles such as surgical dressings, hospital supplies, knitted garments, etc., made in the state of Nebraska will be inspected in Omaha, and all chapters, branch chapters and auxiliaries in this state will receive instructions from headquarters to make all shipments after November 1 of such articles to the state department at Omaha.

A suitable building for the inspection and the handling of these shipments will be obtained within a few days and information as to the location will be given when the building is selected.

All shipments that are received in Omaha will be inspected promptly by competent persons, the names of whom will be announced later; the shipments will be boxed and marked in accordance with Red Cross instructions and go forward direct from Omaha to the seaboard, or to points in this country where such supplies are ordered by the Red Cross. This arrangement will save considerable time in getting these supplies to the proper points where relief is needed and will save considerable money to the Red Cross in transportation charges and handling. The location of this inspection bureau in Omaha is regarded as a compliment to the Red Cross workers in this state.

Dr. Aked to Lecture Here On Sunday and Monday

Dr. Aked, the famous and widely known clergyman and lecturer, will be Omaha's guest next Sunday and Monday. He comes in behalf of the Armenian and Syrian Relief society and will speak on Sunday morning at 10:30 in the First Methodist church, at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Young Men's Christian association and at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening in the St. Mary's Avenue Congregational church. On Monday Dr. Aked will be the guest of the University club at luncheon at 2 o'clock. Neither subscriptions nor collections will be asked at the meetings, and first hand information will be given of the dreadful conditions prevailing in Asiatic-Turkey.

Cattle Cars in Demand For Movement of Texas Stock

At this time there is an abnormally heavy demand for stock cars to move cattle out of Texas, and cars, regardless of ownership, are being ordered south.

Dry weather during the late summer seriously impaired the conditions of the Texas range and cattle men have been seeking new pasturage. A few of the cattle are being moved into Colorado and Wyoming, but the bulk of them are being sent into Oklahoma and Kansas.

Troops Wear Silk to Prevent Blood Poisoning

New York, Oct. 26.—The fact that troops of the entente allies are wearing silk as a protective armor against blood poisoning from wounds has partially accounted for the huge shipments of American silk fabrics abroad since the beginning of the war, in the opinion of silk trade authorities who have just returned to this country from France. The destination and use of this silk has heretofore been regarded as a trade mystery.

J. F. Childs Hawaiian Food Administrator

Washington, Oct. 26.—Appointment of J. F. Childs of Honolulu as federal food administrator for Hawaii was announced today by the food administration.

AT THE THEATERS

Old Homestead at the Boyd. "The Old Homestead," that perennial, wholesome, old-fashioned play, was presented with all its rural simplicity and charm Thursday night at the Boyd theater. The ingenious, kindly, and all his amusing naïveté among the marvels of a big city, lovable Joshua Whitcomb, lending a helping hand to an itinerant tramp, settling the quarrels of the two aged suitors for Aunt Matilda's favor and braving the multitudinous dangers of New York itself in search of his lost son—Joshua is a character capable not only of holding a play together from the first to the last curtain, but capable also of warming the most callous heart.

The play is altogether delightful and old-fashioned folks, no less than their grandchildren, who imagine that nothing is a play unless it is a musical comedy, will find in it the unexpected pleasure of freshness and broad, wholesome humor. The plot, which is characterized by a kindly sympathy and pathos, is nevertheless full of laughable situations and keenly humorous characterization.

The character of Cy Prime, played by John Sumner, depicting the crackling, crusty, spindle-shanked and beligerent bachelor suitor, deserves particular mention as the rustic comic relief in this kindly picture of rural American life.

Promises of the Preps Agents. Orpheum—The current vaudeville bill with the official British war pictures, showing the retreat of the Germans at the battle of Arras, as an extra attraction, continues to attract audiences that overflow the Orpheum nightly and for those who find difficulty in securing desirable seats at the evening performance the management wishes to announce that good seats are to be had at the matinee. On account of the lengthy bill this week the curtain rises at 8:20 o'clock sharp on the Orpheum Travel Weekly. On Saturday night the curtain will go up earlier, at 8 o'clock sharp. In addition to an entirely new vaudeville bill for next week the third and last episode of "The Retreat of the Germans at the Battle of Arras" will be shown.

Gaiety—That melodious litten chorus with Jean Bodini, "Paddy" will purr for the last time this afternoon and evening at the popular Gaiety. Tomorrow matinee and evening. The Gaiety has some attractions will begin its annual engagement of a week. This one is entitled "The Sighs," and its cast is headed by whom will go up until the first act, about 8:15 on Saturday night, another Liberty bond, value $50, will be given away.

Empress—The Tasmanian trio at the Empress theater offers a mélange of singing, dancing, music and tumbling. David and Simons present a singing, talking and dancing number which they call "Their First Square." Charles H. Smith has a playlet, "Back to Dimsia," the story of which is the everyday happenings occurring in any city or town.

