

PANAMA CANAL LESSON APPLIED TO SHIPYARDS

Problems of Sanitation Quickly Solved Through Radical Reforms in Health Regulation and Community Spirit.

Washington, June 22.—What the United States learned at great cost in digging the Panama canal is beginning to pay rich dividends in aiding the construction of the great merchant marine now building. Comparable in size and importance, the two jobs have other striking similarities in the problems of sanitation which threaten the success of work on the isthmus, but which are being solved quickly in this country through radical reforms in health regulation and community spirit found so effective there.

Under direction of Lieut. Col. Philip S. Doane, the shipping board's department of health and sanitation is supervising every one of the scores of shipyards for the protection of workers. Eager co-operation has been received from state, municipal and industrial agencies, which recognize that the improved conditions sought to be created are of more than passing benefit in the matter of health, as well as "good business." Results have justified the efforts by lessening the loss of time due to sickness and hastening the output of the ships needed to win the war.

Water Supply Purified.

Some striking instances of the department's work were made public today by the shipping board.

Some weeks ago, at a little shipyard recently set down in a rather sleepy Atlantic coast town, an outbreak of dysentery was reported among shipyard workers. The shipping board's sanitary engineer found that, while the drinking water supply used in the yards was entirely pure, being chlorinated, there was a temporary water supply for concrete mixing, in which polluted river water was used. Workmen had drunk from the concrete water supply, despite warning signs. As the best way of eliminating all chances in the matter, the sanitary engineers arranged for purifying the concrete water, too, using chloride of lime to make it safe to drink.

One of the oldest communities in New England, a place of considerable population, was found to be without a health officer, to have dangerous open sewers and to lack garbage collection. When an old shipyard in that town was rehabilitated, Uncle Sam said, "Clean up!" And the town has responded.

The Pacific coast threw its energy into shipbuilding to such good purpose that it launched the first merchant ships and made the first shipbuilding records. Likewise, in its eagerness to build ships, the Pacific coast occasionally overlooked good sanitation.

One yard in that locality was handicapped by sickness. Workmen were hired only to quit, and during a single week the superintendent of steel construction, the foreman riveter and the foreman of the plate shop were all laid up in hospitals and their places were being filled by assistants just recovering from attacks of disease.

City Induced to Act.

Inspection showed that the yard lacked sanitary toilets and equipment for serving the men warm meals. It had too small a number of drinking fountains. Moreover, a large city sewer which ran over the tide flats near the shipyard was broken open, making easy the spread of disease through flies. The shipping board had called the attention of the nearby city to the bad condition of its sewer, only to be told that no city funds would be available for repairing the break until July. When the government stepped in through the shipping board, backed by the military authorities, who refused to detail soldiers to guard that yard until the sewer was repaired, there was a hurried meeting of the city council and a special appropriation of $6,000 was made to make repairs. It took a special ordinance but it was done by day after Uncle Sam got on the job.

In another shipbuilding center there was a mysterious outbreak of disease. Fifty ship workers came down at the same time, with temperatures running up to 103 or more. There were rumors of poisoning by German spies. When shipping board health officers investigated, however, they found that mosquitoes were to blame, and took steps to drain nearby swamp land in co-operation with the local authorities.

Exterminating Mosquitoes.

Mosquito work will probably play an important part in ship building this summer, the country over, as it did in the building of the Panama canal. In several dozen localities active drainage campaigns are being carried out by communities working with the shipping board. One of the notable projects in that line is the work at the big Hog Island yard, near Philadelphia, where $250,000 is being spent in permanent ditching which is intended to rid that locality of mosquitoes for all time. The state of Pennsylvania has contributed $75,000, the city of Philadelphia $45,000, and manufacturing interests have also appropriated money.

The work of the department of health and sanitation covers much more than the cleaning up of unhealthy conditions. The comfort and convenience of workers is also important. Every shipyard is required to have medical and hospital facilities, and these are inspected and information gathered about disease, epidemics and accidents. The living quarters of shipyard workers are investigated, and recommendations made for their convenience and comfort in bunk houses, homes, transportation to and from work, and recreation. Lunch rooms and kitchen facilities are studied with a view to seeing that men get nourishing food, in clean surroundings, at reasonable prices. This involves investigation of milk and ice supply, food storage facilities, cooking and dish washing equipment and so forth.

The Bee's Fund for Free Milk and Ice

Lakes which had difficulty last fall in Dr. D. E. Maxwell of Albion, Neb., writes, "I think it is fine of you folks to do this for the poor little ones of Omaha."

(It is "you folks," you readers of The Bee, who are doing this fine thing.)

