4-MINUTE MEN TALK TO THIRD OF MILLION

Special Patriotic Speakers in Nebraska Deliver Addresses to Three Hundred Thousand Persons.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 3.—(Special.)—Nearly a third of a million people—a quarter of the population of Nebraska—were addressed during the second Liberty loan campaign by Nebraska four-minute men, who delivered nearly 1,000 addresses. These are the outstanding facts of a statement made today by Prof. M. M. Fogg of the University of Nebraska, state head of the four-minute men division of the United States committee on public information which is now launched in 104 cities and towns of Nebraska.

Nearly 1,050 four-minute addresses by our official spokesmen of the government, were made in the second Liberty loan campaign to at least 300,000 people—a number equaling one-fourth the population of the state.

Prof. Fogg reports that Washington and to this office now in hand from half, 41 of the 80 cities and towns where the work was organized in time for the Liberty loan campaign show that 736 addresses were made to theater audiences aggregating 256,000.

In Omaha there were 276 addresses in 34 theaters to about 120,000 people. Lincoln four-minute speakers made 101 addresses in the nine theaters to approximately 35,000. Other reports received from large centers include:

Hastings (John R. Corey, chairman), 25 addresses, 12,000. Beatrice (General I. L. W. Colby, chairman), 17 addresses, 10,800. Nebraska City (John W. Steinhart, chairman), 21 addresses, 9,000. Plattsmouth (D. C. Morgan, chairman), 24 addresses, 7,600. Scottsbluff (C. M. Matheny, chairman), 10 addresses, 4,900.

Seward (Harry D. Landis, chairman), 16 addresses, 4,700. "Much unofficial speaking outside of theaters was done by the four-minute men—in churches, in schoolhouses and at general patriotic meetings."

WORD OF CAUTION BY BOARD OF CONTROL

Heads of State Institutions Are Urged to Exercise Economy in Handling Fuel and Food Situation.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) Lincoln, Nov. 3.—(Special.)—Notwithstanding one member of the state board of control has been charged with having "bees in his bonnet" because he criticized the methods of some of the heads of state institutions under the control of the board in the handling of the fuel situation, the board again risks a call down from subordinate employes and charges that heads of some of the institutions are not careful enough in buy-supplies.

In two letters sent to heads of institutions the board charges that the right to buy goods under an "emergency purchase" clause of the rules is being abused and that goods are being purchased under this head when they could be better purchased under the contract system of bidding or supplies.

The board urges the strictest economy in handling the situation as regards food and supplies needed by the institutions and hopes that it will not be necessary again to call attention to the fracture of rules of the board governing the handling of matters in institutions under their control.

Omaha Man Sees Sinking of Troop Ship by U-Boats

How Uncle Sam is sending soldiers to France under the protecting wing of the American navy is told by Joseph F. Kramolisch, chief yeoman of the transport Henderson, home on a visit to his parents at 1711 P street, South Side.

Kramolisch was an eye witness to the sinking of the first American transport, the Antilles, in which many persons were drowned. Speaking of the scenes attending the tragedy, Yeoman Kramolisch said:

"The Antilles was about 300 yards from us when the U-boats began peppering it with torpedos. So successful were the Germans that the Antilles gave up the ghost and went down in a few minutes. We wanted to rescue some of the poor, unfortunate sailors, but for a big ship to trip anything like that would invite a torpedo."

Yeoman Kramolisch had made three trips across the Atlantic on the Henderson. The first trip, he declares, was without excitement, only one submarine putting in an appearance. The second trip, Kramolisch said, was the exciting one. The Henderson put up a running fight with a submarine which lasted for an hour and 20 minutes, finally evading the U-boat.

Yeoman Kramolisch joined the navy in 1907, re-enlisting in 1911. He has a brother, who is cashier of the First Security bank, South Side.

Not More Than Half New Officers in Service Soon

Washington, Nov. 3.—Probably not more than half the men now in officers' training camps scattered throughout the country have any hope of getting immediate service with the new national army.

Not more than that proportion of the 1,200 in training at Fort Myer here have active service in prospect and this same ratio is said to prevail at all the other camps.

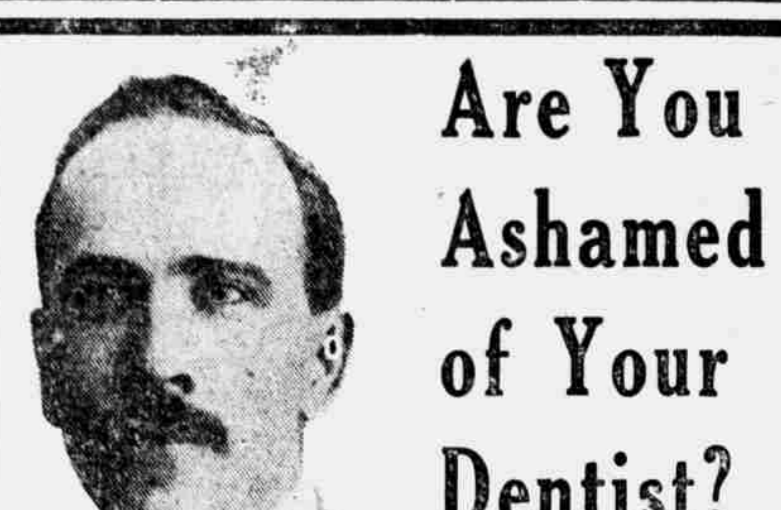

All those who pass the tests are practically sure of getting their commissions in the officers' reserve corps, but a good half of those will be put on the inactive list waiting for the colors.

This is said to be caused by the fact that the first camps turned out enough officers for the troops now in cantonments, and the remainder of the new officers will not be needed until there are new drafts.

Barristers' Club Offers Aid to Soldiers' Dependents

A free legal aid bureau for dependents of Omahans who have answered the call to the colors will be established by the Barristers' club. This action was decided at a meeting of the club Saturday noon.

The bureau will probably be established in the City National bank building in the rooms now occupied as headquarters of the Four-minute men. It is the plan to have a representative of the club at the bureau each afternoon and free legal advice will be given to any dependant of an Omahan now in the service of the country.

Are You Ashamed of Your Dentist? When a friend says, "Who is your Dentist?" do you WHISPER his name OR SAY IT OUT LOUD?

If there is a patient of mine who hesitates to acknowledge to his best friends that he comes to me for Dental Work—I WANT THAT PATIENT TO STOP COMING.

If I have a patient who patronizes me simply because my prices are lower, that patient is doing himself and me a grave injustice.

I want patients to come to this office for Dental Work not alone to save money—not merely to avoid pain—but because of the ability of my staff of Dental Specialists—because my workmanship is better—my materials of the best quality—my local anaesthetic enables me to eliminate unnecessary pain, and my sanitary precautions remove the danger of infection.

I want every patient coming to me to feel that he is going to get exactly the same treatment as every other patient—and that means absolutely satisfactory dental work, backed by my guarantee.

Don't feel that you are doing ME a favor—nor that I am doing YOU a favor. Come to me for BETTER SERVICE.

It pays me to do better work, and do more than my patients expect of me, because satisfied patients prove better and cheaper advertising than even newspaper space.

And do not forget—my guarantee means something—because I am professionally, financially and morally able and willing to make it good.
