

Auction of Idle Men Called Off; Near Riot Follows

New York Prevents Scheduled Sale of Services of Jobless By Ledoux—Reserves Disperse Crowds.

New York, Sept. 20.—Urban Ledoux announced abandonment of his plan to hold a "slave auction" of the unemployed last night, after police had dispersed a crowd of his followers in Bryant park and prevented him from distributing food to the jobless.

He said his auction would not be necessary because the "high-handed interference of the police will cause the wrath of public opinion to make right the present situation in New York."

He appeared first at Cooper Square with a wagon of buns for hungry, but the police ordered him to move on. He returned the buns to the bakery, at the police orders, but charged that he could not get his money back.

Police Bar Way.
Walking to Bryant park, he was greeted by scores of men who accosted him to a hall which he had rented. Police barred the way and told him to move along. A crowd of more than 5,000 persons soon gathered. Many were unemployed.

Mounted police and patrolmen dispersed the crowd. There was some resistance, but Ledoux was hustled away and the streets cleared.

Police reserves were forced to use their clubs to disperse a crowd of curious men and women who gathered in Bryant Park and around the public library, expecting to see Ledoux hold an auction. The crowd dispersed and the police when informed the auction had been called off.

Reserves Called Out.

Bryant Park was jammed with people and Fifth avenue and Forty-second street were impassable to traffic. Reserve policemen and detectives were sent for, and with their arrival, the hissing and boating increased. Clubs were freely used on men who showed resentment at being ordered to move on. Several arrests were made.

Several men in uniform organized a demonstration on the outskirts of the district and led about 1,500 persons up Broadway to Central Park. There several speakers harangued the crowd while one policeman looked on. The speakers said that what the jobless wanted was jobs and not charity. When police reserves came up and scattered the crowd most of them returned to Broadway and started marching down town again.

Strike of California Oil Men Continues

Bakersfield, Cal., Sept. 20.—The strike of the oil field workers in this vicinity continued today, without disturbances being reported to the strikers' headquarters. Stage line managers reported the outward bound traffic from the strike districts had increased.

The patrol of the strike districts by the law and order committee of the strikers continued to operate on all roads leading to the oil fields to prevent the importation of strike breakers. County authorities continued a policy of non-interference with the patrol system.

The system is almost military in its operation. Each district has a crew of men, wearing the Community State bank, whose business quarters are among the finest in any town of its size in the state.

Bootleggers Had Tough Existence In Valley County

Deputy Sheriffs Swoop Down On As Many as Two Raids In Single Night; Offered Drinks.

Ord, Neb., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Valley county is no place for bootleggers.

County Attorney Hardenbrook and Sheriff Rounds have been busy with hooch cases that have come up in connection with the crowds attending the local fair.

Joe Clinch and "Pete" Kerrigan from Greeley were crossing the bridge on Friday evening when officials stopped them and asked them what they had in the car. They were gracious enough to tell them that they had a little wine and offered to share up. Whether this grape wine had sufficient kick to cause them any trouble will be decided before the judge.

In the case of Charles Brown and Peterson, they likewise were crossing the bridge and it is reported that they observed two gentlemen who had somewhat of an official bearing and they heaved their bottles of corn whisky into the river. The officers found the bottles and Mr. Brown and Mr. Peterson will also tell their tale to the judge on September 23.

During the fair, a certain Mr. Honnicut of Arcadia was asked to have a drink and not desirous of being discourteous was about to tip the bottle when the strong arm of Deputy Hutchins reached through the air and took the bottle. Mr. Honnicut and all to the judge, who levied a little fine of $100 and costs.

Dent in Sedan Lands Two Brothers in Jail

When Fred and Albert Hans, brothers, 6404 Woolworth avenue, were arraigned in Judge L. B. Day's court yesterday on the charge of having stolen an automobile, an ingenious scheme to escape discovery was revealed.

They are charged with having bought a Ford chassis from a local dealer for $75, using the name of J. C. Clark on the bill of sale and then with having stolen a Ford sedan from Rudolph Von Luttreich, changed the sedan body to the Ford chassis and again exhibited their bill of sale in the name of J. C. Clark to the county treasurer's office for registration.

A certain little dent in the body of the Ford sedan led to their arrest and to the discovery of the sedan chassis in the garage at their home. Their mother sought to get them out on bond but had only property enough to have Fred released.

Good Merchandising

What has brought Brandeis Stores to its present proportions? The answer is "Good Merchandising." What does that mean? First it means recognition of the fact that the customer and his welfare stand pre-eminence. In other words his money moves the goods and builds the business. He is, therefore, entitled to prime consideration and must become thoroughly satisfied with his purchase as well as with the service given him. It means, also, systematic survey of the markets to the end that every opportunity for bargains be seized for the advantage of Brandeis Stores and its customers. It means capable and experienced buyers in order that desirable merchandise may be obtained. It means ability to pay cash which so often brings about exceptional bargains. It means reduction in prices to the customer at the earliest possible moment and at every opportunity. It means obliging, prompt, efficient service. In short, it means the prices, the quality, the service that satisfies the man or the woman whose money makes possible the business success. Because the Brandeis Stores' management recognizes these truths Brandeis Stores stands conspicuous among the big business houses of the country even as it looms large in the hearts of its well satisfied customers.

Come and see—and you will stay and shop and come again for other bargains.