Two others of today's contributors live out in the state and one contribution comes from Gary, Ind. Weeks of hot weather are ahead. Scores of small babies and children of the very poor will suffer unless The Bee's fund grows large enough to extend help to all. Description of one case of a widow who was trying to support six small children by laundry work is in today's paper. She is but one of many.

Every cent you give to this fund goes to supply pure milk and cooling ice to such helpless ones. Will you take a part in the work?

Bring or send your contribution to The Bee office.

keeping a working force of 1,000 men. Its labor turnover was very large. Investigation showed that the yard had grown so fast that too little attention had been paid to providing for the comfort and convenience of ship workers. The lunch room was inadequate, the food poor, it was difficult for new workers coming in to find good living quarters, and there was little in the way of bathing facilities of recreation.

Housed in Floating Hotel.

Today this shipyard is fully manned and has little trouble in keeping good workers. The expensive item of labor turnover has been reduced until it is practically negligible. The company purchased an old passenger steamship, brought it to the shipyard and converted it into a floating hotel. First-class kitchen equipment was installed, with toilets wash rooms and other conveniences, providing good meals for 200 or 300 men. A large dormitory was built near the yard, with a club room at one end where men could read, write, play pool or cards, have music and visit and smoke. The sleeping rooms in this dormitory were warmed by hot air last winter, and the piping system is to be used this summer for blowing cool air through the corridors. With these conveniences for making their work pleasant the employees organized a "Shipbuilders' Service club," elected officers and arranged for base ball, bowling and basket ball games, with dances and other social affairs among themselves.

It is now becoming a matter of pride among ship workers in that yard to serve for the period of the war, and arrangements have been made whereby every one who remains in the employ of the company until the end of the war will receive a certificate showing that he not only served in the fight for democracy, but that he stuck at his post until the fight was won.

Uncle Sam's work does not stop with the cleaning up of bad health conditions or the providing of comfort and convenience. He will safeguard life and health by giving the shipyards the results of the 1-2-3 that has been learned in war.

Truck Drivers to Mee' to Consider Central Office

Manager Gillan of the Chamber of Commerce industrial bureau has called a meeting for next Tuesday of truck drivers in an effort to establish a central office to facilitate the hauling of freight between Omaha and surrounding towns. There are already three motor trucks in regular service between Fremont and Omaha.

"The idea," he said, "is to have a central office so that when a truck comes in from a town its driver can call and see whether there is some freight to haul on his return trip, thus saving the trucks from going empty in one direction."

Now Cured, Goes Fishing at Age of 83, and Feels Fine!

North Dakota Man Tells Others How He Did It. Wants No Money and Will Gladly Help Others to Realize Same Benefits.

"I am eight-three years old, and I doctored for rheumatism and its associated troubles ever since I came out of the army over fifty years ago. Like many others, I spent money freely for so-called 'cures,' and I have read about 'Uric Acid' until I could almost taste it. I could not sleep nights or walk without pain; my hands were so sore and stiff I could not hold a pen. But now I am again in active business and can walk with ease or write all day with comfort. Friends are surprised at the change. My heart naturally goes out to those who suffer and don't know where to get the treatment that enabled me to cure myself at home, after doctors said that many other remedies had failed. There was no cost to me and no money from those who write me yet I will gladly assist any sufferer toward getting the same treatment that set me absolutely free from my suffering and gave me back my remarkable health, strength and power of endurance.

NOTE—Those who know Mr. Ashelman marvel at his recovery and renewed vital energy. He, like thousands of others, had given up hope, but persistent effort enabled him to find a hope, which drove the poisonous toxins out of his blood and system. Scientific men now claim this, and not "Uric Acid," to be the real cause of rheumatism. Any person having the slightest symptoms of rheumatism, neuritis, gout, lumbago, neuralgia and like disorders should write Mr. Ashelman and benefit by his friendly offer.

Nebraska Editors Sell Their Sox for Red Cross; "Strong" for the Cause

Nebraska editors have found a new way to raise money for the Red Cross—selling their socks. The idea came when George Foxworthy of Lincoln tore one of his socks when returning from returning from Carter lake Friday. A collection amounting to $1.57 was taken up on the street car to purchase him a new pair. William Maupin, being offered 50 cents for one of his socks, immediately accepted the offer and stripped off the hose. The suggestion that Maupin and Foxworthy donate their remaining socks to be sold for the Red Cross was then acted upon. The "Dutch auction" which ensued netted $15. President Cass to whom the hosiery was given announced that it would be properly deodorized, disinfected, sterilized, and preserved in the archives of the association forever. Secretary Scott intends to secure the relics and resell them until $100 is raised.

