

PROPOSED PLAN TO OPEN STREET TAKES NEW FORM

City Planners Meet With Council and Property Owners for Discussion of Main Points in Project.

Members of the City Planning commission, city council and Douglas street property owners, discussed the proposed opening of Douglas street, Twenty-fourth street to Twenty-fifth avenue, at a meeting in the council chambers Friday morning.

In connection with this project is the proposed widening of Douglas street, west of Twentieth street, to an 80-foot thoroughfare.

J. Lincoln Byrne announced that Albert Drescher offered to donate a strip 120 feet long on the north side of Douglas street, numbered 2212, 4, 6 and 8, to promote the 80-foot widening west of Twentieth street. Others will do likewise.

Means $109,000 Damages.

Appraisers recently reported that opening of Douglas street to an 80-foot thoroughfare would entail damages in the sum of $109,000, which is $9,000 more than the council can legally approve even upon recommendation of the planning commission. To surmount that difficulty the proposition has been made that property owners raise $9,000 among themselves and thus bring the appraisal down to the legal limit.

F. A. Brogan advocated that method. Carl E. Herring, speaking for the Scottish Rite cathedral and the Masonic Temple association, stated that his organizations would contribute liberally to the $9,000 fund. He urged widening of Douglas street to 80 feet west of Twentieth street as a progressive and necessary improvement.

Would Insure Development.

"The time is coming when there will be large buildings at southwest and northwest corners of Twenty-fourth and Douglas streets. There is congestion now at Twentieth and Douglas streets when the Scottish Rite temple and Omaha club have functions at the same time," said Mr. Herring.

Corporation Counsel Lambert explained that the $9,000 feature would have to be a consummated act before the city could act upon the $100,000 project for the 80-foot opening.

The City Planning board will prepare new recommendations on the matter and new appraisements will be made. The indications are that the 80-foot project will be favored.

HOOVER PLEADS FOR INCREASED FARM PRODUCTS

"The main thing is to get planting and breeding on a larger scale than ever before. And while I know the feeling of the farmer in regard to the labor situation, we can find a solution to the harvest, even if we have to turn our town populations into the fields."

This statement comes from Herbert Hoover, United States food administrator, to Gurdon W. Wattles, in a communication emphasizing the necessity of increased production. "What we must do," says Mr. Hoover, "is to arouse the mind to the national necessity for production. The particular crop the farmer raises is of secondary importance to the federal food administration as compared to production, so long as this crop yields an increase in animal and human food."

Railroads Resume Custom Of Delivering Tickets

Passenger officials of the railroads entering Omaha have resumed the delivery of tickets to parties who telephone in for them. This custom was discontinued when the McAdoo order was issued a couple of weeks ago.

With the delivery of tickets to customers, so far as handling local business, the railroads are back where they were prior to Mr. McAdoo getting into position of director general. The solicitors, both freight and passenger, are back on their jobs and they are all busy.
