

Union Men Halt March on Mines Of West Virginia

200 Advance Guard of 5,000 Armed Strikers Turned Back by Pleas of Mine Workers' Officials.

By The Associated Press.
Madison, W. Va., Aug. 26.—The advance guard of the marching miners on their way from Marmet to Mingo as a protest against Governor Morgan's martial law was turned back by Charles F. Keeney, president of district No. 17, United Mine Workers, and Fred Moore, secretary, after it had passed through Madison shortly after noon today.

The men, numbering some 200 or 300, had camped in a hollow here for dinner, and then pressed on their way toward the Logan county line. Keeney and Moore, who left Charleston early today with the avowed intention of stopping the march, reached Madison within half an hour after the men left. After a brief conference with county officials they hurried down the road and, overtaking the party, induced it to march back to Madison.

Troops Are Withheld.

Washington, Aug. 26.—Acting Secretary of War Wainwright, after receiving a report today from Brig. Gen. H. H. Bandholtz, the War department representative in West Virginia, said that the department would await further information before recommending use of federal troops in the coal fields of that state.

Racine, W. Va., Aug. 26.—The 5,000 or more men who are marching from Marmet to Mingo county in protest against Governor Morgan's martial law broke camp here soon after 8 o'clock this morning and took the state highway to Madison. They said they expected to reach Peyton, a village of 200, in time for their midday meal.

Break Camp Early.

The camp, which spread around this little town through the Indian Creek valley, was alive with activity and the night blazed brightly as the men prepared their breakfast. There was no haste, but each group moved as though it had specific instructions to get under way with all possible speed.

The vanguard, far up Indian Creek from Racine, was in motion early, but it was about 8 o'clock before the main body of marchers was on the move. There still was no apparent leader, but certain ones sprang up in different sections of the camp who appeared to have the direction of certain numbers of men. They were formed into a ragged line and as the parties to the west of them took up the road they fell in behind. It was estimated by observers that the entire camp would be emptied by 10 o'clock, not counting the stragglers who were still coming along the road from the east.

Camp Is Orderly.

Inquiry among the people of Racine developed that no thieving had been reported and there were no reports of shooting at the camp. The men who would discuss the movement said they were in earnest and proposed to carry out their project. When questioned regarding reports current here that Governor Morgan had asked for federal troops, they professed ignorance of what the state and national authorities were doing but it was said that several couriers had reached the camp over Marmet road late last night and early today.

Finding of a Second Bullet Hole Reported

The room occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Neal on the night of the tragedy, immediately after the hearing, Sheriff C. A. Armstrong, former Sheriff Alva Rogers, Woodward, Quiller, Hawxy, several newspapermen and a photographer went to the home two and one-half miles south of Peru and made an examination of the hole referred to in the testimony. A probe of the hole revealed no bullet. The hole apparently had been made with some blunt instrument, although there is a possibility that it had been made by a bullet, not recently, however. The section of the floor containing the hole was taken up and will be held as evidence.

Testimony recounting the discovery of a second bullet hole in the floor of the Neal bedroom, heretofore kept secret, and the identification by 8-year-old Elsie Turner, daughter of Joel Turner, a neighbor, of the revolver which Ben Neal clutched in his right hand when his body was discovered, featured the preliminary trial of Mrs. Lucy Neal on a charge of first degree murder in connection with her husband's death today.

Sees Revolver.

The Turner girl told of going to the Neal home on July 17 to get her father's paint brushes, accompanied by her older sister, Vetta, and of seeing a nickel-plated revolver in the box in Neal's room. She said she knew it was nickel-plated because her mother had some nickel-plated keys, which were of similar appearance.

"Is this the gun?" the county attorney asked, showing her the weapon taken from Ben Neal's lifeless fingers.

Chats With Friends.

Mrs. Neal, although she chatted with friends before the opening of the trial this morning and endeavored to retain an air of composure, was apparently suffering from the strain.

Find Way for Peace.

"On the basis of the broad guiding principle of government by the consent of the governed peace can be secured—a peace that will be just and honorable to all and fruitful of concord and inducing to amity.

"To negotiate such a peace the Dail Eireann is ready to appoint its representatives, and if your government accepts the principle proposed to us we will have no objection to meet and arrange with you for its application in detail.
