STATE OFFICERS MAY BE SUBJECT TO HEAVY FINE

Attorney Hainer Points Out What May Happen to Officials Who Have Not Exempted Liberty Bonds.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) Lincoln, June 23 .- (Special.) - State officers who have violated the sedition law passed by the recent special session of the legislature may have to pay a fine of $10,000 each or be imprisoned for 20 years, according to the contention of Attorney Hainer, a lawyer of Lincoln.

This contention on the part of Mr. Hainer is backed by State Treasurer Hall and is the cause of the breaking out of another attack of that brand of harmony that has characterized the meetings of the several boards of the state during the last few years. Again it is the state board of as-

Hall Agrees with Hainer.

It appears that the state treasurer agreed fully with the contention of Mr. Hainer that the Liberty bonds were not taxable, but most of the members of the board stick to the former ruling of the board that they are. Mr. Hainer is a stockholder in the First National bank of Aurora, which, in returning its assessment to the assessor, listed its investments in Liberty bonds as an offset to capital stock.

State Treasurer Hall is a heavy stockholder in a bank at Franklin, his home town. Whether any of the other members own stock or do not own stock is not known.

It is said that Secretary of State Pool, Land Commissioner Shumway and Auditor Smith are somewhat peeved in the attitude of the state treasurer. Governor Neville stood in the attitude of watchful waiting, saying that he wanted to see just what the law intended. He thought if the bonds were purchased as a mere camouflage to fool the assessor instead of a legitimate investment, that they ought to be taxed.

Quotes Court Decision.

Mr. Hainer in a letter to the board he emphasized with some rough and ready remarks on the matter, quoted a supreme court decision of the United States court asserting that states cannot impose taxes upon obligations of the federal government which it has exempted b y statute. He also quoted an opinion by At-He also quoted an opinion by Attorney General Reed to the effect William J. Allen Troy A. Walker deductions should be allowed tor Liberty bonds purchased by banks.

Refers to Sedition Law.

In this connection Mr. Hainer called attention to the sedition law passed by the special session of the egislature in which, after quoting different acts, "with intent to obstruct, hinder, delay, discourage, hamper or otherwise interfere with the efficient Seward, who some time ago was prosecution of the war," he particu larily emphasized the following

Mrs. Voss Gains Twelve Pounds Taking Tanlac and Troubles Are Overcome.

"After reading and hearing se much about Tanlac I decided to see for myself what it would do and how I am ready to say it is the best medi-cine I ever saw," said Mrs. Carrie Voss, who resides at 1407 Lake street,

"I have suffered a great deal during the past three years," she con-tinued, "from biliousness and other troubles. My appetite was not at all good and I was very nervous and restless and couldn't sleep well at night. I also suffered agony with rheumatism in my knees and arms. My arms ached so at times it was torture for me to raise my hands up to my head. "I had fallen off twelve pounds on account of these troubles, and hardly knew what it was to feel well. I have taken four bottles of Tanlac now and have already regained all my lost weight. My appetite picked up right from the start and now I can eat all I want of just anything I please. I have no more pain of any kind. I sleep well and am not nervous like I was, and can recommend Tanlac as the best medicine I have ever found."

As has been stated, there is not a single portion of the body that is not benefited by the helpful action of Tanlac, which begins its work stimulating the digestive and assimilative organs, thereby enriching the blood and invigorating the whole body. In other words, it relieves rheumatism and other constitutional troubles by removing the cause.

Tanlac is a powerful reconstructive tonic and contains certain ingredients which purify the blood and remove the entire system. Next, it enables the stomach to thoroughly digest its food, thereby permitting the assimilable products to be converted into blood, bone and muscle.