Omaha Enjoys Cool Spell; Mercury Registers 56

Saturday, the second day of summer, was the coolest day in two weeks. The mercury registered 56 at 5 o'clock in the morning, lower than it has at any time since June 7, when 53 was the figure. But even at that, at Moorhead, Minn., Friday night it was only 12 degrees above freezing, and at Huron, S. D., it was as cold as 48 at 7 o'clock Saturday morning. It was cool Friday night all over Nebraska and the Missouri valley. The heat wave in the southwestern part of the country has been definitely broken and low temperatures were reported from all that region Saturday morning.

Makes Private Canvass of Registration Records

Claude F. Bossie, formerly dairy inspector, has made a private canvass of the registrations' records of the election commissioner's office with the following results: Eliminating challenges and removals, the names of 36,323 qualified voters appear on the books, divided as to party affiliations in this manner: Republicans, 18,657; democrats, 15,583; socialists, 639; scattering, 1,444. The vote at the city election May 7 was divided as follows according to party affiliations as recorded: Republicans, 12,778; democrats, 10,077; socialists, 395; scattering, 961; total, 24,211.

Omaha Postoffice Will Aid in War Savings Drive

National War Savings Stamp day, next Friday, June 28, will be celebrated at the Omaha postoffice by a program at the north entrance at 5 in the afternoon. The postoffice, under direction of P. E. McGovern superintendent of mails, is co-operating with 500 secretaries of war savings stamp societies in Douglas county in arranging the program.

Plans are being made at the Omaha postoffice to organize 15 war savings stamp societies among postal employees at the downtown office and at the different branches. The organization of all of these will be completed by next Friday.

WAR WORK HELPS CHILDREN IN THEIR CLASS ROOM DUTY

Saving Pennies for Thrift Stamps Is an Aid to Arithmetic Classes

What a walloping the Kaiser would receive if the Omaha school children could get at him to wreak their vengeance. Lacking the opportunity, they are working hard for the Red Cross and other war activities. During the recent Red Cross drive the school children were asked to write their ideas of appropriate slogans. Here are some of them:

Washington was the father of his country; don't let the Kaiser be his stepfather; help the Red Cross.

The way for our boys to reach Berlin is to give our dollars and push them in.

SENATORS AGREE TO REMOVE LIMIT ON ARMY CALLS

Military Committee Approves Provision to Authorize Summoning All Men of Draft Age.

Washington, June 22.—Approval was voted by the senate military committee today of the provision in the $12,000,000,000 army appropriation bill as it passed the house, empowering the president to call to the colors all men of draft age who can be trained and equipped.

The committee completed discussion of the bill and Chairman Chamberlain announced it would be favorably reported to the senate next Monday. After discussing the resolution introduced some time ago by Senator Chamberlain providing for the drafting of citizens of allied countries under such provisions as may be agreed upon in treaties, the committee referred the matter to a sub-committee, which will confer with Secretaries Lansing and Baker and then frame an amendment.

Another question which will be considered by this sub-committee will be probable legislation affecting the drafting of aliens from neutral coun-

Uncover Robbery of $5,000 Worth of Copper In Council Bluffs

The theft of $5,000 worth of bar copper was unearthed in Council Bluffs Saturday night and J. W. Haller, O. F. Goodwin and J. A. Blake were arrested in connection with the robbery. The copper was in transit to government works.

A portion of the loot was recovered valued at $2,300, and the remainder, it is stated, has been located. The copper was taken from the Washburn railroad, and was found hidden on the Washburn tracks near Twenty-ninth avenue. The case was ferreted by J. P. Gale of the Union Pacific, W. A. Maskin, special agent of the Washburn, and F. M. Cashman, assisted by the sheriff and his deputies.

Senators claim that since the draft law became effective there have been instances where such aliens have been drafted after having failed to claim their rights and have been sent to France. Should these men be wounded or killed, the United States might be placed in an embarrassing position.

Canaday Out for Treasurer.

Lincoln, Neb., June 22.—(Special).—J. S. Canaday of Minden, who is serving his second term as treasurer of Kearney county, has filed as a candidate for state treasurer on the democratic ticket. His personal application for the primaries was received by Secretary of State Pool Saturday.

Not only in their studies, but in their dispositions do the children show the result of the war work. Teachers agree that there is less quarreling and that children are far less selfish than formerly. They have learned to think of others. One teacher tells of a clique in her school that had been giving her a great deal of trouble. The children from the more comfortable homes had handed together for good times, excluding their less fortunate companions. Since the war work began this clique has dissolved of its own accord and the children all help each other on an equal basis.

Denison, Ia., June 22.—(Special).—Charles Bullock died at his home in this city Friday. He was one of the oldest business men of the county, engaging in the drug business at Denison in 1869. He was prominent in democratic politics of the county and state and represented Crawford county in the legislature two terms. Mr. Bullock was the local Clammy Dewey as an after dinner speaker. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon.
