Goodby, Boys.

"Goodby, boys of Company C," were the last words uttered by the condemned men of the Twenty-fourth United States infantry as the traps were sprung and they dropped to their death on the scaffold which had been erected last night.

Men of Company C, Nineteenth in-lantry, have been guarding the negro prisoners since they were brought to San Antonio to stand trial before a court-martial for complicity in the riot at Houston on August 23, last.

Without a tremor the doomed men stepped out with soldiery tread and singing a hymn, they walked to their places. Prayers were said by a negro minister and by two army chaplains and then the men were ordered to stand on the traps. Resuming their song they stood erect and displayed the greatest fortitude while the ropes were adjusted.

In compliance with the order of the state railway commission officials of the railroads operating in Nebraska have commenced work on getting out uniform signals for crossings at pubic highways. The new signals will be in place early next year.

Next year the signals at all railroad crossings in Nebraska will be of one style. These warning signs will be set 300 feet back from the track. The signal will be a metal disc, two feet in diameter, with a black border. Thereon, in black letters, will be "R. R. 300 feet." The disc will be on a high metal post.

In addition to the signal warnings at crossings in cities and towns there will be flagmen, who instead of waying flags to halt people crossing the tracks will carry metal discs painted white, on which in black and in large letters will be the word "Stop.