In the Silent Drama. Sun—Today and Saturday, Gladys Brockwell will hold forth in her latest William Fox production, "Consentance." It has some very unusual effects, such as when the girl is about to become a bride, all the things she has done in the past are flashed before her. A good comedy is also on the bill.

Muse—Belle Bennett will be seen at the Muse today and Saturday in "Abeas of Hope." To a boy or girl who loves a good story, "Abeas of Hope" is satisfying in every sense of the word.

Strand—A novelty is the Paramount photoplay, "The Diary" from the story by Mary Roberts Rinehart, which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. The titles are taken from the original book and their

New York Buys "Spuds" For Three Cents a Pound

New York, Oct. 26.—The price of potatoes will drop here tomorrow, it was announced today by the city's recently created food aid committee. More than 300 carloads will be thrown on the market, it was stated, and consumers will have to pay only 3 cents a pound, as compared with 6 cents. The new price will give the retailer a profit of $1.50 a barrel.

charm lies in the droll spelling and naïve charm of Baba's own script. This is probably the first time that the idea of filming a diary, page by page, has been adopted. "Baba's Diary" starring Marguerite Clark, will be shown again today and Saturday at this theater.

Empress—"The Torture of Silence" is the title of a Pathé Gold Reel play which will be shown at the Empress theater for the last three days of the week. It is a drama of startling intensity, with an all-star cast.

Suburban—A rocking, reckless sort of a picture is "The Girl Who Couldn't Grow Up," starring Margarita Fischer, which shows here today. In it Miss Fischer is the most lovable sort of a tomboy. Saturday is William Desmond in "The Food Gamblers."

Hipp—Donna Drew will be here today and Saturday in the latest Butterfly production, "49-15." It tells a story of the early frontier days and of the present time. Miss Drew is said to fit admirably in the role, while the supporting cast is good. A good comedy is on the same bill.

Lothrop—Another of the family night programs that have been making such a success here will be presented here today. Today's pictures include "The Half Back," "The Boy Who Cried Wolf" and "In Love's Laboratory." Saturday is Emmy Whelan in "Sowers and Reapers."

Peddler Badly Injured When Auto Strikes Wagon

Henry Monovitz, peddler, 2420 Parker street, is in St. Joseph's hospital with a fractured skull as a result of having been thrown from his wagon last night, striking his head on the pavement, when a speeding touring car struck the rear end of the wagon as it was crossing the Twenty-fourth street viaduct.

The automobile then sped onward without stopping. A. Susman, who was on the wagon with Monovitz, was also thrown off, but suffered no injury.

HEAD TELLS THE WAY UP IN BUSINESS

Banker, in Address at Loyal Hotel, Says Character, Loyalty, Energy Certain to Win in Commercial World.

"The Way to the Top in the Banking World" was the subject of an address delivered before the Omaha chapter of the American Institute of Banking by Walter W. Head, vice president of the Omaha National bank, at a rousing smoker held at the Loyal hotel last night. Character, loyalty, energy and unselfish enthusiasm were among the requisites for making the grade named by Mr. Head. His address was much appreciated and at the close of the meeting he became a member of the Omaha chapter. About 100 young men and women from the banks of Omaha were present, and the Misses Mildred McAuley, Iris Raynor, Mabel Johnson, Evelyn Niel, Mignon Lohman and Catherine Wilbur were constituted a committee to call on the young women among the employees of the Omaha banks to encourage them to take a more active part in the work of the institute.

President Willard H. Dressler of the Stock Yards National bank, who recently returned from the annual meeting of the American institute at Chicago, reported on the business conducted there, and he also delivered his address of welcome.

Harry O. Palmer, educational director and attorney of the institute, outlined the plan of work for the coming year. This will consist of three courses, namely, public speaking; banks, banking and loans and investments, and banking for beginners.

The latter branch will be open to young women who are now filling places in the banks in large numbers because of the draft which the war

Who Will Write to Soldiers Who Thirst for Letters?

Five soldiers at Camp Kelley, San Antonio, Tex., are anxious for correspondents. Other men of the aero squadrons are receiving letters, while they hanker for a written line from someone, they don't care who.

One of the letters received by The Bee states that there are "four men in this squadron who receive no mail at all. They are named the 'unhappy four' by their comrades."

Another letter reads: "Will you kindly insert the name of a lonely soldier with no one to write to in your paper? A letter to a soldier brightens things up and makes camp life more enjoyable and pleasant."

The man who wrote this letter is J. C. Cleveland, 139 Aero Squadron, Kelly Field, South San Antonio, Tex.

The names of the "unhappy four" are: Fred De Reaux, Elmer B. Hovaland, Paul D. Johnson and Herbert E. Ackerman, all of 72d Aero Squadron, Camp Kelley, San Antonio, Tex.
